U. S. PROTESTS TO BRITAIN ON MAIL SEIZURES

Expects Pledge to Stop Practice.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 2.—Protest to Great Britain against interference on the high seas with United States mail destined for Germany and neutral countries was revealed here today by Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

Cordell Hull.

The protest was delivered to the British foreign office by the American embassy on cabled instructions from the department of state. The instructions were sent Dec. 22.

The protest was based on the 11th Hague convention which recognizes that postal correspondence of neutrals is inviolable on the high seas. The note held that the convention is applicable against Great Britain because the mail that had been tampered with was aboard vessels which had put into British ports under requirements of the British embargo against Germany.

Specific Instances Told.

Hull told of specific instances in which American mail had been seized by the British as follows:

1. Steamship Black Gull, Oct. 10; British removed 293 sacks of American mail addressed to Rotterdam, and 10 sacks addressed to Antwerp.

2. Steamship Zaandam, Oct. 12; removed 33 sacks of registered mail and 156 sacks of ordinary mail addressed to the Netherlands, 65 sacks of mail addressed to Belgium, 4 to Luxemburg, 3 to Danzig, 259 to Germany.

3. Steamship Black Tern, Oct. 12; removed 94 sacks addressed to Rotterdam, 81 to Antwerp, 184 to Germany.

4. Steamship Astrid-Thorden, Oct. 24; removed 468 bags of mail addressed to Gothenburg, 18 to Helsinki.

Censorship Also Opposed.

"This government readily admits the right of the British government to censor private mails originating in or destined to the United Kingdom or private mails which normally pass thru the United Kingdom for transmission to their final destination," the note said. "It cannot admit the right of the British authorities to interfere with American mails on American or other neutral ships on the high seas nor can it admit the right of the British government to censor mail on ships which have involuntarily entered British ports.

"The United States government regards as particularly objectionable the practice of taking mails from vessels which ply directly between American and neutral European ports and which thru some form of duress are induced to call at designated British control bases. This is believed to be a clear violation of immunity provided by The Hague convention.

"The United States government feels compelled to make a vigorous protest against the practices outlined above and to express the hope that it will receive early assurances that they are being discontinued."

Reply in "Due Course."

LONDON, Jan. 2 (AP).—The United States protest against British seizure of mails destined for Germany was in the "due course" pigeonhole tonight along with a previous protest against the allied blockade and the Pan-American complaint against neutrality zone violation.

A spokesman for the government said: "A note was received shortly after Christmas containing representations of the state department concerning diversion of American mails carried in neutral ships.

"It is receiving careful consideration by his majesty's government and a reply will be made in due course."

Looking for Currency.

The British attitude on the blockade has been to avoid antagonizing neutrals, but the British contend their blockade of both imports and exports is justified by Germany's mine sowing.

On the question of mail diversion, Britain's position is that it is necessary to examine mail destined for Germany because it might contain contraband, such as currency.

FINNISH BOMBS BREAK LAKE ICE; REDS DROWNED

15,000 Russians Fall Into Foe's Trap.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Jan. 3, Wednesday (AP).—The disclosure that Finnish planes dropped bombs to smash the ice of Lake Kianta and trap a whole Red Russian division in what probably was the greatest battle of the Finnish-soviet war was made by reliable sources early today as the Finns mopped up in that sector and converted other soviet attacks into Finnish victories.

The battle, fought on Dec. 29 and 30 at the eastern edge of Finland's narrow "waistline," resulted in the virtual annihilation of the Russian 163d division—at least 15,000 strong.

First hand reports of the battle began to trickle into the capital today, altho the victory itself was announced in a New Year's eve communique.

First Surround 4,000.

Today's reports told how the Finns first surrounded some 4,000 Russians on the ice of the lake several days ago, killed more than a thousand of them, and drew a tight ring around the lake.

The ring was opened, however, to permit soviet reënforcements to reach the lake. Then the Finns surrounded the Reds again, and set up machine guns on the shores.

In the dead of the night the Finns began their attack and when the Russians tried to retreat they found the way cut off.

For two days Russian tanks circled the lake, attempting to protect the troops marooned on the ice with their full equipment—heavy guns, trucks, and field kitchens.

Send for Bombers.

Finally the Finns sent for the bombing planes. They blasted great holes in the ice and soviet trucks, cannon, and men tumbled into the water. In utter panic, the survivors sought to fight their way off the broken ice. They refused to surrender.

The Finns, however, were reported to have taken a great number of prisoners and large stores of equipment, including 27 guns, 11 tanks, two armored cars, four antiaircraft guns, hundreds of trucks and horses, a dozen field kitchens, and much arms and munitions.

Today the Finns were following up their victory while the soviets were believed to be preparing a tremendous push on the Karelian isthmus, to the south, to crack a four week stalemate.

Concentrate 7 Divisions.

Seven Red divisions (about 105,000 men) were reported concentrated on the isthmus.

Icy blizzards interrupted war in the air yesterday, leading to reports that many Russian bombers had been forced down in Finnish territory.

The Finns reported their antiaircraft forces started the new year with an alert defense against bomber attacks and had shot down seven of the Russian war planes which had concentrated their attack on Monday on Turku (Abo), vital port on the southwestern coast.

[A soviet military communique issued early today said: "Nothing important occurred on the front. Owing to unfavorable weather soviet aviators made only reconnoitering flights."]

Capture Russian Base.

All yesterday, a Finnish army communique said, Russian legions supported by tanks attacked near Lake Lavajarvi on the eastern front, but the defenders held out and drove back all assaults. One tank was destroyed.

After it had "passed from hand to hand during the day," the Finns took and held a Russian base at Aittajoki, also on the eastern front, the communique added. In the capture, the communique said, three machine guns, a field kitchen, and 400 overcoats fell into the hands of the Finns.

Aittajoki is in southeastern Finland, about 13 miles from the Russian border and about 60 miles north of Lake Ladoga. It is one of the bases from which the Russians have been operating in an attempt to cut the Finnish lines immediately north of the lake.

Further gains were reported by the Finns in the area northeast of Lake Ladoga. Activity of patrols and artillery was reported in other sectors of the front.

[Reports reaching Copenhagen said that in the east central Salla sector Finnish ski patrols were menacing a

Hitler's Friend Disappears On Way to Britain

FOLKESTONE, England, Jan. 2 (AP).—A worried father and an empty ambulance waited beneath the chalk cliffs of this southern England port tonight for Unity Valkyrie Freeman-Mitford, who has been visiting friends, including Fuehrer Hitler, in Germany since before the war began.

Lord Redesdale, her father, who fought against the Germans in France and Belgium in the world war and won mention in dispatches, was said tonight by a member of the family to be hopefully expecting his daughter tomorrow. He had thought she would be here today. Lady Redesdale and another daughter are reported to be traveling with Miss Freeman-Mitford, who is reported to be suffering from an unexplained ailment.

Hitler, himself, is credited with arranging the curious wartime trip from Germany to England.

Illness a Mystery.

Persons close to the family, however, were unable to throw any new light on the young woman's illness, which is of some months' duration. British newspapers have reported at various times that she was poisoned, suffering from a gunshot wound, and ill after a violent quarrel with the Fuehrer during which he delivered a hysterical tirade against Great Britain. The London Daily Mail said she was suffering from a gunshot wound in the head.

While London newspaper placards screamed delightedly, "where is Unity?" she was believed to be somewhere between Munich and the channel, traveling on a stretcher.

Apparently all her family knows is that she had what is described as an accident in Munich on Aug. 9. In October, more than a month after Great Britain declared war on Germany, Lady Redesdale was told that her daughter was in a Munich hospital.

Called a Beauty by Hitler.

On Christmas eve roundabout messages to the Redesdale house in London's Rutland Gate said the Fuehrer had provided a special ambulance type railway car for her trip home.

Unity, who is 25 years old, is the fourth of Lord Redesdale's six daughters.

Hitler once called her the perfect Nordic type of beauty, presumably in tribute to her long golden hair, her waxen complexion, and her antipathy to face powder.

She met the Fuehrer in 1935 at a Nazi rally in Nuremberg and, with her sister, now Lady Mosley, has been his personal guest in Germany on frequent occasions.

Sister Also Pro-Fascist.

Lady Mosley, the former Mrs. Diana Guinness, shares Unity's Nazi tastes. Her marriage to Sir Oswald Mosley, British Fascist leader, was disclosed in the latter's newspaper on Nov. 30, 1938, simultaneously with announcement of the birth of a son. The marriage had been kept secret for two years.

Unity has gone so far as to fight for Hitler. She had a scuffle with a communist in Hyde Park one Sunday in 1938, and lost the swastika badge which Hitler gave her—engraved with his name. Only the timely arrival of a bus saved her from being ducked in the Serpentine by an angry crowd.

She was Hitler's house guest last May at Berchtesgaden, his Bavarian mountain retreat.

MAYOR HAGUE SPURNS YOUNG PEOPLE'S PLEA AGAINST DANCE BAN

Jersey City, N. J., Jan. 2 (Special).—Linking dancing with immorality, Mayor Frank Hague today turned down the plea of a delegation of young people to repeal or modify the ordinance which has forbidden dancing in restaurants here for more than 20 years. After listening to the arguments of Joseph Mans, 29 year old spokesman for the petitioners, the Jersey Boss said:

"You are in error when you say dancing will not produce immoral results. We will not allow night clubs where big necked fellows and blubber eared wise guys congregate. You are still young and as you grow older you will realize more fully what I am saying to you now. I want you to know the mayor is proud of the record he has established in protection of young girls and young boys."

Dummy Shells from Sea Rip Houses in Irish Town

LONDON, Jan. 2 (AP).—Several houses in Bangor, Northern Ireland, were damaged today by dummy shells believed to have been fired from vessels at sea during gunnery practice.

FISHING THRU THE ICE IS GREAT! (THIS IS NOT A SPORTS PAGE ITEM)

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., Jan. 2 (AP).—The staff of Canadian airways has gone fishing in frozen Kingsmere lake with nooses, trying to retrieve 1,008 bottles of Scotch, one at a time. The Scotch went into the water when a taxiing plane loaded with it fell thru the ice the other day.

Charge Misuse of Mail Frank by Job Service

Shortly before Christmas the Illinois State Employment service mailed thousands of holiday greeting cards, all at government expense, in franked envelopes marked "official business." Yesterday postoffice officials, after investigating this use of the franking privilege, demanded that the employment service foot the bill for the postage at the regular mailing rates.

The state employment service is a tax supported agency affiliated with the United States Employment service, a branch of the department of labor. It derives its frank from this connection. The service is operated to find jobs for the unemployed.

Greetings Sent to Clients.

The greeting cards, sent to the service's clients and others, bore this message:

"Happiness and prosperity increased in 1939 because you gave persons a chance to work. In sending you holiday greetings we hope the New Year will be better than the old and that we can look forward to continuing our pleasant relationships."

Franking privileges for sending official mail without charge are extended to members of congress and all departments and bureaus of the federal government, with the restriction that franked mail must relate to government business. In the case of the employment service, only correspondence having to do with employment, as it concerns the federal government, can go free, postal officials said.

Called Misuse of Frank.

They said they didn't think the holiday greetings came under this classification. They added that they thought the service should set aside enough funds—it operates on an annual budget of $820,000 supplied thru state and federal taxes—to cover the postage for greeting cards.

Federal statute provides a fine of $300 for use of a frank on nonofficial or personal mail. This penalty is seldom invoked, according to Thomas M. Peters, superintendent of mails.

Mistakes are common and offenders merely are asked to pay the usual mailing charges. If they refuse, they are liable to prosecution.

10,000 Distributed in City.

It is not known how many of the greeting cards were mailed. It was estimated that more than 10,000 were distributed in Chicago.

Dr. A. H. R. Atwood, director of the employment service, could not be reached yesterday. Other officials refused to disclose the number of cards which had been sent out.

"We don't know anything about it yet," one official said. "Anyway, we think it was official business. The greeting cards come under the heading of good will promotion."

EXPECT MURPHY APPOINTMENT TO SUPREME BENCH

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 2.—President Roosevelt, according to well informed official sources in Washington, will nominate Attorney General Frank Murphy to be an associate justice of the federal Supreme court before the end of the week. The nomination is expected to be sent to the senate either Thursday or Friday.

High official sources assert that Solicitor General Robert H. Jackson is to be advanced to the attorney generalship to succeed Murphy, Judge Francis Biddle of the federal Circuit Court of Appeals in Philadelphia is to be appointed solicitor general to succeed Jackson, and Chairman J. Warren Madden of the NLRB is to be appointed to the Circuit court as Biddle's successor.

Would Create NLRB Vacancy.

Such a juggling of appointments would create a vacancy on the NLRB and permit the President to fill it with some one not opposed by the American Federation of Labor. At the last regular session opposition by the A. F. of L. forced Mr. Roosevelt to replace Donald Wakefield Smith, whose term on the board had expired. He named Dr. William M. Leiserson as Smith's successor.

The A. F. of L. opposes Madden, and opposes even more vigorously the board's third member, Edwin S. Smith. The removal of Madden, however, would enable the President to bring about a board whose majority is unopposed by the A. F. of L.

The A. F. of L. has demanded that the present board be abolished, and insists that amendments to the Wagner act which it has proposed are necessary, even tho the board's membership is reconstructed. Nevertheless, the weight of the A. F. of L. charges has been directed against the administration of the law, rather than against the law itself.

Prepared to Oust Smith.

President Roosevelt is represented as being prepared, if necessary, to remove Edwin S. Smith from the board and give him another appointment in an effort to appease the A. F. of L. and prevent a general overhauling of the Wagner act.

Demands from both Democratic and Republican sources in congress for a general revision of the Wagner act are greatly strengthened by the A. F. of L. contention that the labor board is prejudiced in favor of John L. Lewis' Congress of Industrial Organizations.

To Succeed Justice Butler.

Attorney General Murphy is scheduled to take the Supreme court vacancy caused by the death of Justice Pierce Butler. After Murphy's defeat for reëlection as governor of Michigan in 1938, Mr. Roosevelt wanted to appoint him to the vacancy created by the retirement of Justice Louis D. Brandeis. At that time, however, it was feared that the senate would not confirm Murphy's appointment because he was charged with giving aid and comfort to the C. I. O. sitdown strikers in the automobile industry in 1937.

Selection of Murphy is deemed politically expedient for geographical and religious reasons.

Possible New Deal Candidate.

Jackson's elevation to the attorney generalship would be calculated to aggrandize his political stature as a possible New Deal candidate for Vice President. Mr. Roosevelt two years ago sought to promote a Presidential boom for Jackson, but it proved to be a dud.

Biddle, who is expected to get the solicitor generalship, was appointed to the federal bench less than a year ago. Handpicked by Mr. Roosevelt, he had served as counsel for the congressional committee created to investigate the Tennessee Valley authority.

PRESIDENT BIDS FOR PEACE BUT FACES A STORM

Writes Message on State of Nation.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 2.—President Roosevelt will address the opening session of congress tomorrow in a conciliatory mood, avoiding controversial recommendations and devoting most of his attention to the vast armament program which he is sponsoring.

This was learned today after the President had conferred with Democratic congressional leaders. He reviewed the main points of his message on the state of the union with Vice President John N. Garner, Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley [D., Ky.], Speaker William B. Bankhead [D., Ala.], and House Majority Leader Sam Rayburn [D., Tex.].

Mr. Roosevelt expressed the hope that the third session of the 76th congress will be brief and comparatively tranquil in view of the troubled situation abroad. He apparently is anxious that domestic problems be shoved into the background momentarily.

Will Push Domestic Program.

It did not appear that the President's hopes for a quiet session will be realized. Statements by various lawmakers indicated that they do not believe the foreign situation should be allowed to overshadow domestic issues such as unemployment, balancing the budget, the reciprocal trade program, and taxes.

The President completed a rough draft of his message tonight, but will not have it in its final form until 9 a. m. tomorrow, according to the White House. He will deliver the message in person before the two houses at 2 p. m. Admission cards for the event are at a premium and extraordinary precautions were being taken by an augmented police force to bar all but the privileged card holders from the house chamber where the joint session will be held.

Greets Garner with Song.

As had been expected, there was nothing but high good humor apparent when the President greeted Vice President Garner for the first time since the latter announced his availability as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for President.

As Garner and his three colleagues marched into the presidential study Mr. Roosevelt broke into song. "Happy New Year to you! Happy New Year to you!" he caroled, and there followed an exchange of hand clasping and back slapping.

"I never saw a more brotherly, affectionate greeting in my life," declared Speaker Bankhead.

The President then discussed for an hour his annual message and also his message on the budget, which will be sent to congress on Thursday. Later Speaker Bankhead said that some of the budget recommendations might be disappointing to some factions and to some government departments, but that it ought to be satisfactory to the country.

Will Ask New Tax Bill.

Mr. Roosevelt, it was said, will point out the need for approximately 500 million dollars in new revenue to finance the augmented armament program, but will not make any specific recommendations for new taxes.

It also was indicated that the President will not attempt to revive the 1 billion 615 million dollar spending bill on which the house refused to act last year, nor the 800 million dollar housing authority expansion measure which met a similar fate.

The first week of the session may be peaceful, in line with the President's desires, but the fireworks will begin to pop merrily next Monday when a bill to impose federal penalties for the crime of lynching comes before the house. It will be forced to the floor for consideration by virtue of a petition signed by a majority of house members at the last session.

The bill is expected to pass the house after several days' debate, but it probably will face again a senate filibuster such as killed the measure after the house approved it two years ago.

SPURN $100 DINNER

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 2.—Refusing to fall in line with President Roosevelt's campaign strategy of adjourning politics, Republican leaders of congress today declined invitations to attend the Democratic $100 a plate Jackson day dinner next Monday.

In a letter to former Attorney General Homer Cummings, chairman of the dinner committee, Representative Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts, Republican leader of the house, wrote:

"I am very grateful to you for your very kind invitation to attend the Jackson day dinner. I quite agree with you that it is a bit unusual for me to be invited to attend a dinner which is held for the avowed purpose of raising funds for the Democratic 1940 campaign. If the meeting were to be nonpartisan and the funds were to be devoted to some nonpartisan purpose like the Red Cross or Finnish relief, I would be glad to attend. In fact, I would be willing to come and pay for my plate. I regret it is not, and consequently I must decline."

Expect Half Million Profit.

The Democrats expect to realize $100,000 for their campaign war chest from the Washington dinner to which they invited the Republican leaders, at the instance of the President, and $500,000 altogether from the Jackson day dinners thruout the country.

In his reply to the invitation, Senator Warren R. Austin of Vermont, assistant Republican leader of the senate, said:

"I will be glad to have you say to the President that I regret that I cannot share in the hospitality of the great Democratic party because of the traditional functions of this dinner and my high regard for the institution of party responsibility in the American political system."

Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon, Republican leader of the senate, made the declinations unanimous, writing:

"I sincerely appreciate this cordial and courteous invitation, but I shall be unable to attend. To all present I wish a pleasant and profitable evening."

Disputes War Argument.

Leader Martin, in an interview, said that the administration is appealing for nonpartisanship on the ground that the European war requires such a course. With that contention he took issue.

"We will carefully scan the bills to increase expenditures or the building up of the military establishments," Representative Martin said. "We will not go along blindly with the administration in voting for excessive monies, and we propose to find out the needs of the country in this respect. There is no need for nonpartisan consideration of legislation in the coming session.

"If partisan politics had not been adjourned in the first session, when the neutrality act was passed, we might have had a better law.

Benefits of Two Party System.

"This is a two party system of government and better laws always are enacted with legislation carefully considered and debated and when partisan equations exist.

"It seems to me that this very move to neutralize partisan debate is an indication of the weakness of the administration. This gives the Republicans hope and confidence."

Representative Martin added that the trend at present is against the New Deal; that the pendulum is swinging away from radicalism back to sane conservatism.

"I am confident we will elect a Republican President and a Republican house," he said. "The issue will be the New Deal and the record of the Roosevelt administration. We can defeat Mr. Roosevelt or any nominee of the Democratic party."

Taft Raps Panama Pact.

Arriving in Washington today after a swing around the country, Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, one of the three leading candidates for the Republican nomination for President, said that attempts by the United States and other American countries to enforce a security zone around North and South America are indefensible and ridiculous. The neutrality zone policy tends to involve us in disputes with other nations that might conceivably lead to war, he said.

"It's perfectly indefensible and ridiculous to say to Great Britain and Germany that they can't conduct a battle 300 miles from our shores," he said. "We can't carry out such a policy and I don't believe we should try to. I found that to be the pretty general opinion thruout the country."

Taft called for gradual abandonment of price-fixing and plans that require constant inspection of business and agriculture, and said he preferred to establish the wage-hour, labor relations, and other regulatory bodies as police affairs rather than constant inspection agencies.

RESERVE OFFICER CADETS TO GET MEDALS TODAY

Presentation of medals to outstanding cadets of the Reserve Officers' Training corps in Chicago and suburban high schools will begin today. The first awards will be made this morning at the Lake View High school.

The medals will be provided by THE TRIBUNE, the Reserve Officers' association, the American Legion, the board of education, and neighborhood civic and patriotic groups.

Other high school assemblies at which medals will be presented this week are Sullivan High school tomorrow, and Englewood and Steinmetz High schools Friday.

Venue Change Is Denied; Nickel Theft Trial Today

New York, Jan. 2 [Special].—Edward J. Rigney, one of 36 men accused of looting turnstiles of the city owned and city-operated independent subway system, must go to trial tomorrow, Supreme court Justice Charles B. McLaughlin ruled late today in denying a motion for change of venue. Rigney, a former subway employé, is charged with grand larceny in an indictment placing his thefts at $25,000—half a million nickels. The trial was scheduled to open today but it was postponed by the motion for a change of venue.

New Chief Arrives to Head American Marines in China

SHANGHAI, China, Jan. 2 (AP).—Col. De Witt Peck arrived today to take command of the 4th regiment here, largest United States marine corps force overseas. He succeeds Col. Joseph C. Fegan, stationed here 15 months.

HULL DISAVOWS ANY AMBITIONS TO MAKE WHITE HOUSE RACE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 2 (AP).—Secretary of State Cordell Hull vowed at a press conference today that he had no presidential ambitions, and denied knowledge of reports that President Roosevelt had tabbed him as the White House choice for the Democratic nomination. At his press conference President Roosevelt spoofed the authors of news dispatches saying Hull is the Roosevelt choice. The President said the dispatches were written in 1939, and he hoped the authors had turned over a new leaf for 1940. That ought to hold somebody, he added with a laugh.

Third of Brooklyn Milk Now Is Sold in Paper

New York, Jan. 2 [Special].—Results of a survey made public today indicated that from 30 to 40 per cent of the milk delivered in Brooklyn homes is being distributed in paper containers by the large milk companies. The distributors began home delivery in two quart containers on Nov. 13. If consumers generally take advantage of the 1-1½ cent a quart saving, spokesmen for the milk distributors said, an 8 to 10 million dollar cut in the city's annual milk bill may be effected. Two quarts of grade B milk in the containers costs 27 cents, as compared with a straight price of 15 cents a quart in bottles.

$1,356,000 Budget Adopted by Oak Park Village Board

Oak Park's village board, at a meeting last night, adopted a 1940 budget calling for expenditures of $1,356,000, a reduction of $2,000 from the 1939 total. Village President James A. Howe said the amount to be raised by taxation would be $658,019, or $37,000 less than in the previous year. The rest of the revenue will come principally from fees, licenses, and water bills.

LABOR BOARD IS UPHELD IN UNION ELECTION CASES

Supreme Court Decides Law Bars Review.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 2.—In three separate cases the United States Supreme court held today that the Wagner labor relations act effectively prohibits court review of the procedure of the National Labor Relations board in ordering elections and certifying employé units for collective bargaining purposes.

If the failure of the act to provide for court review in these cases produces peculiar hardsips where the interests of rival unions are affected, such arguments must be addressed to congress, and not the courts, declared the Supreme court in a unanimous opinion written by Justice Harlan F. Stone.

Puts Problem to Congress.

In this decision, putting the question of amending the Wagner act squarely up to congress, the court upheld an order of the labor board certifying the International Longshoremen and Warehousemen's union, affiliated with the Congress of Industrial Organizations and headed by Harry Bridges, as the collective bargaining representative of all the longshore workers on the Pacific coast.

Bridges has been described as a communist in testimony before the Dies committee on un-American activities. Dean James M. Landis of the Harvard law school, special examiner in deportation proceedings instituted by the labor department, has reported to Secretary Frances Perkins, however, that the evidence does not support the charge of membership in the communist party.

A. F. of L. Protests Ruling.

The American Federation of Labor, whose officials have characterized the labor relations board as the judicial branch of the C. I. O., denounced the labor board ruling in the Pacific coast longshoremen's case. It contended that members of the International Longshoremen's association, an A. F. of L. union, constituted a majority of the employés of many waterfront employers affected.

Appealing to the Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, the A. F. of L. contended that its Pacific coast longshoremen were deprived of their right, specifically guaranteed by the Wagner act itself, to bargain collectively thru representatives of their own choosing.

In designating the C. I. O. union as the appropriate bargaining unit for water front employés on the coast the labor board did not deny that the A. F. of L. represented a majority of the employés of particular employers, or even of particular associations of employers. It found, however, that the coastwise unit was the appropriate one for bargaining, and that, in the unit as a whole, 9,557 of the 12,860 longshore workers were members of the C. I. O. union.

May Stir Amendment Issue.

The decision of the Supreme court holding that there is no recourse, under the Wagner act, against such action by the labor board is expected to strengthen the movement in congress for a general overhauling of the law. Amendments presented by the A. F. of L. and now pending in congress would forbid the board to designate a bargaining unit comprising the employés of more than one employer, would give a majority of the workers in any single craft the right to choose their own representative, and would provide for court review of labor board decisions in representation cases on petition by a labor union.

The Supreme court's decision in the longshoremen's case affirmed a decree of the District of Columbia Appellate court dismissing the A. F. of L. petition on the ground that it had no jurisdiction to review such an order by the labor board.

Two Primary Functions.

The sole question presented, said Justice Stone's opinion, was whether the board's certification of an appropriate bargaining unit was an "order" which, by related provisions of the statute, the courts might review.

The decision explained that the board, under the act, is given two primary functions to perform: [1] the certification of bargaining representatives for appropriate units, under section 9, and [2] the prevention of unfair labor practices, by the issuance of cease and desist orders, under section 10. Section 10 provides for judicial review of the board's unfair labor orders on petition by an aggrieved person, but "nowhere in this section is there mention of investigations of certifications authorized and defined by section 9," the opinion declared.

Moreover, section 9 makes no provision for the review of certifications except in the single case where there is a petition for enforcement or review of an order restraining a labor practice found to be unfair as a result of a prior certification, the opinion added.

Law Makes Distinction.

Justice Stone said it was "evident that the entire structure of the act emphasizes, for purpose of review, the distinction between an 'order' of the board restraining an unfair labor practice and a certification in representation proceedings.

"The one authorized by section 10 may be reviewed by the court on petition of the board for enforcement of the order, or of a person aggrieved, in conformity to the procedure laid down in section 10, which says nothing of certifications. The other, authorized by section 9, is nowhere spoken of as an order, and no procedure is prescribed for its review apart from an order prohibiting an unfair labor practice.

"The statute on its face thus indicates a purpose to limit the review afforded by section 10 to orders of the board prohibiting unfair labor practices, a purpose and a construction which its legislative history confirms."

The opinion then cited statements from committee reports and speeches by proponents of the act in congress to support the "unavoidable conclusion" that "congress, as the result of a deliberate choice of conflicting policies, has excluded representation certificates of the board from the review by federal appellate courts authorized by the Wagner act except in the circumstances specified in section 9 [D]."

Remedy Up to Congress.

The opinion said it was argued that congress was mistaken in its judgment that the provision for review of certifications only in connection with an order directing an employer to do something would provide "a complete guarantee against arbitrary action by the board," as stated in the senate report.

"It seems to be the thought," the opinion concluded, "that this failure to provide for a court review is productive of peculiar hardships, which were not foreseen in cases where the interests of rival unions are affected. But these are arguments to be addressed to congress and not the courts."

In another opinion, also by Justice Stone, the court reversed a decree of the 6th Circuit Court of Appeals setting aside the board's direction for a so-called runoff election among the employés of the Consumers Power company of Michigan. In the first election, 2,977 employés voted, of whom 1,072 voted for the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, local No. 876, an A. F. of L. union, and 1,164 voted for the Utility Workers' Organizing committee, a C. I. O. affiliate.

Milwaukee Ruling Revised.

Since the C. I. O. union did not have a majority of the employés, the board ordered a runoff. Its conception of a runoff, however, was an election with only the C. I. O. union on the ballot. The Circuit court set aside the direction as depriving employés of their right of free choice of bargaining representatives under the Wagner act, but the Supreme court said the board's action was not reviewable.

Justice Hugo L. Black wrote the opinion in the third labor board case, which reversed an order of the Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals [Chicago] modifying the board's direction for an election among the employés of the Falk corporation of Milwaukee.

In this case the board ordered the company to disestablish an alleged company union, called the independent. In a consolidated proceeding it ordered an election on a ballot containing only the names of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, a C. I. O. union, and the operating engineers, an A. F. of L. union.

The Circuit court granted the board's petition for enforcement of the order, but modified it to include the independent union on the ballot in order that the employés might be free to choose it if they preferred it.

Board Finding Upheld.

Justice Black said the board reached the conclusion that "full protection of the employés' right freely to choose bargaining representatives required complete disestablishment effecting elimination of the independent as a candidate." On the basis of its findings, he said, "the board justifiably drew the inference that this company created union could not emancipate itself from habitual subservience to its creator, and that in order to insure employés that complete freedom of choice guaranteed by section 7 the independent must be completely disestablished and kept off the ballot."

"Congress has intrusted the power to draw such inferences to the board and not to the courts," Black's opinion added.

44 YEARS' SERVICE IN A. F. OF L. ENDED BY FRANK MORRISON

Washington, D. C., Jan. 2 (AP).—The office of the secretary-treasurer of the American Federation of Labor changed hands today for the first time since 1896. Frank Morrison, the veteran white haired union leader who held the office continuously all these years, relinquished the post to George Meany of New York, elected last October to succeed Morrison after the latter announced his retirement. Morrison, now with the title of secretary emeritus, was voted a lifetime salary at the last A. F. of L. convention.

STRIKE WITHOUT A DISPUTE HALTS U. OF I. BUILDING

Tieup Ordered on 3 Units by National Officers.

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 2 [Special].—The University of Illinois disclosed tonight that 70 plumbers and steamfitters on three buildings under construction on the campus had been called on strike by the national headquarters of their union in Washington, D. C.

A statement issued at the university said the school has had no trouble with local unions and that no issue of wages or hours is involved in the controversy. The strikers are said to have had no grievance against the university, but had no choice except to follow orders of their national officers.

The strike order was given by Thomas D. Cunningham, general organizer for the United Association of Journeymen Plumbers and Steamfitters. The union is an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor. University spokesmen said Cunningham let it be known that he was acting on orders from his Washington office.

Try to Save Money.

The walkout followed the university's efforts to save several thousand dollars of taxpayers' money by using its own union employés on new construction work. The university said Cunningham insisted that the work be given to a contractor.

The work in question is the installation of piping and accessories in a tunnel leading to university buildings from a new power plant. Work was started recently on the power plant, for which the legislature appropriated $1,650,000.

The university advertised for bids on the work and received 10 responses. It was found they ranged from $10,000 to $35,000 more than engineers had estimated the work should cost. The lowest was a bid of $76,877 by the Economy Plumbing and Heating company of Chicago, and the highest was $102,170 submitted by the Phillips-Getchow company of Chicago.

Actual Cost Placed at $66,500.

On the basis of an estimate prepared by a Chicago firm of consulting engineers, and on cost studies of their own employés, the university decided it could have the work done at a cost of $66,500 by buying its own materials and using its own union employés.

Since even the lowest bid exceeded the fund allotted to the project the board of trustees last October authorized the university's physical plant personnel to purchase the necessary materials and to do the work with its own union labor under union conditions and at union wages.

However, according to the university authorities, Cunningham appeared on Nov. 4 and notified them that if the work were not let to a contractor, no union labor would be made available to the university for the installation of the piping.

Men Barred from Jobs.

Last Friday he reappeared and notified contractors on steam fitting and plumbing jobs on three other buildings under construction on the campus that members of the local union would not appear for work that day.

The buildings affected by the strike are the Illini Union building, $1,400,000 student center financed by a federal grant and a loan from an insurance company; Gregory hall, a classroom costing $770,000, for which a federal grant and state funds were furnished, and the natural resources building, being constructed for the state department of conservation at a cost of $745,000. This unit is not a university building.

Henry F. Wittig of Urbana, business agent for the local unit of the plumbers and steamfitters union, said the local members held no meeting relative to the strike and were merely obeying orders from headquarters.

BANDITS ROB RENT COLLECTOR.

Robert McClellan, 9107 Pleasant avenue, was robbed of $400 by two colored men yesterday in a building at 4806 Indiana avenue, where he had gone to collect rents. The robbers fled in McClellan's car, which he had parked outside.

PLANS TO KEEP UNIONS FREE OF ALIEN LEADERS

Congressman Would Deny NLRB Protection.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 2.—Representative J. Parnell Thomas [R., N. J.] announced today that he will introduce a bill in the house providing that no labor organization which has an alien as an official shall be entitled to the benefits of the national labor relations act.

J. Parnell Thomas.

The measure will be aimed at such labor officials as Harry Bridges, Australian born alien who is head of the maritime union on the west coast. Bridges recently was declared not to be a member of the communist party by James M. Landis, a special trial examiner for the labor department, and therefore not subject to deportation.

"No labor organization which numbers among its officers or directors any person not an American citizen should enjoy the protection and benefits of the labor relations act," Thomas said. "This I believe to be fair not only to American employers, but also to the millions of American workers affiliated with labor organizations.

U. S. Allegiance Essential.

"Such a step would be desirable in normal times, but it is absolutely essential in the present state of world affairs. Those conducting our labor organizations should owe their allegiance to the United States—not to some foreign power."

Thomas attacked the Landis decision exonerating Bridges of charges of communism.

"I was not surprised that Landis applied a thick coating of whitewash to the notorious Harry Bridges," he said. "I did not suppose that he would in any way embarrass Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins who long ago threw the protecting arm of the federal government around this Pacific coast labor agitator and affectionately referred to him as 'My boy, Harry.'

Citizenship Spurned.

"I never have been interested in Harry Bridges personally. I have nothing against the man. My complaint has been directed against the excesses in which he has indulged, in his communistic associations and in the fact that he was an alien who has spurned the opportunity to become an American citizen. I am firmly of the opinion that no alien, communistic or not, should hold a position of power and trust in an American labor organization.

"Harry Bridges is not an American citizen, altho he has been in this country for almost 20 years. He, apparently, cares so little about this country that he does not wish to assume the obligations of citizenship. Here is a case where an alien, with the encouragement and support of the Roosevelt administration, has harassed American commerce, business and shipping thru his position as a labor leader. This administration, it now appears, intends to do nothing to curb Bridges' activities."

TEXAS ATTORNEY NAMED INTERIOR DEPARTMENT AID

Washington, D. C., Jan. 2 (AP).—Alvin J. Wirtz, a Texas lawyer of New Deal sympathies, was appointed undersecretary of the interior today by President Roosevelt, subject to confirmation by the senate.

Alvin J. Wirtz.

Reporters who set out to determine whether the appointment was a slap at Vice President Garner were told by Representative Sam Rayburn, house majority leader and a fellow Texan, that he could not conceive of that being the case. Rayburn, a close friend of Garner, told reporters the appointment of Wirtz was agreeable to him.

Wirtz is 51 years old and a resident of Austin. He is chairman of the state advisory board of the National Youth administration, counsel for the Lower Colorado River authority, and a former state senator.

NEW NAVY CHIEF URGES A SPEEDUP IN CONSTRUCTION

Edison Is Sworn In as Secretary.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 2.—Charles Edison, son of the late inventor, Thomas Alva Edison, was sworn in today as secretary of the navy. His first statement in his new cabinet position was that he is studying means of speeding up the naval construction program. Edison has been acting secretary of the navy since the death of Secretary Claude A. Swanson, last summer.

Edison said he is satisfied with the progress of the current building program in that vessels are being turned out on schedule and in some cases ahead of time. He expressed the belief, however, that congress should authorize a stepping up of building to embrace the full authorization of naval vessels.

Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, who sat beside the secretary at a press conference following the latter's induction into office, said that congress would shortly be called upon by the navy to decide the question of additional construction.

"It might be advantageous at this time," he said, "to lay down more of the authorized vessels."

Will Ask Research Funds.

Edison disclosed that he will ask congress for funds with which to push scientific research in the interests of securing the most modern weapons and vessels for the navy, including the best foreign ideas.

The secretary reported that the navy is assembling the data requested by a house naval subcommittee on the construction of large battleships up to 80,000 tons. He said it was too early to reach any conclusions on the feasibility of such colossal vessels.

Edison did not express any views on the difference between a defensive and offensive navy. He said merely that navies can be used either on the defense or offense and the American policy is to exercise its navy effectively.

The oath of office was administered to the secretary by Rear Admiral Walter B. Woodson, judge advocate general of the navy.

FLAMES DRIVE SIX FAMILIES FROM 2D FLOOR FLATS

Fire which started in a lumber shed behind 1514-18 Chicago avenue drove six families—20 persons—from their second floor flats shortly after midnight today. The blaze spread to a chicken coop behind No. 1512 and to several small sheds across the alley. The lumber shed was owned by Mrs. Constance Niec, who has a real estate office at 1518 Chicago avenue.

Second Deputy Chief Joseph A. Mackey, directing firemen who responded to a 2-11 alarm, put the total damage at $2,000. He ordered power shut off in the vicinity because of the danger from live wires and had traffic on Chicago and Ashland avenues rerouted.

JURY LAUNCHES BUILDING TRADE QUIZ IN CHICAGO

Gets Tile Layer Union's Books and Records.

The federal grand jury investigation of the building industry in the Chicago area, which has been in preparation for months, got under way yesterday.

Leo F. Tierney.

Leo F. Tierney, special assistant to Attorney General Murphy, in charge of the inquiry, is being assisted by a staff of 40 attorneys and technical advisers. Approximately five months will be needed for the grand jury hearings. It is expected that between 400 and 500 individuals and representatives of labor groups and corporations will be summoned.

Most Extensive in 20 Years.

The investigation is the most extensive federal inquiry here in 20 years. The government, as part of its anti-monopoly campaign, is trying to smash cost raising restraints which, it is claimed, slowed building in this area almost to a standstill.

It was reported that the first witnesses yesterday were from outside Chicago. Several, it was said, were government agents.

Robert E. Shephard, secretary of the Ceramic, Mosaic and Encaustic Tile Layers' union, local 67, had been called to the grand jury room yesterday in response to one of the 75 subpenas which were issued two weeks ago by Judge Michael L. Igoe on a petition presented by Tierney. All the subpenas, it was learned, related to the tile industry and required that union and corporation records be produced before the jury.

Shephard did not testify yesterday, but he is expected to be questioned today.

Advice from Attorney.

Attorney Benjamin A. Vanderveld, representing the tile layers' union, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor, said he advised Shephard to refuse to answer any questions which did not concern the affairs of the union. He also asserted that the union will oppose any attempts by government attorneys to retain possession of the union records without a court order.

Shephard and two other men, whose identity was not disclosed, appeared at the jury chamber burdened with account books, ledgers, letter files, and other records. Vanderveld said they could be required only to identify records and could not be forced to give testimony which might tend to incriminate them as individuals.

The attorney issued a statement terming the thought of price fixing in the tile industry here "ridiculous."

TOLEDO SCHOOLS SHUT DOWN SINCE NOV. 22 REOPENED

Toledo, O., Jan. 2 [Special].—Forty-five thousand Toledo public school children returned to their classes today after a vacation that began Nov. 22 when the board of education closed all public schools because of financial difficulties. Night school classes are to resume tonight and buildings will be thrown open once again for public functions.

The closing was ordered to prevent a $600,000 deficit already accumulated from growing to $1,000,000.

During the enforced vacation school officials have been studying the curriculum to determine what part can be eliminated to cut operating expenses. The new school board, which took office yesterday, also will be faced with the problem of whether it shall cut salaries of the teachers and maintenance employés.

PITKIN'S DREAM BOAT IS BURIED IN RIVER MUD

New York, Jan. 2 (AP).—Walter B. Pitkin's four keeled "experimenter"—designed to show boat builders something new in hullwork and rigging—lies at the bottom of the Hudson river tonight, buried under mud and ice.

Buried with it are the hopes of 10 years of experimental work which ended New Year's eve with the author of "Life Begins at Forty" and two shipmates perched on an ice floe, flashing SOS signals with a flashlight. They were rescued by a tug.

The ship was wrecked by ice floes. The voyage was to have been from Newburgh to Nyack, preparatory to further tests in Florida.

The Columbia university professor had planned to use the ship in research work in tropical waters, gathering specimens of fish. The cost is estimated at $100,000. Yesterday, the "experimenter," still half submerged, floated downstream. It was towed by the coast guard to Irvington, where ice piled against it and forced it under water into the mud of the river bottom.

468 FLIVVER PLANES SET FOR SOUTHWARD HOP TO ST. PETERSBURG

Orlando, Fla., Jan. 2 [Special].—The 1940 flivver plane cavalcade moves on southward from here tomorrow with 468 of the little machines scheduled to make a mass flight to St. Petersburg. Plans were completed tonight for the journey by groups of seven to nine planes.

The first flights to leave here tomorrow morning will be landing at St. Petersburg, 96 miles to the southeast, about the time the last of the planes are taking off. About 100 larger machines, ranging in size from The Tribune's Stinson Reliant to William K. Vanderbilt's Lockheed Zephyr air liner, are to follow.

From St. Petersburg the cavalcade will head for West Palm Beach and Miami on Thursday for the All-American air maneuvers that commence on Friday. A number of the flivver plane pilots now with the cavalcade have entered their 64 horse power light planes in races to be flown in the maneuvers.

GARAGE GROUP'S SPENDING PROBED IN LABOR KILLING

Study Mystery Payments of $400 Monthly.

Murder Background

THE CRIME—Marinus Hvid, a garage owner, was fatally beaten six days ago by goons. He was married and had four children, two of whom helped him operate the garage.

THE INVESTIGATION — The state's attorney's office is investigating unexplained payments ranging from $400 to $500 a month made by the Affiliated Garages of Chicago, an organization of garage owners. The Auto Livery Chauffeurs, Taxicab Drivers, and Garage Helpers' union called a strike at Hvid's garage after Hvid dropped his membership in the owners' organization.

THE RECORD — The slaying of Hvid was the 32d labor murder in Chicago in the last nine years. In only one case were there convictions.

Unexplained expenditures of $400 to $500 a month by the Affiliated Garages of Chicago were under investigation yesterday in connection with the murder of Marinus Hvid, once a member of the garage owners' association. Hvid was beaten with baseball bats by labor goons early last Thursday and died of his injuries on Saturday.

Assistant State's Attorney William Crawford and Capt. Daniel Gilbert, chief of State's Attorney Courtney's police staff, sought to trace the payments by the garage association.

Emil Mermall, executive director of the association, said the money went for promotional expense. Miss Mary Mack, bookkeeper and stenographer for the association, said some one—she didn't know whom—once told her not to ask Mermall for vouchers for these monthly payments. Ben Chase, employed as a field man by the group, said he received only $30 a week and automobile expenses.

Union Link Charged.

Capt. Gilbert charged Mermall with using the Auto Livery Chauffeurs, Taxicab Drivers, and Garage Helpers' union as a police department of the garage owners' organization. Mermall denied it. Gilbert said the union and the owners' group worked hand in hand, and this, too, Mermall denied.

"Hvid would not have been murdered if there was no connection between your organization and the union," Capt. Gilbert told Mermall.

[Hvid owned a garage at 2514 North Halsted street. Two of his sons helped him operate it. It had space for 100 cars. A strike was called against him last March after he dropped his membership in Mermall's organization, which had imposed a fine of $75 on him.]

"It isn't so," Mermall replied to Gilbert. "We were friendly to Hvid. I went to the union and told the officers they ought not to bother Hvid, because he had a small place and only his young sons were working for him."

Tells of Picketing Garage.

At the inquest into Hvid's death last Saturday, Charles Gilliam, colored, testified that he had been in Hvid's employ as a part time worker, making about $14 a week until last March, when a union official promised him $5 a day to be a picket if he joined the union. He said he joined and thereafter picketed Hvid's garage.

Gilliam said Hvid hired him only to befriend him when Gilliam was penniless and hungry. He signed an affidavit that he had no grievances against Hvid and did not wish to join the union, but changed his mind the day before he was to testify in court for Hvid, who sought an injunction against the union.

Capt. Gilbert and Prosecutor Crawford reminded Mermall of that testimony. Mermall persisted in his statement that his organization had nothing to do with the strike called against Hvid.

Mermall said the garage association was incorporated in 1937, when the union sought a large pay increase for garage employés. He said its officers were B. B. Adams, president; Sam Urow, executive vice president; Thomas A. Hunter Jr., secretary; W. P. Enzweiler, treasurer, and himself. He said these men and himself went to Attorney A. L. Marovitz of Chicago, state senator of the 19th district, who drew up the papers of incorporation.

Books Show Payments.

The books of the association showed all expenditures, including $250 monthly to Marovitz, Crawford said, with vouchers attached. Other payments, he said, were charged to "promotion." Mermall said these sums were used for legitimate purposes.

Mermall denied that members of his group were given a preferential wage scale by the union. The same denial was made last week by Edward Reilly, president of the union, but the prosecutors said they will ask him again about his deals with Mermall.

Mermall told the officials that he alone represented his organization in dealings with the union. Only once, he said, was it necessary to refer any disputed matter to his executive board.

Questioned

BEG YOUR PARDON

The bonds of two union pickets, Frank Dougherty and Charles Gilliam, who are charged with assault to kill in connection with the labor slugging murder of Marinus Hvid, garage owner, were approved Saturday night by Municipal Judge Mason Sullivan in the Bond court, room 1128, of the city hall. It was erroneously stated in THE TRIBUNE Monday that Judge Sullivan approved the bonds at home.

BURNED AS TRUCK BLAZES.

Nathaniel Love, 27 years old, colored, of 45 West 57th place, was burned severely yesterday when a candy truck in which he was riding caught fire at 69th and State streets. A passerby, Arthur Minium, 6340 Blackstone avenue, rescued him and he was taken to County hospital.

DRIVE TO SMASH BOOTLEG RACING SERVICE BEGUN

Campbell Given National Task by Murphy.

United States Attorney William J. Campbell yesterday announced the start of a nation-wide drive to smash bootleg wire services said to be supplying handbooks with race track news. The Chicago prosecutor said Attorney General Frank Murphy had placed him in charge of the drive.

Bootlegging of race track news, Campbell said, mushroomed after Moses L. Annenberg, wealthy publisher and New Deal critic, voluntarily closed down his Nationwide News Service last month. This organization is said to have had a virtual monopoly in supplying horse race results to handbook operators and others interested in the industry.

Telephone Company Coöperating.

Annenberg completed the closing of his 28 offices thruout the United States, Canada, and Cuba on Nov. 20. Previously he had been indicted here on charges of income tax evasion and operating a lottery thru his horse race dissemination service.

Campbell said he would conduct the new campaign with the coöperation of other district attorneys in localities wherever law violations are discovered. The American Telephone and Telegraph company, and its local subsidiaries, are coöperating closely, Campbell said.

Special Aid Sent to Florida.

Yesterday Campbell sent Samuel Klaus, special assistant attorney general who is handling the Annenberg prosecution, to Jacksonville, Fla. Klaus will assist prosecutors there and the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company in defending a similar injunction being attacked by Walter M. Hagarty, publisher of two scratch sheets.

FINDS "ELOPERS" WED NOV. 4; DAD DROPS CHARGES

Maurice W. Van Arsdale, 241 Cumberland avenue, Kenilworth, not only is vice president of the Wilson Steel and Wire company but he is also an understanding father. His son William, 20 years old, could attest to that yesterday.

Last Saturday Van Arsdale swore out a warrant against his son, charging theft of the automobile in which William and Betty Baxter, 18, of 505 Jefferson avenue, Glencoe, had departed the night before, apparently to elope. He also notified northern Indiana county clerks not to issue the couple a license to mary.

Yesterday William and Betty called their parents from St. Petersburg, Fla., to say they were on their way home. Her father is Marcus L. Baxter, Chicago banker. The big news, however, was that the trip was not an elopement but a honeymoon. They had been married on Nov. 4 in Crown Point, Ind. Van Arsdale said he never intended to prosecute his son, and that all was forgiven.

WHAT WOULD GRANDMA SAY NOW?

By CALEB

MY LITTLE Scots grandmother was a cook of cooks. She knew the resources of her pantry and yellow-bound recipe-book like Napoleon knew his battle-maps. Besides, she carried in her head culinary inventions, and in her nimble hands a skill with skillet, spice-box and spoon, that could put on the Sunday dinner-table a banquet fit for Lucullus.

But the amazing feature of my recollections is how she could contrive all those succulent soups and roasts, those mouth-watering cookies and doughnuts, those golden-crusted loaves and beatific cakes, with such a limited equipment! Her iron stove had six tiny lids on top and burned wood. At the back was a reservoir filled with rain-water pumped from the cistern outside. Her teakettle always had lime scales in the bottom of it. Tin bread pans, cake pans and pie-pans; a wooden rolling pin; heavy iron kettles; a nutmeg-grater, coffee grinder, earthenware bowls and crocks . . . these, and plenty of downright toil, were her only workday allies.

But these and Grandma were equal to the task . . . though how she survived them into her serenely acquiescent seventies, is still a wonder that accompanies all my memories of her.

Another conjecture about Grandma often accompanies my visits to our ninth-floor household utilities section. What would she say, if she could see the infinitude of kitchen conveniences available to the modern housekeeper? Marvels of material, design, color, suitability and practicality, compared with which her own pots and pans were prehistoric?

How she would stare and ask and exclaim, all in the same breath! Like a septuagenarian schoolgirl learning a new science—how she would struggle with such strange terms as electric ranges, temperature controls, pressure cookers, electric percolators, whistling kettles, automatic dishwashers, and scores more! How she would finger the sheen of watersilk and cellophane, surfaces of plastic and stainless steel, fireproof dishes, that nothing in her experience could accommodate!

As for variety . . . Grandma's only word, one of her favorites, would be "flabbergasted." For here is not only the largest kitchenwares display in Chicago, but one of the finest in the world—beginning with a complete bathroom department; merging into cleaning supplies and utensils; proceeding to shelf accessories, pantryware, pottery and electrical appliances; and concluding with a Home Economics demonstration program that Grandma, cook par excellence though she was, would find as instructive as it is interesting.

CLAIM SPEE GAVE UP FIGHT DUE TO LACK OF SHELLS

Story of Battle Is Told by Ship's Officers.

BY NORMAN INGREY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTIAGO, Chile, Jan. 2.—The German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee could not resume its battle with the British cruisers off Montevideo Dec. 13 because of a shortage of ammunition. Practically all of its ammunition was consumed in the running fight with the Exeter, Ajax, and Achilles, according to the first authorized version from officers of the Admiral Graf Spee who are interned in Buenos Aires.

This account was printed in the Argentine newspaper La Prensa, which is published in Buenos Aires.

Give Credit to British.

Naval experts of South America give full credit to the British for a triumph in gunnery and ship maneuvering strategy. However, they believe that when the final story is written on official reports from both sides the present German version will be proved largely correct. This version, incidentally, concedes many points to the British.

La Prensa's story was attributed to Capt. Hans Langsdorff, who committed suicide after scuttling the Admiral Graf Spee, as well as other officers of the battleship. The account sets forth seven points:

1. The Admiral Graf Spee came to the east coast of South America not to raid but to refuel. The British are given credit for the collapse of secret supply arrangements. It was intended to enter Montevideo, Buenos Aires, or some other River Plate port, to refuel quickly and get away again. The encounter with the British cruisers was considered unlucky.

2. The French merchantman Formosa, which was supposed to have been used as a decoy, had nothing to do with the action. The three British cruisers filed up in procession, headed by the Exeter.

German Aim Spoiled.

3. The Admiral Graf Spee's battle began with the most powerful, the Exeter, on a parallel course, firing from both turrets. This was the principal action of the day. The firing was never less than 19,000 meters [17,373.638 yards]. The Exeter maneuvered cleverly, its zigzagging handicapping the German vessel's aim. Nevertheless, it was hit frequently and eventually disabled. The Admiral Graf Spee was hit by two eight-inch shells which "destroyed the kitchen, bakery, oriop [lower deck], etc.," but did not affect fighting capacity. Contrary to local reports, gunnery control was not greatly affected, tho a shell went thru the fighting tower.

The Ajax and Achilles, meanwhile, rapidly maneuvered to close in on the Admiral Graf Spee on both sides, up to a minimum distance of 8,000 meters [7,315.216 yards]. The pocket battleship was compelled at times to withdraw its guns from the Exeter to combat the Ajax and Achilles, "which detracted considerably from the efficacy of the principal guns and caused frequent changes in ranges and targets. The German warship also had to maneuver suddenly and frequently to dodge torpedoes. All the British cruisers zigzagged at high velocity, which was "disconcerting." These tactics favored the British, who also had greater rapidity of firing.

Plane Attacks Warship.

4. The employment of aviation was reduced to bombardment by one British plane. The Admiral Graf Spee did not use its aviation material.

5. The rest of the combat, that is, during the whole afternoon, was limited to sporadic exchanges with the Ajax and Achilles, which always kept at a great distance.

6. The Admiral Graf Spee continued without any difficulty to Montevideo in search of supplies. To this requirement, however, was now added the lack of ammunition as a result of the prolonged firing. It was also urgent to repair the kitchen and bakery, not mentioning other minor damages.

7. The shortage of ammunition was the cause of the battleship being unable to leave Montevideo to renew the fight. The insufficiency of the time limit of 72 hours to make the necessary repairs, according to the ship's authorities, also implied that the ship was unfit for navigation.

TWO BRITISH WARSHIPS VISIT TWO CITIES IN SO. AMERICA TODAY

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 2.—The British cruisers Ajax and Achilles will arrive simultaneously at noon tomorrow at Montevideo and Buenos Aires respectively for 48 hour visits which will be in the nature of a celebration of their victory over the German pocket battleship, Admiral Graf Spee, in the battle of Punta Del Este Dec. 13.

The Ajax will land 200 men immediately on the arrival at Montevideo for an auto parade of the Uruguayan city. Both at Montevideo and Buenos Aires the sailors of the two warships will be entertained by British residents. Rear Admiral Henry Harwood, commander in chief of the British South Atlantic squadron, who has just been promoted as a reward for his victory over the Admiral Graf Spee, will arrive in Montevideo aboard the Ajax which is the squadron flagship.

Both the Argentine and Uruguayan governments have acceded to the request of the British government that the ships be granted special permission to remain in port 48 hours instead of the usual 24 allowed belligerent warships in neutral ports. This special treatment has been accorded on technical grounds to enable the warships to effect "ordinary repairs" due to the wear and tear of long service at sea.

King Travels 78 Miles While Inspecting Division

LONDON, Jan. 2.—King George visited today one division of the British army scattered so widely over south England he had to drive 78 miles to complete the inspection.

British War Censor Admits It's Cold Enough to Skate

LONDON, Jan. 2.—The censors lifted one little corner of the curtain that has been dropped over the behavior of British climate—details of which are subject to the rules governing military secrets—to tell the public today the temperature had fallen low enough to allow skating in one area. The public learned that marshes in a district of Cambridgeshire were frozen over.

DE VALERA ASKS DICTATOR POWER; FEARS UPRISING

Seeks to Jail Members of Irish Republican Army.

DUBLIN, Jan. 2 (AP).—Fear of an organized uprising of outlawed Irish republican army extremists who want loyalist Northern Ireland joined with the rest of the country by a violent coup spurred the Irish government to set the stage tonight for a mass roundup and internment of I. R. A. suspects.

The cabinet expects to receive sweeping powers at a special session of the dail eireann tomorrow. The legislative body of Ireland is convening at the request of Prime Minister Eamon De Valera, who himself spent a part of the world war in English jails and barely escaped execution because of his participation in the Irish republican uprising of 1916.

Bill Drafted by Cabinet.

The emergency powers bill, drafted by his cabinet, will permit the government to intern without trial any person whose liberty it considers may be a menace to public safety in time of war.

De Valera himself is Ireland's most vigorous advocate of a union of all Ireland as a free nation, but he wants it done by agreement with Great Britain, peaceably. Northern Ireland [Ulster] now is a part of the United Kingdom.

The raid by extremists on Phoenix Park magazine on Dec. 23, when 1,000,000 rounds of ammunition was hauled off in large vans, touched off the movement for the emergency powers. The bill is expected to become law Thursday.

Seven Suspects on Trial.

At the trial of seven alleged participants in that raid, the prosecutor today told how the I. R. A. band held up the corporal in charge of the fort, disarmed the guard of 12 men and hauled away 28 tons of ammunition. Of the 700 cases carted away, 217 have not yet been recovered.

The men on trial today were Thomas Grogan, 44 years old; Thomas Doyle, 22; William Cleary, 35, and William Gordon, 31; John Lyons, Joseph McDermott, and John Parnell.

FORMER MARENGO OFFICIAL DIES.

Marengo, Ill., Jan. 2 [Special].—Funeral services will be held tomorrow for Soren P. Olesen, 78 years old, a resident of this community for 45 years and a former water tax collector. A native of Denmark, he died Sunday. He is survived by his widow, two daughters, two sons, and eight grandchildren.

MADRID PAPER URGES HELP BE DISPATCHED QUICKLY TO FINLAND

MADRID, Jan. 2 (AP).—The newspaper Alcazar, in a vigorous editorial, asserted today it is urgent that aid be dispatched quickly to Finland which, the paper said, is fighting "for all Christianity."

"Finland is defending with its flesh and bravery the treasure of occidental civilization," Alcazar declared. "Fighting so bravely for independence she fights also for all Christianity, and it is inexplicable that after a long month of war she hasn't received tangible aid from Europe."

Declaring that "circumstances demand a new crusade," the editorial said that "the magnificent opportunity of attacking the monster which is the U. S. S. R. must not be wasted." The arrival of spring, it said, should see "Christian armies" on Russian soil.

RUMANIA FIGHTS SABOTAGE AFTER WAVE OF MISHAPS

Germans' Foes Suspected in Fires and Blasts.

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Jan. 2.—Following a recent series of unexplained fires and explosions in important industries, military authorities tonight began an energetic campaign against sabotage.

Stringent orders, issued under the army's special powers for protecting the nation, provide that every firm making arms or any product useful in national defense must take all possible measures to prevent fires, other accidents, and any form of sabotage.

Plant Heads Held Responsible.

The heads of firms and the personnel directly concerned are held responsible for the safety of their plants. If any accident interrupting production is traced to negligence, the plant will be padlocked by the authorities for one month to two years and criminal proceedings may be started if they are justified.

The army guards all bridges and vital factories and has been doing so for some time. Last month the guards at oil refineries were doubled after there had been five fires and explosions in less than two months.

Germans' Foes Suspected.

Some plants vital to Rumania's national defense in the case of war, and not only petroleum refineries are included, are important now to Germany, because a large part of their production is sold to the Germans. The series of accidents, therefore, seems suspicious to the Rumanians.

Rumania is neutral, hopes to stay neutral, and has no intention of letting her interests or industries be damaged by anybody trying to block Germany's sources of supplies by sabotage.

Canada Holds 3 Enemy Aliens in Sabotage Plot

NELSON, B. C., Jan. 3 [Canadian Press].—Sergt. C. W. A. Barwis of the British Columbia police said tonight three enemy aliens were held by West Kootenay authorities for investigation of a sabotage plot against Consolidated Mining and Smelting company plants at nearby Trail. He said correspondence about such a plot was seized some time ago and that the sabotage was planned for Christmas day. After an investigation two men were arrested at Trail and one at Paterson, near the international boundary.

CHINESE PUT JAP TOTAL LOSSES IN WAR AT 1,464,400

CHUNGKING, China, Jan. 2 (AP).—A Chinese army spokesman today asserted that Japan's losses in two and a half years of war totaled 1,464,400 men, but added that only 40 per cent —585,760—were killed or wounded. The remainder, he said, had died of disease or had been incapacitated by illness or other causes.

Neutral estimates have put the number of Japanese killed and wounded at not more than two-thirds of the spokesman's figures.

[The Japanese assert that 1,218,462 Chinese soldiers were killed between July, 1937, and November, 1939. For the same period they put their own losses at about 70,000. A considerable number of Japanese troops are known to have been rendered unfit by disease, frostbite, and other causes.]

Jap Crop Shortage Reported.

According to Chinese army information, the spokesman said, Japan is maintaining an army of 1,680,000 officers and men, made up of 49 divisions, 14 mixed brigades, and auxiliary units. He did not say what portion of this force—five times peace strength—is in China.

He said that because of the strict enforcement of conscription in Japan there had been a shortage of agricultural output, the 1939 yield being one-third less than that of 1938. The rice shortage alone, he asserted, amounted to about 857,000 tons.

[Tokio dispatches have reported that the Japanese government has a program for buying more than 1,000,000 tons of rice, the great staple of the Japanese diet. Normally Japan exports more rice than it imports.]

British Reduce Flotilla.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 2 (AP).—British authorities announced today that Great Britain's Yangtze river flotilla, consisting of 13 gunboats at the outbreak of the European war, will be reduced to three.

Reduction in the river patrol will release officers and men for European war service.

Two of three gunboats now above Hankow will be laid up soon. Five gunboats were withdrawn in October and three in December.

The latest withdrawals will leave one boat at Chungking and two at Shanghai.

Hongkong Harbor Reopened.

HONGKONG, Jan. 3, Wednesday (AP).—Hongkong harbor shipping was normal early today when Great Britain ended a temporary ban on shipping which had been termed a necessary defense measure.

It was expected that officials would issue a statement clarifying the temporary closing of the harbor. The action was taken yesterday after an alarm was given by an offshore patrol. The cause of the alarm was not disclosed. Only a few sailings were delayed by the harbor closing.

Two American gunboats, the Mindanao and the Asheville, were in the harbor but no American merchant ships were there.

Japs Claim Big Advance.

A Japanese army spokesman today said Japanese troops had driven more than 100 miles from Canton into Northern Kwangtung province, killing 15,000 Chinese, taking 2,000 prisoners and capturing 13,000,000 rounds of ammunition. He said the Japanese had halted the drive after achieving the objective of defeating the main force of the Chinese Kwangtung army, estimated at more than 100,000 men.

Japanese troops were said to be mopping up Chinese forces east of the Canton-Hankow railway. Six Chinese military centers were reported captured in an advance described as so rapid that the Chinese civil government had fled from Shuikwan, 120 miles north of Canton and the provincial capital since Canton's fall late in 1938.

BAKERY ROBBED OF $500.

Two men entered the Community bakery at 4629 Broadway yesterday and compelled the manager, Arthur Gordon, of 5848 North Sawyer avenue, to surrender $500.

First 1940 Divorce

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

MRS. EVELYN LEHNING.

The first divorce of 1940 went to Mrs. Evelyn Lehning, 28 years old, of 4145 Broadway. She told Judge Oscar F. Nelson yesterday that Noel Lehning deserted her in 1936. Lehning is 30 years old. He and Mrs. Lehning were married in 1927.

FRENCH HESITATE AT SENDING WAR HELP TO FINLAND

Government Also Delays Break with Russia.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 2.—How far France will go in aiding Finland has not yet been decided, a spokesman at the foreign office said today.

France already has sent considerable hospital supplies and ambulances to Finland, but whether airplanes and munitions are on the way is not disclosed. There has been considerable agitation by the press in favor of sending troops, especially Alpine soldiers, who are expert skiers and particularly adapted for operation in frigid climates. The foreign office, however, discouraged this possibility.

Hesitate on Russian Action.

There also is indecision regarding the prospects of future relations between Russia and France. The foreign office explained that the condemnation of Russian aggression and the resolve to aid Finland were league of nations decisions and that whatever is done in extending the anti-Russian action naturally follows the developments at Geneva.

Altho the press has been demanding a rupture in diplomatic relations with Russia, nothing has yet been done towards this end, THE TRIBUNE correspondent was informed.

While the French government officially is encouraging the organization of a European federation of states as a peace aim, correspondents were told today that no details of this scheme had been worked out.

Raises Numerous Problems.

It was admitted that even were this done, the application of this plan raises numerous problems. However, the present economic and financial agreement between France and England was suggested as an example of a new inter-relationship among European states. Under the British-French agreement the empires set up a business partnership under which they pooled economic resources. The object was to eliminate competition and keep down prices on world markets.

"When Premier Daladier [of France], after a telephone conversation with Prime Minister Chamberlain [of Great Britain] at a time when the British parliament was not even in session, was able to inform the French state recently that he would speak in the name of both governments in promising aid for the earthquake victims of Turkey it was an unprecedented and historic event," correspondents were told today. "This alone is proof of what might be done toward a just and permanent peace in Europe."

EXILED BY GERMANS FOR LOVE OF HUSBAND, WOMAN TAKES POTION

Mrs. Erda Sears, 40 years old, 5425 Dorchester avenue, was taken to the Michael Reese hospital yesterday after she took an overdose of sleeping medicine in her home. Her husband, Walter Sears, said she had been despondent since they were driven out of Germany. He is a Jew and formerly was a merchant in the reich. Mrs. Sears is a gentile. He added that his wife, after being put in a concentration camp, preferred to come to America rather than to divorce him, as her jailers suggested.

FINNISH BOMBS BREAK LAKE ICE; REDS DROWNED

15,000 Russian Soldiers Fall Into Trap.

division of 16,000 soviet troops, which had been cut off from their communications in the rear, and that a major engagement appeared to be shaping up there.]

The Russian battleship October Revolution bombarded the island fortress of Koivisto south of Viipuri on the Gulf of Finland "without results worth mentioning," the communique said, and except for lively Russian activity in the air the day was quiet elsewhere on the coast.

Rail Junction Bombed.

In addition to the bombardment of Turku, the Finns announced, enemy aircraft dropped bombs on Oulu, important rail junction and port on the Gulf of Bothnia in the middle western section of Finland. Available information said a few civilians were killed and wounded in both towns.

Finns were "tightening their belts" for a prolonged winter campaign. The smorgasbord—table of delicacies—was banished from restaurants by official decree yesterday and it was announced that hot water would be provided for baths in homes and apartments only twice a month. Government leaders emphasized that Finland was greatly in need of antiaircraft guns and more fighting planes, because the enemy was avoiding cities which had adequate air defenses. They added that troop replacements also were needed for the embattled soldiers who have been holding off the enemy in the frozen wildernesses since Nov. 30.

Move Troops Southward.

KIRKENES, Norway (Near the Northern Finnish Border), Jan. 2 (AP).—Transporting of Russian troops southward along the Arctic highway from Finland's Petsamo region continued today, but there were no indications of fighting. Subzero temperatures apparently were holding operations by both sides to a minimum.

Norse Probe Bombings.

OSLO, Jan. 2 (AP).—The Norwegian general staff, after an investigation of Finnish army reports that Russian planes had dropped bombs on Norwegian soil in the Pasvik river area of Norway's far northern border, said tonight one Russian bomb exploded "probably on Norwegian territory." The one bomb fell in an uninhabited district where the border is poorly marked. Four bombs exploded on the Finnish side of the border and one on ice covering the river.

Report Railway Wreck.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Jan. 3 [Wednesday] (AP).—Dispatches from Sweden to the Nationaltidende said today it was persistently rumored that the wreck of a troop train on the Leningrad-Murmansk railroad had contributed to the confusion of Russian forces on the northern Finnish front. Confirmation of the rumors was lacking.

Similarly unconfirmed were recurring reports that Finnish "suicide squads" had reached the vital railway, on which Russian troops in the far north depend for their supplies.

Among the dispatches from Sweden was one asserting that the Finns had seized considerable quantities of war supplies of Swedish manufacture from the Russians. It was explained that the supplies originally had been sold by Sweden to Poland, and seized by the Reds who invaded Poland.

Finns Capture Russian Base

Captions on map explain yesterday's action in Finnish-Russian war.

Rescues Man Trapped Inside Burning Truck

Archie Minium, 42 years old, a machinist, leaped from a street car last night and rescued a colored truck helper trapped in a burning panel body truck at 6908 State street. The imprisoned man was Nathaniel Love, 27, of 45 West 57th place. He incurred second degree burns on his head and chest. He was taken to the Provident hospital and then to the county hospital. Minium suffered cuts and burns on his hands.

Swiss Jail Baron as a Spy for Both Britain and Nazis

ZURICH, Switzerland, Jan. 2 (AP).—A Moravian baron said to have been on the pay rolls of both the British and German intelligence services today was sentenced to six months' imprisonment by a Zurich court for making Switzerland his espionage headquarters.

FINNS DOWN 150 RUSSIAN PLANES IN MONTH OF WAR

400 Red Tanks Captured or Destroyed.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ON THE MANNERHEIM LINE, Southeastern Finland, Jan. 2.—A special bulletin sent to all fronts tonight by the Finnish general staff reported that during December the Finnish forces captured or destroyed 400 tanks and brought down 150 planes. Only planes seen falling by three witnesses were counted and the actual number was even larger. The Finns are continuing to find airplanes that fell unseen in the forests.

Because of Russian bombings of Red Cross centers, the Red Cross sign has been obliterated from all hospitals, trains, and ambulances.

The habit of the soviet flyers in immediately dumping their bombs upon sighting Finnish flyers has resulted in an order which forbids the Finns flying over thickly populated areas. This explains why the inhabitants of the Finnish cities have not yet seen Finnish planes in action.

Sledges Replace Carts.

A heavy snowstorm with low temperatures today helped further to mask Finnish positions, making them all the more impregnable. Carts have been abandoned for sledges and supplies continue to move forward to the Finnish lines with little enemy interference.

Even the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals could not find a single ground for complaint in the Finns' treatment and accommodations for horses and cows which are stabled within a few hundred yards of the front line positions. These cows and horses have unusually thick coats of hair. All have a small blanket which covers just their backs and which the soldiers buckle on during zero weather.

Warm as an Iowa Barn.

In the more exposed positions the cows are kept in dugouts which seem to be just as warm as an Iowa barn. The forests protect them against the wind and the thick covering of snow further insulates them against the cold.

A little farther back of the lines I saw a spacious barn, 50 by 80 feet, sheltering 26 artillery horses. The roof and walls consisted of fir branches woven between pine saplings where possible. Trees projected thru the roof, forming a camouflage. The roof is covered with snow and the surroundings are kept clean, thus it is impossible to discover the barn from the air. All the horses were well groomed and there was plenty of fodder in front of each stall. Before each stall hung a wooden shingle bearing the horse's name and that of its soldier attendant. The ground was dry and clean and evenly covered with straw.

Build Fort in Hill.

This regiment of field guns has been placed within forts dug deep into the crest of a hill commanding a wide section of the soviet lines. The approach is thru a deep tunnel and the covered pit where the men handle a gun is roomy and proof against even large size shell fire.

At the regimental headquarters the officers showed me artillery handbooks which they had captured from the Russians. One of these was a standard size book which was published upon the cheapest kind of newsprint. Entitled "How to Become an Artillery Officer," it was simply written and did not attempt to go deeply into the mathematical side of artillery science.

Other instruction books were for various types of weapons, including heavy machine guns, heavy field pieces, and the like.

Written for Uneducated.

"We have read thru these books carefully," the Finnish commander said, "and what strikes us especially is that they are written for men with only elementary education. Artillery officers whom we have captured also are poorly educated. Few of them know anything about indirect firing, which explains why their big guns thus far have caused so little damage. The Russians are unable to centralize their fire, even with the aid of kite balloons.

"Before one of their attacks they fired 2,000 shells within two hours, but our losses were negligible. Their attacks have become more and more feeble. It is evident their enthusiasm is gone, if they ever had any enthusiasm. During another attack they fired 1,000 shells upon a comparatively small area in our sector and only wounded two of our men.

Unfamiliar with Arms.

"Some of the Russian war materials we have captured indicate that Russia has bought Czech armaments. Our store of automatic weapons has been greatly increased by the large amounts of captured booty.

"Some of the best and most adaptable weapons we have captured are a large number of Czech automatic rifles that fire 16 shots. They were so thickly coated with vaseline that the Russians were unable to use them and this seems to indicate that they had not cleaned them after they were released from their arsenals. The Russians have good weapons, but do not know how to care for them or use them."

Asks Tax Refund

MRS. BILLIE ZIEGFELD.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 2 (AP).—Mrs. Billie Burke Ziegfeld of Beverly Hills, Cal., petitioned the tax appeals board today against the treasury's claim she owed $1,136 in income taxes for 1937. The actress contended two of her platinum bracelets, valued at more than $14,600, were stolen in October, 1937, and she later accepted a $10,000 insurance settlement. The internal revenue commissioner, she added, erroneously had disallowed her a $4,600 deduction to cover the loss.

FINLAND ACCEPTS DEATH FROM SKY WITH STOIC CALM

New York, Jan. 2 (AP).—The stoicism of the Finns is disclosed in the pages of Helsingfors' daily newspaper, Hufvudstadsbladet, copies of which have arrived in New York.

For days after Russian bombers attacked Helsingfors on Nov. 30, the paper carried column after column of messages of bereavement—printed crosses, row on row. One speaks of the accident which befell a 15 year old boy, and the reader might conclude it was an ordinary accident unless he read on another page the list of identified dead after a bombing raid. In that column the same boy's name appears.

None of the announcements of death contains any condemnation of the bombers, and few, in fact, mention the cause of death.

THREE BOMBERS FIGHT 12 GERMAN PLANES; 2 LOST

Nazis Claim All of British Craft Were Downed.

LONDON, Jan. 2 (AP).—Outnumbered four to one, British airmen in three bombers fought a furious battle today with a swarm of 12 speedy German Messerschmitt planes over Heligoland bay, the second encounter of the war between the big bombers and the Germans' vaunted warcraft.

When the fight was over, the British air ministry said, one bomber was down, another was missing, and the third was safe. Of the dozen German planes, the air ministry said, one was shot down in flames and two others were likely to have been lost.

German Planes Faster.

The Messerschmitt planes have a speed advantage of 100 miles an hour and mount two small cannon as well as four machine guns. Mounting only machine guns, the Vickers Wellington bombers of the British, however, have a power driven gun turret that swings on a pivot and permits the gunner to fire almost in any direction.

British fighter planes went aloft earlier today to pursue a German plane reported over the Shetland Islands, northeast of Scotland. It was the second successive day that German fliers had appeared over the islands.

German Raider Downed.

Yesterday, the air ministry said, one of two German raiders was shot down and an attempt to bomb a British warship failed. The ministry denied a report from Berlin that a British plane was damaged in an encounter yesterday and probably was unable to return to its base.

Reliable sources disclosed that destroyers scouting ahead of the second Canadian troop convoy, which arrived in England over the week end, attacked a German submarine during the passage of the Atlantic. It was not known whether the submarine was destroyed.

3 Bombers Downed, Says Berlin.

BERLIN, Jan. 2 (AP).—DNB, German official news agency, announced that three British Vickers Wellington bombers were shot down by a flight of German Messerschmitts in a brief battle over German bay [Heligoland bay].

A communique stated that German scouting planes met a superior enemy force off the Scottish coast on New Year's day and that a German plane was forced into the sea. It charged that British flyers violated the Netherlands' neutrality while returning from a reconnaissance flight to Heligoland bay on Dec. 31.

Belgians Attack Foreign Flyers.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 2 (AP).—The defense ministry announced tonight that several foreign planes appeared over four provinces of Belgium today and were attacked by antiaircraft guns and pursuit planes. The planes were seen over the provinces of Luxemburg, Liege, Limbourg, and Antwerp, the announcement said.

Guns Roar Near Paris.

PARIS, Jan. 3, Wednesday (AP).—Antiaircraft batteries went into action west of Paris early today, but no air raid alarm was sounded.

Last night's communique of the Anglo-French command said of action on the western front: "Normal activity of contact units. Some renewal of activity of the two aviations."

[The German high command's communique reported there had been artillery disturbance fire on the west front.]

NEW YEAR'S DAY CONGRATULATION TO HITLER LISTED

BERLIN, Jan. 2 (AP).—King Victor Emmanuel of Italy headed a list published today of heads of state who sent Adolf Hitler new year's congratulations.

President Roosevelt, Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands and Pope Pius XII. were not included in the list supplied to the German press. Included were Regent Admiral Nicholas Horthy of Hungary, Generalissimo Francisco Franco of Spain, Regent Prince Paul of Jugo-Slavia, King Carol of Rumania, King Boris of Bulgaria, and Premier Mussolini of Italy.

Alexander Kirk, United States chargé d'affaires, entered his name in the diplomats' book, according to diplomatic usage, and the papal nuncio on behalf of the pope made a special new year call at the chancellery.

FINDS HUSBAND FEARED DEAD IS IN GERMAN CAMP

LONDON, Jan. 2 (AP).—For more than a month, Mrs. Edgar Oliver believed her seaman-husband dead, a victim of the war. So she was dressed in mourning today when her little daughter shouted, "Here's a letter from daddy." It was. Oliver, aboard the British auxiliary cruiser Rawalpindi sunk by the German pocket battleship Deutschland off Iceland Nov. 26, had been given up for lost. His letter, however, revealed he had been saved and interned in a German prison camp.

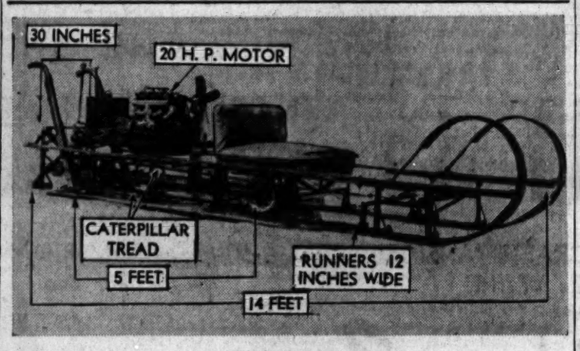
Motor Sled Offered to Finns



[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Power sled manufactured by Carl J. E. Eliason of Sayner, Wis., and known as the frigid flyer, which has been brought to attention of Finnish military mission for use in war against Russia.

Makes 30 M. P. H.

Finland's ski troops may become a high speed mechanized cavalry if negotiations now under way for the purchase of a novel, American made motor sled materialize, it was disclosed yesterday.

The sled runs on skis and is motivated by a caterpillar tread connected with a motorcycle engine. It is said to be capable of carrying a driver, a gunner, a light or heavy machine gun, and 400 pounds of ammunition at 30 miles an hour over light or heavy snow and also glare ice.

The sled was brought to the attention of a Finnish military mission investigating American munition supplies. A member of the mission is expected to come to Chicago within the next two weeks on his way to Sayner, Wis., for a demonstration of the sled.

He is expected to confer here with Maj. Herbert L. Kumpfer, air corps reserves, of 6616 Keota avenue. Maj. Kumpfer reported to the war department three years ago on the military possibilities of this sled.

The sled, known as the "frigid flyer," was patented in 1927 by Carl J. E. Eliason of Sayner. Since that time about 150 have been produced, principally for use in Canada by mail carriers, trappers, timber cruisers, game wardens, and sportsmen.

The drive is an endless track five feet long and mounted between the two runners underneath the motor, which is at the rear. The drive resembles two bicycle chains running lengthwise with metal cross pieces or lugs which extend an inch below the metal lined, oak runners.

These lugs, plus lumps of snow and ice which quickly collect along the chains, furnish the traction.

100 SHIPS SENT DOWN IN MONTH OF WAR AT SEA

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The fourth and most disastrous month of the war on the sea came to a close yesterday with reports that 100 ships of 322,179 tons were destroyed in that period. Loss of life exceeded 371, seding the death toll since the war began to at least 2,728.

A survey showed that at least 284 ships of 1,015,394 tonnage had been destroyed in the war. This was a daily average of 2⅓ sinkings and 8,323 tons. The first month showed 60 losses, the second 47, and the third 67.

Most of last month's activity came during the first half, with mines, submarines and planes particularly effective. The losses, however, were far below the high point of the world war, when Germany sank 22,241 tons a day for a time during her unrestricted U-boat campaign.

On the new war's list, Britain led with 146 ships down. Germany lost 30, France 15, and neutral countries 93. Norway, with 24, was the chief neutral sufferer. Other losers were Sweden, 19; Greece, 11; Denmark, 11; The Netherlands, 8; Finland, 6; Belgium, 4; Lithuania, 3; Italy, 2; Russia, 1; Rumania, 1; Estonia, 1; Japan, 1, and Jugo-Slavia, 1.

FINE 2 FOR HITTING WOMAN.

Chester Borowski, 3030 Milwaukee avenue, and Theodore Bentkowski, 2851 North Springfield avenue, were fined $50 each by Judge Jay A. Schiller yesterday for assault and battery and disorderly conduct. A young woman said they struck her when she refused their attentions.

STORM CRIPPLES GERMAN VESSEL; SAVE CREW OF 36

Ship Is Helpless Off Norwegian Coast.

TRONDHEIM, Norway, Jan. 2 (AP).—The Norwegian passenger liner Queen Maud rescued the entire crew of 36 from the 8,000 ton German steamer Johann Schulte last night.

The Johann Schulte lost its propeller yesterday and sent an SOS. It was considered possible that it was trying to reach a home harbor from Murmansk, soviet Russia's Arctic ocean port.

A blizzard and raging seas in which the Johann Schulte wallowed helplessly near the rocky coast made rescue difficult. The ship still was afloat early today, but was expected to be a total loss.

99 Norwegian Sailors Killed.

OSLO, Norway, Jan. 2 (AP).—Ninety-nine Norwegian sailors lost their lives in the first four months of the European war, the government announced tonight. Twenty-four Norwegian merchant ships were destroyed by mines and torpedoes. The bureau of statistics said Norway's losses were the greatest suffered by any neutral nation.

The loss of another Norwegian ship, the 563 ton Lappen, was disclosed today after the government had questioned members of the crew, which was rescued.

The Lappen, sunk in the North sea on Christmas day, at first was thought to have been torpedoed, but authorities said they were investigating the possibility of sabotage.

Swedish Steamer Sunk.

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 2 (AP).—The Swedish steamer Lars Magnus Trozelli, 1,955 tons, sank off the east coast of England several days ago. This was learned here today. Most of the 22 crewmen were saved by a Norwegian steamer. The fate of the rest was undetermined.

279 Survivors Landed.

DAKAR, French West Africa, Jan. 2 (AP).—A French destroyer today landed 279 passengers and crew members from the burned Spanish liner Cabo San Antonio, which was abandoned last week when it caught fire en route from Buenos Aires to Cadiz.

Survivors said they left the Cabo San Antonio a total loss. Fire broke out when the ship was about 60 miles off the Cape Verde Islands.

The captain of the Cabo San Antonio disclosed that with his acquiescence the French destroyer shelled and sank the blazing liner as a menace to navigation.

The fire broke out about dinner time Friday night, he said, and spread quickly to the promenade deck, first class salons, and the bridge.

The French destroyer appeared the next day and picked up those in lifeboats as well as those still aboard the vessel. In transferring two lifeboats capsized and a child, the first officer, and two stewards disappeared.

RUSSIA CALLS ON GERMANY FOR AID IN WAR ON FINNS

But Nazis Are Seeking to Dodge Issue.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 2.—Soviet Russia is bringing pressure to bear on her German ally in an effort to induce Adolf Hitler's government to lend technical and possibly military aid to Moscow to help defeat Finland.

The Germans are trying to dodge the issue. They told their Russian friends that as long as England was only considering "sending a few antiquated museum pieces of the army collections in the Tower of London to Finland," Germany could not allow herself to become involved in the war on Finland.

Sounds Ominous Note.

"However, should England or France send sufficient reinforcements and arms to Finland so that Finland could degenerate into a base for operations against Germany then Germany would be compelled to consider action," an authoritative source said.

How long Russia's propaganda machinery will delay circulating stories of the arrival of British or French reinforcements and materials is a matter of conjecture. How quickly Germany will accept these Russian assertions also is a question of military and political expediency.

There is an influential group in Germany that enjoys the sight of Russia's difficulties in Finland. If the soviets have their hands tied by the Finns it will be easier for the Germans to drive a business bargain with them, this group maintains. Furthermore, these Germans contend, Russia could not attempt to sell out Germany to England or knife Germany in the back if she is so weak from a military viewpoint that she cannot vanquish Finland quickly.

A second and no less influential group holds that Germany cannot afford to allow Russia to appear weak in the eyes of the world. This group is agitating for concrete and practical help for the Russians in the war.

The Russians complain that the lack of technicians and signal corps engineers handicaps them. They are urging the Germans to rush experts to their assistance.

The Germans argue that their speedy victory in Poland was due to a great extent to the excellence of their engineers and signal corps. Germany, it is said, would not loan any of these men to Russia at the present moment. However, a number of older men who are qualified to train the Russians are being urgently invited to proceed to Russia.

Want War Equipment.

The Russian military delegate, Gen. Purkaieve, and the chief of the Russian trade delegation are imploring the Germans to rush the delivery of war equipment to Russia. But to date the Russians have been slow in delivering the raw materials they promised Germany and the Germans are not rushing matters.

Hitler is in Munich and is expected to spend a week in Bavaria. Baron Konstantin von Neurath, protector of Bohemia and Moravia, and chief of the secret council for foreign affairs, is expected to confer with Hitler on the Russian-Finnish situation.

HOW GERMANY USES NEW MAGNETIC MINE TO BLOCKADE ENGLAND

So-called magnetic mines, which Great Britain has blamed for the heavy loss of British shipping in recent weeks, differ from the older mine types in that they need no cable, sinker, or antennae. Also, they are set off by weak electrical impulses generated by vessels passing near them—no direct contact is needed to bring about the blast.

Experts have held that these mines, being lighter than the older types, can be laid by airplanes as well as by submarines and surface ships. British sources have reported that the Germans have laid many in the English channel outside the Thames estuary. It is believed that they can be dropped from a height of 50 feet or less without attaching parachutes to break their fall. British naval officers assume that each of these mines has a soluble safety compound over its firing mechanism and that it is safe to handle the devices until they have been in the water a half hour or more.

Generally speaking, magnetic mines would have to be placed in waters not more than 50 or 60 feet deep. They would lie on the bottom until a ship approached close enough to explode them. The blast, acting like a depth charge, would exert pressure enough thru the water to spring the plates of the ship and cause it to sink.

CITY OF FLINT READY TO BEGIN ITS JOURNEY HOME FROM NORWAY

BERGEN, Norway, Jan. 2 (AP).—The American freighter City of Flint, central figure in a drama of the sea last fall, is expected to resume its adventures tonight or tomorrow when it leaves the Norwegian port of Narvik for the United States.

The same American crew which was aboard during its wanderings in northern waters in October will be in charge when it leaves for home. The Flint left in Norway a cargo of apples originally intended for England and is loaded with iron ore for the return trip.

When en route to British ports from the United States in October, the City of Flint was seized by the German raider Deutschland and was taken to the Russian port of Murmansk by a German prize crew. Later, while en route to Germany, the vessel was interned by Norway when the prize crew put in at the port of Haugesund.

750,000 BRITONS MAY BE CALLED UP THIS MONTH

Army Needs Officers to Train Recruits.

LONDON, Jan. 2 (AP).—Neutral military observers today expressed the belief that possibly as many as 750,000 Britons will be called to the colors before the end of the month to strengthen the British expeditionary force in France and the vital middle east command which guards the empire's lifeline to the east. England now has an army of about 210,000 men in France.

Yesterday's proclamation by King George VI. provided for registration of about 2,000,000 Britons for military service and gave Britain a potential army of at least 3,500,000 men. It is expected all will be in service by the end of the year.

1,500,000 Men Mobilized.

The king's proclamation requires all male Britons between 19 and 27 years old to register for service.

Previous conscription orders affected only men 20, 21, and 22 years old—a total of 1,500,000 men under arms or technically mobilized.

The vast expansion of mobilization does not include troops from the British colonies and dominions, which sent 3,500,000 to France themselves in 1914-18.

[It was disclosed in Ottawa that 16,000 Canadian soldiers, making up the entire 1st division, are in England.]

The rate at which new conscripts are to be called will depend on events. It is expected generally that action on the western front will intensify with the coming of spring.

Formal call-ups for the various new age groups will be spaced over some months, with the 23 year olds probably first mobilized.

New Officers Needed.

In three previous call-ups under the conscription laws, about 750,000 men were registered. The last of these groups is expected to be absorbed by the army by the end of February. But with factories tuned to their highest pitch for turning out arms, munitions, and equipment, the job may be done sooner.

The biggest need confronting the imperial general staff now is not manpower but officers to train recruits, many of whom have had no military experience.

The two main British officer producing schools, Sandhurst—for the infantry and cavalry—and Woolwich—for artillerymen and engineers—had lower registrations in the last decade than ever before.

To fill the gap, the army has been recalling sergeants and corporals to be trained as officers and, in turn, to break in the new recruits.

Start Double Job.

The first contingent of noncommissioned officers from the British expeditionary force returned last week to start the double job of teaching themselves to be officers and the rookies to be privates.

Newspapers generally agreed on the necessity of the king's proclamation, taken thru the privy council. They called it evidence of the nation's "will to war."

A dissenter, however, was the Daily Express, which asked editorially, "What for? To please the French?" The newspaper declared Britain already is fulfilling her war job "to an immense degree on the sea and in the air."

ABNORMAL COLD TO CONTINUE IN CHICAGO TODAY

Abnormally low temperatures will continue in Chicago today, according to Forecaster C. A. Donnel. He said a low of about 5 degrees above zero would be recorded in the early morning and that the mercury would not climb above 20 in the afternoon. Yesterday's maximum was 17 at 7 p. m. and the minimum 6 above zero.

There were light snow flurries about noon yesterday, but the forecaster said no appreciable fall was indicated. He added that much of the territory surrounding Chicago was suffering from lack of moisture. Total precipitation in 1939 was 27.51 inches, compared to a normal of 32.86. The autumn in particular was abnormally dry.

The low temperatures of the last four days have put a coating of ice four inches thick over the Chicago river. So far tugboats have been able to crash thru this, and their work has enabled barges and fishing smacks to reach their docks.

2 AUTO TUNNELS PROPOSED IN NEW SUPERROAD PLAN

Northwest Route Costing 39 Million Urged.

BY HAL FOUST.

Plans for a $39,900,000 superhighway to the northwest, with an entirely new idea for downtown connections, were completed yesterday by the Cook county highway department. The proposals, including one-way automobile tunnels thru the near north side, were submitted for criticism to the Chicago Motor club, the Chicago Regional Planning association, and the Chicago Association of Commerce.

These plans will become official when they are adopted about Feb. 1 by the Cook county board. With later approval by the state highway department, and with a favorable decision from the Illinois Supreme court on the validity of the enabling legislation, the county can begin construction with funds obtained by anticipating gas tax revenue.

The superhighway connection with Lake Shore drive is made in a layout of ramps and grade separations at the site of the Oak street beach. There also would be grade separations and connections for Michigan avenue traffic at this point.

Elm Street Tunnel Planned.

West bound traffic from this intersection would use an automobile tunnel—a basement level superhighway with a lid on it—to be built in Elm street to meet the trunk of the northwest route just east and north of Division street and Clybourn avenue. East bound traffic from this main trunk junction would use a similar one way tunnel to be built in Hill street and Cedar street.

These lower level drives would have 26 foot roadways. Electric fans would provide ventilation. The tunnels would be used solely by traffic between Lake Shore drive and the northwest trunk. The existing surface pavement of these streets would be restored for normal usage.

Another traffic feeder to and from the loop would be an extension of the superhighway in an open depression south from Division street between Hudson avenue and Sedgwick street to Ontario street. Superior and Erie streets would become one-way surface streets, west bound only, leading into ramps to the superhighway. Huron and Ontario streets would be converted into one-way thorofares, east bound only, leading from ramps from the superhighways.

Extension South Considered.

For future construction the plans call for an extension of the superhighway south from Ontario street to connect with a north and south route on the west side of the central business district, part of a downtown quadrangle advocated by traffic engineers. The county's tunnels would form the north side of this quadrangle. The existing outer drive would form the east side. A south side might be located in Congress street or farther south. This is a problem for the city's engineers.

Northwest from Division street and Clybourn avenue, the county's engineers favor a location that in general follows Clybourn and Elston avenues, swinging west near Bryn Mawr avenue to connect with the rural highways that form a fan from this northwest corner of the map of Chicago. It would be of a depressed design with a pair of slabs each 48 feet high and each carrying four express lanes in one direction.

More specifically, the location is half a block north and east of Clybourn avenue, paralleling this thorofare to immediately north of Barry avenue. There it would curve westward to cross the Chicago river, then curve northwest and again parallel Elston avenue a block to the southwest of this diagonal thorofare.

Terminal at Higgins Road.

A block south of Bryn Mawr, on the south side of Catalpa avenue, the location swings west. It curves north to the south side of Bryn Mawr at Natoma avenue. A terminal is planned at Higgins road and Bryn Mawr avenue.

The grade separation is continuous. The design eliminates all cross traffic, all parking, and all pedestrians—all of the conflicts responsible for a majority of Chicago's motor deaths.

The county engineers, in recommending these locations for their project, used all of the several studies and surveys that have been made by various agencies. Then they made a survey of their own, perhaps the most thoro of all, the county board having appropriated $90,000 for superhighway planning. Heading this research were Maj. George A. Quinlan, superintendent of the department; Duncan Campbell, chief engineer, and Harry Lochner, chief of design.

35 Locations Studied.

Thirty-five locations were studied, property evaluated, construction costs estimated, and traffic benefits reckoned. These finally were sifted down to three locations for the trunk line outside the central business district. In addition to the one recommended, one paralleled the North Western railroad. Its cost was estimated at $32,800,000, as compared with $30,500,000 for the Clybourn-Elston route.

It also was found that for the route to abut the railroad, using Avondale avenue for much of the distance, would necessitate condemnation of a number of factories. There also was some criticism against exposing express motor traffic to the smoke and headlights of locomotives.

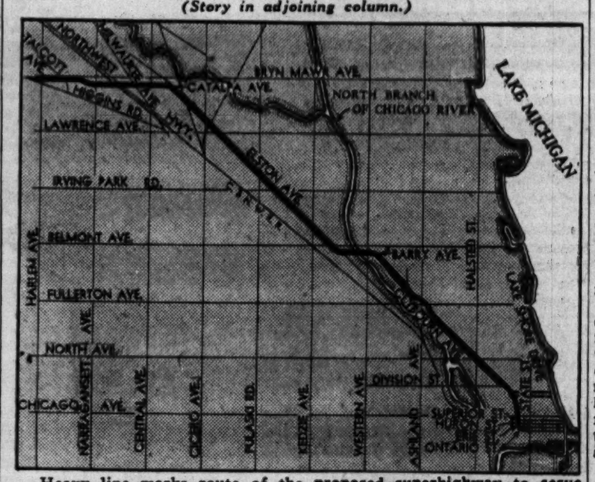
The third of these proposed locations receiving final consideration would have left Clybourn avenue south of Belmont avenue, and thereafter northward and later westward would have used the bank of the north branch of the Chicago river to Bryn Mawr avenue.

The cost estimate for this location was $27,200,000, which is $3,300,000 less than for the Clybourn-Elston location. The dogleg to follow the river, however, would have added 1.7 miles to the trip to or from the loop for 65,000 cars a day.

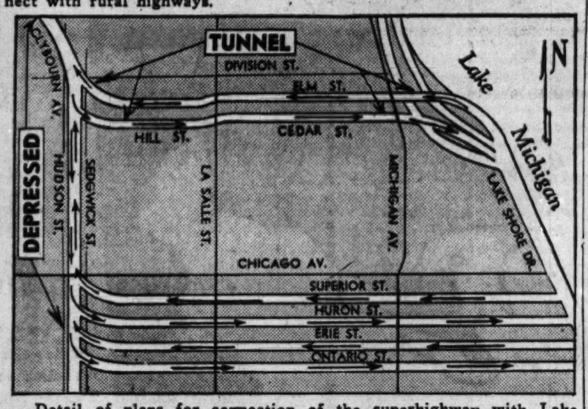
Daniel Ryan, chairman, said the county board's roads and bridges committee will hear criticisms from other civic organizations after a report is prepared by the Association of Commerce, the motor club, and the regional planning association.

Plan Northwest Superhighway

(Story in adjoining column.)



Heavy line marks route of the proposed superhighway to serve the northwest side. Plans for it were completed yesterday by the county highway department. At its northwest terminus it would connect with rural highways.



Detail of plans for connection of the superhighway with Lake Shore drive and the loop. This is the lower right hand section of the top map. One way tunnels in Elm and in Cedar and Hill streets would connect the superhighway with the drive and a depressed section would continue south to connect with four one-way streets.

48 NEW YEAR'S AUTOISTS FACE SAFETY JUDGE

Judge Frank Donoghue likes to be kept busy, but he would rather have motorists drive carefully even if it does mean less activity in Safety court. So he was pleased yesterday when only 48 motorists, arrested over the New Year's week-end, were brought before him.

Eight were charged with driving while intoxicated. Investigation in four of these cases disclosed no evidence to support the charge and the defendants were discharged. The others were granted continuances. None of the other defendants was sent to jail, and only a few minor fines were imposed.

As a result of the Christmas holiday week-end 115 defendants jammed into the Safety court a week ago yesterday. Seventeen were accused of drunken driving. Appalled at this recklessness, Judge Donoghue warned he would be especially severe with flagrant cases. He said yesterday he thought this warning had had some affect.

AUTO AND FELONY COURTS MERGED; AID GAMING JAM

The Municipal Automobile court, which handles cases involving stolen cars, was consolidated yesterday with the Felony court under Judge Joseph J. Drucker. This was done to enable the Jury court, which formerly heard the auto cases, to concentrate solely on the large number of gambling trials. Judge James M. Braude is presiding in Jury court. These courts are located in the Criminal court building. Most gambling case defendants in the South State street racket court have their cases transferred to Jury court for jury trials.

2 AUTOS CRASH IN GLEN ELLYN; WOMAN KILLED

Mrs. Ethel Fishbain Modell, 50 years old, 3549 Douglas boulevard, was killed yesterday when two automobiles collided in Roosevelt road in Glen Ellyn. Mrs. Modell's car was being driven by Maurice Diamond, 1858 South Homan avenue, a theater employé she occasionally employed as a chauffeur. The other driver was Peter Le Clech of Glen Ellyn. Police charged Le Clech with reckless driving.

The accident occurred 50 feet inside the western limits of Glen Ellyn. Roosevelt road [also US 330] is a four lane highway at that point. Le Clech was traveling east and the other car was going west. There were no witnesses, but police said there were indications Le Clech had gone over the center line. Neither Le Clech nor Diamond was injured.

John Zelis, 70 years old, 3137 West 42d place, died yesterday in the Evangelical hospital of injuries incurred Nov. 19, when he was struck by an automobile at California avenue and 44th street. The driver was Stanley Polony, 4437 South Rockwell street.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 8 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since the start of the new year. Of these 5 were killed in Chicago, where 73 were injured in the same period.

TRANSIT GROUP, ENGINEERS MAP TODAY'S PARLEY

City engineers and members of the city council committee on local transportation held an executive meeting yesterday preparatory to today's resumption of traction negotiations with the transit lines. The transportation committee, headed by Ald. James R. Quinn [50th], will meet this morning with the seven man board appointed by the federal court to represent the companies. The groups are trying to agree on terms of a franchise whereby the elevated and the surface lines would be unified into a single system which subsequently would acquire the bus company.

WOMAN DRIVER GETS PROBATION; FINE SUSPENDED

A $50 fine, imposed upon Miss Sylvia Dostalek for reckless driving, was suspended yesterday by Judge Joseph E. Fleming of East St. Louis, sitting in County court. He placed Miss Dostalek on probation for six months.

Miss Dostalek is 23 years old. She lives at 629 Onwentsia street, Highland Park. A jury in County court found her guilty Dec. 6 of driving while intoxicated and reckless driving. Judge Albert E. Isley of Newton, who presided, set aside the drunken driving count but fined Miss Dostalek $50 for reckless driving. It was this fine which Judge Fleming suspended.

FREE THREE IN SHOOTING.

Three young men accused of disorderly conduct were freed by Judge Frank Padden yesterday when they said they had intended to use a gun only as a New Year noisemaker. One of the three, Mathew Brzdo, 2427 24th street, was wounded when the gun exploded. With him were Walter Siepley, 1750 Cullerton street, and Stanley Slazyk, 2425 24th street.

CAPONE TOO ILL TO BE RELEASED FROM HOSPITAL

Doctor Won't Predict Date of Discharge.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 2 (AP).—Al Capone's "three weeks" in Union Memorial hospital had lengthened to more than six today, but the true condition of the former top man in Chicago's gangland remained as much a secret as the day he entered.

Dr. Joseph E. Moore, who has attended Capone since his release from federal prison Nov. 16, refused to say whether Capone had responded to treatment for a chronic brain disorder. Neither would he say whether there was any prospect for a complete recovery.

From Prison to Hospital.

Capone entered the hospital a few hours after serving seven years of a ten year prison term for evasion of income tax payments. At the time federal officials said they believed his treatment there would require three weeks.

From the outset, Dr. Moore, widely-known syphilologist and faculty member at the Johns Hopkins Medical school, daily has reported Capone's condition unchanged and said he was chronically but not acutely ill.

Plans for his discharge from the hospital have been discussed with members of the family, Dr. Moore said, but he added: "When he will be discharged is extremely indefinite. At this time it is impossible to say what, if any, treatment will be necessary after he leaves the hospital."

Has Few Visitors.

Capone's only visitors have been his wife and mother, who have been living here since he entered the hospital, and his brother, John, of Villanova, Pa.

Asked if members of the family had pressed for Capone's discharge so he might go to his estate near Miami, Fla., Dr. Moore said:

"When Capone can be moved, and what steps will be taken for his care thereafter are matters within the discretion of his physician alone. He is not yet ready to leave the hospital."

EX-CONVICT GETS 20 YEARS ON TWO CHARGES OF RAPE

Emmet Grimes, 25 years old, an ex-convict, yesterday was sentenced to 20 years in the penitentiary by Judge John F. Bolton of the Criminal court after pleading guilty to two charges of rape. Grimes was arrested Nov. 29 and was found to be carrying a toy pistol. Six women later identified him as the rapist who threatened them with the wooden gun. Grimes, a two-term convict, was last released from Pontiac prison on Sept. 21 after serving a robbery sentence. He gave his address as 2422 South Western avenue.

Killer Climbs 340 Feet to Flee Colorado Prison

Canon City, Colo., Jan. 2 (AP).—Under cover of fog, Harry E. Ross, a killer who once pleaded to be hanged, slipped away from guards, scaled a 30 foot wall, and apparently climbed a 340 foot cliff to escape from the Colorado penitentiary. Warden Roy Best said the escape took place New Year's morning. Ross, convicted of slaying Erwin C. Thompson, 32, an Iowa electrical engineer, in Denver in 1934, worked in the prison horse barns.

Killed in Blast

Charles Mayer Jr. (left) and James Duncan, who were fatally injured in explosion at Sears, Roebuck service station.

Two men were suffocated yesterday when an explosion in a Sears, Roebuck & Co. automobile service station at 1334 East 79th street drove them to seek refuge in a washroom. Fire following the explosion apparently filled the station with gases that overcame the victims, according to Chief Charles Burke of the 19th fire battalion.

The victims, both employed at the station, which is adjacent to the 79th street and Kenwood avenue branch store of the Sears company, were Charles Mayer Jr., 23 years old, of 6945 Princeton avenue, and James Duncan, 27, of 7247 Eberhart avenue. Duncan was married.

The explosion occurred in a section of the station housing greasing pits and stocks of accessories. Earle Downes, fire attorney, was unable to determine what had caused the explosion.

RURAL TOWNSHIP ASSESSMENTS UP; TOTAL $96,562,144

The first statistics of the 1939 quadrennial real estate reassessment, showing an increase of more than 10 per cent over the 1935 quadrennial reassessment, were announced yesterday by John S. Clark, county assessor. They show an assessed valuation of $96,562,144 for 10 country townships in which the assessed valuation was $89,023,720 in 1938 and $87,485,254 in the quadrennial reassessment of 1935. A reassessment of real estate is required by law every five years.

An increase was shown for each of the 10 townships. This was credited to new buildings, improvements, and a general rise in real estate values. Clark said figures for the entire county probably will be available by Feb. 1.

The figures reported yesterday:

Township.	Assessor's values. 1939.	1935.
Barrington	$ 2,416,087	$ 2,093,487
Palatine	3,256,458	3,116,044
Wheeling	5,201,498	4,222,136
Northfield	5,806,713	4,363,604
Niles	15,875,576	14,496,090
Hanover	1,433,909	1,373,916
Schaumburg	963,779	926,569
Elk Grove	2,290,347	1,932,475
Maine	14,420,486	12,714,578
New Trier	44,897,291	42,246,955
Totals	$96,562,144	$87,485,254

The assessments represent 37 per cent of the current values. The full value for the property of the ten townships is shown on the assessor's books as $260,978,767. The 1938 full value was $240,604,648, and that of the last previous quadrennial reassessment, in 1935, was $236,446,632.

TWO OVERPOWER WATCHMAN; BLOW SAFE; GET $1,800

Police were searching last night for two men, apparently accomplished safe crackers, who got $1,800 early yesterday in the 5100 club at 5100 Broadway.

The men overpowered and tied up Lallon Wilson, 821 Eastwood avenue, a watchman, and then blew the safe.

NEW YORK DOPE SMUGGLER GETS 14 YEAR TERM

Louis (Lepke) Buchalter Also Fined $2,500.

New York, Jan. 2 (AP).—Louis [Lepke] Buchalter was sentenced today to 14 years in prison for violation of the federal narcotics laws.

Louis [Lepke] Buchalter.

Lepke was convicted Dec. 20 on an indictment charging conspiracy to violate the laws in the operation of what the government called a 10 million dollar international narcotics smuggling syndicate.

Brought before Judge John C. Knox for sentencing today, he pleaded guilty to nine additional indictments relating to transportation and concealment of narcotics.

Judge Knox also imposed a $2,500 fine and suspended execution of an additional 10 year sentence.

Admits Fur Racketeering.

The racketeer also pleaded guilty to two indictments charging violation of the federal antitrust laws. These were based on his traffic in narcotic drugs and racketeering in the fur industry. Judge Knox imposed a sentence of two years each on these indictments, and a blanket sentence of ten years on the other indictments.

The government charged, during Lepke's trial, that he collected 50 per cent of the profits of the ring which smuggled narcotics from Japan, China, France, and other countries in 1935, 1936, and 1937.

Surrender Ends Hunt.

Lepke, who was the object of a nation-wide search last summer with rewards totaling $50,000 on his head, surrendered on Aug. 25.

After Lepke was sentenced, District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey's office asked United States Attorney General Frank Murphy to release Lepke to the state for trial on an extortion indictment which contains 23 counts. Murphy consented, thus putting Lepke in the hands of the state.

Dewey's aids said they would press for trial of Lepke and his four co-defendants tomorrow, but it was expected Lepke's counsel would obtain a postponement. Conviction on any one of the state counts, Dewey aids said, would subject Lepke to a mandatory life sentence as a fourth offender.

SEND HENCHMAN OF LONG TO JAIL FOR 30 MONTHS

New Orleans, La., Jan. 2 [Special].—Prison sentences of 30 months and fines of $2,000 were imposed today on Abraham L. Shushan, top henchman of the late Huey P. Long, and four New Orleans business leaders convicted with him on mail fraud charges.

Federal Judge Wayne G. Borah passed sentence after overruling motions for a new trial and arrest of judgment. Thirty month prison terms were imposed on each of seven counts. The judge ordered that they run concurrently.

The men were found guilty two weeks ago of illegally using the mails in sharing a fee of $496,000 for refinancing 'evee board bonds. The government contended the exorbitant fee was obtained fraudulently.

Shushan formerly was president of the levee board. The four others are Herbert W. Waguespack, former chairman of the levee board's finance committee; Henry J. Miller, an accountant, and Robert J. Newman and Norvin Trent Harris Jr., investment brokers.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Europe has a set of primary interests which to us have none or a very remote relation. Hence she must be engaged in frequent controversies, the causes of which are essentially foreign to our concerns. Hence, therefore, it must be unwise in us to implicate ourselves by artificial ties in the ordinary vicissitudes of her politics or the ordinary combinations and collisions of her friendships or enmities."—From the Farewell Address.

THE TRUTH ABOUT TVA.

Representative May of Kentucky has said in so many words that he believes the Tennessee Valley authority to be "fundamentally dishonest in its attitude toward the public and toward congress." The occasion for these remarks was the publication of a summary of its annual report by TVA. Mr. May believes that the report itself was, to say the least, lacking in candor and that the summary went a good deal further in the direction of downright falsification.

These are grave accusations and they receive added weight from the fact that Mr. May, a Democrat, occupies the highly responsible position of chairman of the military affairs committee of the house. As a Kentuckian, as a Democrat, and as chairman of his committee, he has had an unequaled opportunity to observe the acts and personnel of the TVA. As time has gone on his disapproval of the board and its conduct has not lessened but increased.

The essence of Mr. May's attack is his contention that if the TVA does not serve as a yardstick for public utility rates it has no excuse for existence. The Authority was created on the pretext that its operations would test the fairness of the private utilities' charges for electric current. Obviously, he says, if the yardstick is not an honest one, if it does not set up a fair basis for comparison, the whole experiment is meaningless. And, says Mr. May, that is the fact. The TVA claims to be operating at a profit; in fact, if its accounts were honestly presented, it would show a loss, or in his own words, "a concealed annual deficit of millions of dollars."

These observations cannot be dismissed as those of a disgruntled employé or an ill-informed critic, and they are shared by a good many citizens who have looked into the question. Fortunately, the truth or falsity of Mr. May's criticism is readily susceptible of proof. The questions whether the TVA is fundamentally honest or fundamentally dishonest, whether it is self-supporting or a charge upon the taxpayers, can be answered not in terms of faith or belief but in objective terms.

If the stockholders of a private corporation had reason to suspect the integrity or competence of the management, the remedy would be an impartial audit by independent accountants. As a matter of fact, the books of every corporation of consequence are subjected to such a scrutiny as a matter of routine, even when there is no slightest suspicion of maladministration; and the trend is in the direction of greater independence and more rigorous examination on the part of the auditors.

The way to find the facts regarding TVA is to set up an independent commission of audit with full authority to examine books, records, and accounts. Paralleling this study of the receipts, expenditures, and alleged profits of the TVA should go an engineering inquiry to determine among other things whether the proportion of the capital costs allocated to power production was honestly arrived at. Did the Authority assign too large a share of its costs to flood control and navigation, and if so, how much too much? Is the charge for flood control heavier than flood damage would justify and the charge for navigation reasonably proportionate to the amount of traffic on the river?

These are questions which competent engineers and accountants, working together, could answer with a good deal of precision. If the taxpayers have to wait for TVA to institute such a thorogoing survey, the wait will be a long one. Fortunately for the country, congress can set up a commission of inquiry with full authority to investigate and report. That should be one of the first items of business in the new session.

A FIGHTING FORCE.

Recent activities in the war department cannot but be regarded with mixed emotions. On one hand, it appears that motion is being made toward correcting some of the most glaring deficiencies of our system of military defense. On the other, the accomplishment of these necessary reforms is imperiled by a spirit of megalomania which some of the generals seem to share with their commander in chief. Expansions are proposed which are not needed for defense and will be useful only if we are contemplating a new expeditionary force to Europe.

One of the moves that can be endorsed unreservedly is the intimation of the army command that it has determined upon a course of large scale maneuvers. THE TRIBUNE has long recommended this course, and indeed was alone in doing so for a considerable period. It is gratifying that its suggestion has at last been acted upon.

Because our army, before the last war, was dispersed in small garrisons scattered over this country and its possessions, neither the officers nor the soldiers were in any real sense prepared for large scale warfare. About a year of intensive preparation in France was required before even our regular divisions were fit for serious combat. We borrowed staff officers from the French, but even with this advantage our divisions were slow in rounding into shape.

That experience was quickly forgotten after the war. The maneuvers last fall at Plattsburg and Manassas brought the lack of battle training into the foreground again. For lack of practice in handling even moderately large forces, this country cannot be said to have an army capable of driving an invader from its soil. The shortages of guns, airplanes, and ammunition can be repaired much more rapidly than can the deficiencies in training in all ranks.

The necessary experience cannot be gained in officers' schools nor even in field practice with a few regiments, valuable as these exercises may be. The need is for constant training in combat and movement by units consisting of numbers of divisions. It is an army of this scale which will be called upon to defend our country in an emergency and we should be prepared to throw such a force into the field at a moment's notice, with confidence in its capacity to achieve military results. It is encouraging to find the army's staff now in complete agreement on the urgent necessity for training of this sort.

It is essential that the army we have be well trained. It is not only nonessential, it is dangerous, to expand that army beyond our needs for domestic defense.

THE SALE OF THE SHIPS.

The eight ships of the United States Lines, which, as a result of public protest, were not transferred to Panamanian registry, are to be sold to a Norwegian company. The United States maritime commission has given its approval to the deal. The vessels will be operated in the war trade between New York, Boston, London, and Liverpool.

The Panama deal was proposed almost immediately after the passage of the neutrality law and was recognized by Secretary Hull and others as a subterfuge for evading the intent of the law. In principle that proposal was scarcely distinguishable from the Norwegian sale.

Whether congress and the country will like the present arrangement remains to be seen, but in any event it is clear that the present administration in Washington isn't trying very hard to find alternatives to the North Atlantic trade for our ships and seamen. The ships had scarcely been withdrawn from European service when it was announced that no other uses could be found for them. This judgment was reached in great haste and it does not accord with the experience of some private shippers, who have had little difficulty finding profitable cargoes outside the war zones.

Under the neutrality laws our merchant ships are free to operate to Latin America, into the Mediterranean, and across the Pacific. The warring powers are paying a premium to their own shipowners and to neutrals to engage in the war trade. The German merchant marine is out of business. Many ships like the British Rawalpindi were converted into armed cruisers. In short, many ships have been withdrawn from the routes outside the war zone and these routes are now open to us.

The opportunity is there, but we are making no effort to take advantage of it. Instead of seeking to carry an increasing proportion of our exports and imports and of neutral commerce in our own bottoms, we are transferring our North Atlantic ships to the Norwegians. In so doing we are not furthering our own interest at a time when we might be greatly strengthening our position in the world's carrying trade.

The neutrality law, which closed the war zones to our merchant marine, presented this administration with a great opportunity. Inevitably the combination of premium rates in the areas of danger and the inefficiencies of operation imposed by the convoy system would stimulate demand and rates for shipping elsewhere. Our administration, for reasons of its own, chose not to pursue that opportunity. Instead of carrying the American flag to every corner of the world and thereby building up our foreign trade, we are selling our ships.

THIS ISN'T THE CIVIL WAR.

A number of interesting football games brought the '39 season to a blaze of glory close in 1940, making New Year's appropriately enough the day of the overflowing Bowl. In southern climes, including southern California, there was a brilliant display of mostly southern, and within its limitations, congenial football. The limits of the congeniality must be mentioned because it has been observed frequently that in the south football is war.

The southerners are comparative newcomers among the top ranking teams of the country and they have a great liking for championships. No prep or high school is left unturned in the search for man power to increase the reputation of higher education in Dixie and probably in no other section of the country is more delight taken in a winner, which is covering a lot of territory and saying a great deal.

The southerners are particularly pleased to polish off northern opponents. It has been called the renewal of the civil war. Arch Ward, of the Tribune sports department, reported the Tulane-Texas Aggies game. He observed that five Tulane players are from Gary, Ind. Several are from Iowa and Kansas. This isn't the civil war over again. It is a return to the carpet bagging and reconstruction era.

IS AMBROSIA A VEGETABLE?

[Christian Science Monitor.]

Sweet potatoes, rules Magistrate Jeanette Brill of the Coney Island court, Brooklyn, N. Y., are vegetables, not fruit. This in freeing a sidewalk vendor of baked sweet potatoes, arrested for selling fruit without a license. Doubtless the magistrate speaks from the depths of botanical wisdom and culinary experience. Still, she declares fruits may legally be designated as those served as desserts, while vegetables are included in the main course of the meal. Did Magistrate Brill ever hear of that delectable dessert of Dixie, sweet potato pie? And then there are candied yams ala Alabama. . . . But how is any one to license a peddler of ambrosia?

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

TO SPEAK OF AN OLD FRIEND.

This column, we believe, should say something in memory of Thomas Eddy Tallmadge, who died in a New Year's day train wreck, because he had a share in its tradition. He was a close friend of its founder, Bert Leston Taylor, and many of his witticisms found their way into print over B. L. T.'s signature. Table talk at the Cliff Dwellers' club often inspired Line o' Type "wheezes" in the first and second decades of this century, and Tom Tallmadge was fertile in ideas that caused Bert Taylor to smile in print. The first word of Taylor's death came to us from Tom, by telephone; and his grief was deep. So is ours now.

Tallmadge was, among other things, an authority on early American architecture, and a specialist in the old houses of Chicago. Much of the material on old houses that was published here last winter and spring came from him or was examined by him for error. The last of many trips we have taken with him was an all-day house hunting expedition, running down clews to survivals of precivil war structures.

His books on American and English architecture, written with great charm as well as scholarship, have been widely read. A history of Chicago architecture, upon which he had been working for several years, will probably have posthumous publication, for it was almost ready for the printer when this distinguished and creative career came to its sudden end.

The classic epitaph for architects is Sir Christopher Wren's: "If you seek his monument, look about you." This may be said of Tom Tallmadge without exaggeration, for if you will go to the end of Navy pier and scan the northern shore line on a clear day, you will see, 10 miles away, a tower that breaks above the skyline—the First Methodist church in Evanston, which he regarded as his masterpiece.

HOLIDAY'S END.

He seemed like such a lonely little boy,
His nose pressed flat against the window pane,
As clutching school books and a Christmas toy
He peered into the darkness when the train
Increased its speed. No longer could he see
The figure waving at the platform's end.
With stealth he wiped a tear and suddenly
I smelled rare fragrance of a famous blend.
For in his chubby fist he grasped a bit
Of lace and when he saw my look he said:
"This handkerchief is Mother's favorite.
It'll comfort me at night when I'm in bed.
And if I'm careful that perfume will cling
Until I get to go home in the spring."

Waving the Flag for Old Chicago.

I wonder how many of the critics who've been panning Chicago football teams realize that they ought to get down on their knees and give thanks to the Maroons for the greatest innovation in gridiron history. In November, 1913, at Marshall field [it didn't become Stagg field until the following year] the Chicago team trotted out to warm up for the annual game with Wisconsin, and the crowd gaped in amazement. For each Maroon wore on the back of his jersey a large white number! It was the first time players had ever been numbered.

In 1914 Northwestern, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, and Purdue followed Chicago's lead in numbering players, and in 1915 the rules committee made the wearing of numbers compulsory. Since 1937 teams must wear numerals on both front and back of jerseys.

Another Maroon gridiron innovation: In 1893 Chicago and Northwestern met in the first indoor collegiate football game at Tattersall's riding academy, Dearborn and 16th streets. It was also the first night football game, and the first game to be played under electric lights. The crowd, by the way, reached the amazing total of 300!

BETWEEN THE AGATE LINES.

LOST—small brown beagle,
Male, named Toby, widow's pet.
Another line—reward, address.
One of many every day and yet
Something in the way it read
Attracted my attention.
One wondered if the tricks he knew
And all the funny things he'd do
Were taught him by some gentle man
Who'd brought out all that kindness can;
And if the joy they'd had, these three,
Was now relived continuously, thru him;
And if even closer they'd become
Because they missed this gentle one.
Whatever story underlies, 'tis true
Some one, small beagle, waits for you.

The History of a Bottle of Wine.

Excerpt from a wholesale wine merchant's December bulletin to his clients:

"Loaded to the gunwales with wine the Independence Hall sailed from Bordeaux on Oct. 15. We had counted on receiving her cargo by the first of November, but three or four days after her departure the Independence Hall was on the front pages and our wines on the way back to Bordeaux. Some 500 miles off the coast of France the Independence Hall received an S O S—two British ships, the Yorkshire and the Mandalay, had been sunk; there were about 300 survivors in small boats, on rafts and in the water. Fortunately, the Independence Hall was able to pick them up and carry them back to Bordeaux. All of which was in the best tradition of American seamanship—but also helps to explain why some of our wines have not arrived on schedule."

Teddy Linn not know! [Abandonment of Maroon football, Dec. 29.] He's already on leave of absence personally granted by St. Peter to stoke a special furnace for Brother Bob, when he arrives.

We thought of a snappy one on New Year's day, and altho it's out of date, we'll spring it: Now is the time when all good football fans are singing "Bowla-Bowla."

How to Keep Well By Dr. Irving S. Cutter

DON'T GET COLD FEET.

WELL being demands that we keep the feet warm. Those who are victims of cold extremities probably have poor circulation. Ofttimes there is some disturbance of the nervous system, keeping the walls of the arteries so tightly contracted that the onward passage of blood is hindered.

Most of us, after we pass middle life, may find that our vessels are a bit thicker than they once were, which means that they carry less blood. If one is suffering from some infectious malady or even a metabolic disease, such as diabetes, many of the minute branching capillaries may become plugged or, as we say, thrombosed. In consequence, the total volume of the flow to these regions is reduced. As we can well understand, with a slower and less efficient supply the loss of heat will be noticeable.

Again, individuals may complain of stabbing sharp pains, particularly on walking. Such episodes are termed "intermittent claudication." The distress may be so acute that one stops in his tracks, whereupon the symptom disappears. This is due to a spasm within an artery, wherein the flow is interrupted momentarily. Others will note that after retiring at night the lower legs will ache for quite some time—so much so that it is difficult to find a comfortable position. As the body warms up the sensation fades. This trouble comes about because the conduits are smaller than they should be—with the tissues deprived of essential nourishment.

Whenever one with imperfect circulation from any cause becomes chilled the situation may be worse. A frigid temperature will contract skin capillaries and a throbbing soreness may be experienced which is only eased when the area is warmed.

In a few instances we are faced with Raynaud's disease, characterized by blanching of the fingers and, less frequently, the toes. The manifestations occur whenever the parts are exposed to cold, especially ice water. Episodes of this character usually follow too long a period spent outside in inclement weather; emotional upsets are frequently to blame. During a seizure there is aching and a lifeless and useless feeling. As this symptom passes, burning and tingling are often encountered.

Of course, we must not forget that normal nutrition is necessary if we are to expect the blood to hold heat. Food must be adequate and the lungs must furnish sufficient oxygen to burn it and thus generate calorie.

When all is said and done, most cases of stony feet can be rectified by a little more attention to good hygiene. Some will be too thinly clad and there is no use expecting the body to act as a furnace for the great outdoors. The hose are the principal garments to be considered and with boots that are roomy enough so that no constriction is present and with proper socks and stockings we have fulfilled requirement number one.

Next, the patient should take a nightly footbath, using warm water and allowing the level to reach halfway to the knees. The duration of soaking may be ten to twenty minutes. The pinkish color of the epidermis will attest the fact that the vital fluid is passing along its channels naturally. Dry thoroly with a soft towel, anoint with cocoa butter, and spend a quarter of an hour in gentle massage. If the sleeping room is chilly, the suggestion is offered that a pair of bed socks—to be discarded later—may be donned on retiring.

It goes without saying that should the condition under discussion be observed routinely, more suitable footwear should be resorted to. Workmen who are obliged to labor in zero temperatures continuously for many hours should wear several pair of woolen socks inside well fitting overshoes. This provides a thin, insulating space between the several layers of the fabric. Long standing without moving about places a strain upon the heart, as will walking over rough or uneven ground.

Clammy legs and toes need not be endured. If the pump is not behaving properly, lightening its load may bring relief. Only occasionally, however, will organic disease be at fault. Footwear that really protects and care of the skin will bring improvement.

HAVE AN EXAMINATION.

J. B. writes: Lately there is at the gum margin a white line which my dentist says is decalcification. Several years ago I dieted quite strenuously because of an underactive thyroid gland. I have had very little milk in the last three years. Could such a diet be responsible for the condition? Should I start drinking lots of milk? Are calcium tablets just as good?

REPLY.

Lack of calcium may be due to a diet low in this mineral or failure of the body to absorb and assimilate it because of some systemic condition. In your case this may be associated with your thyroid deficiency. Have a general examination, including a breathing [metabolic] test. If there is too little lime in the blood, milk or calcium tablets may be helpful.

IT'S IMPROBABLE.

H. A. writes: Is it possible to have athlete's foot in the mouth? One of our group of high school students said she heard this could occur.

REPLY.

Fungus growths of the tongue and throat are not unusual. Ringworm affecting the lining of the oral cavity is encountered but rarely. Acrobats and babies may become expert "toe-to-mouth" performers. While fungus infections within the oral cavity are not rare, the type causing ringworm [athlete's foot] will have great difficulty in growing in this vicinity.

SEE A SKIN SPECIALIST.

H. F. D. writes: At the present time there are 12 warts, or wartlike growths, on my chest. The number is increasing right along. What causes these unsightly things and how can I get rid of them?

REPLY.

The chances are that you are developing what are known as seborrheic warts. As a rule these growths are harmless, but they are annoying. Treatment should be the responsibility of a skilled skin specialist. The electric needle may be employed.

TRY MASSAGE.

H. N. writes: In the last few years the skin from my cheek seems to have slipped down about my upper lip, enmeshing the corners of my mouth. This is not just a crease, but rather a fatty mass. Is there a remedy? I am 18 years old.

REPLY.

You are quite too young to slip. You are probably overweight, possibly because the thyroid is lazy. Don't try to laugh it off—use massage.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

The volume of Legal Friend mail necessitates printed statements on common questions. No copies or records of the letters or answers are kept. Hence follow-up letters should be complete in themselves. If questions are based on some previously printed problem a clipping of the article should accompany. Most of the replies are mailed. Letters bearing no name and address are disregarded. A self-addressed envelope will expedite handling.

TERMS OF WILL.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 28 [Legal Friend of the People].—In September of 1938 a widow of 82 with no children, residing in New Hampshire, died leaving the following will: $5,000 to a cemetery for gates; $1,000 each to two lodges; a diamond pin to a niece, my mother; $1 each to four direct heirs. The executor, an elderly man, disregards all communications and any information that we have obtained is via "the grapevine."

1. We have not even received a copy of the will. As near as we can determine this is the situation.

2. The widow left insufficient funds to satisfy the money bequests, but [3] did leave the ring, which is rather valuable and which was mentioned in the will to go to my mother.

4. She also left an old fashioned, large house; a 10 year old mink coat; a 10 year old car, which was sold for $25; several diamond rings of average value, and personal belongings such as an old lady might be expected to have.

5. She left a note, unwitnessed, saying that the mink coat was to go to my mother, the rings were to be sold to satisfy debts, and that several small money gifts should be given to friends. Since more than a year has passed and we never hear anything from the estate, we are wondering [6] what action we should take to secure the ring. E. O. F.

1. We suggest that you try writing to the clerk of the Probate court at the county seat to see if you can obtain a copy of the will from him.

2. Without having the wording before us we cannot determine whether all would abate pro rata.

3. Presumably this gift will stand without abatement.

4. Presumably these assets should be sold to satisfy legacies. You do not tell us whether there is a residuary bequest.

5. This would probably be legally invalid. See printed clipping attached.

6. The first step would be to write to the clerk of the court.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

PROPERTY PURCHASE.

Chicago, Dec. 28 [Legal Friend of the People].—In purchasing a grocery and meat market [1] what legal procedure does the purchaser have to go thru?

2. Do both the seller and purchaser have to have lawyers?

3. Who assumes the payment of legal fees?

4. Can a lease be transferred? H. K.

1. One important procedure is to obtain a sworn list of creditors and give them the notice required under the bulk sales law. We cannot advise to advantage without knowing whether the purchase was on credit, and other facts which are not before us.

2. The advisability of employing a lawyer depends on the amount involved, on the competency of the parties and on other facts that are not before us. In general, it would be more important for the purchaser to be represented by an attorney than for the seller to be so represented.

3. Each party would pay his own attorney unless the agreement contains wording to the contrary.

4. Yes, unless it contains wording to the contrary.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FILING OF WILL.

Berwyn, Ill., Dec. 27 [Legal Friend of the People].—1. What procedure must be followed [after a person dies] about the reading of a will?

2. Must a lawyer be present?

3. How soon must it be acted on?

4. Must it be filed by a lawyer and [5] must all heirs be present? H. V. V.

1. There is no statutory formality as to the mere reading of a will.

2. No.

3. The Illinois statute requires that it be filed in the office of the Probate court at once, but the necessity for subsequent proceedings would depend on facts that are not before us.

4. Not necessary.

5. Same.

THE WORLD WAR 25 YEARS AGO

[From Tribune Files.]

Jan. 3, 1915.

[159th day of the world war; 125th day of the present war.]

LONDON—Increased fighting of great intensity in France was believed to indicate the beginning of a great battle.

BERLIN—Fierce French attacks to the north of Verdun and on the line of Ailly-Apremont were reported to have been repulsed with heavy losses to the French.

PARIS—The attacks of the Germans were said to have been repulsed with ease. Enemy losses were reported heavy when the French infantry occupied three lines of houses in Steinbach, Alsace.

VIENNA—Checked by Gen. von Hindenburg in the north, the Russians were directing their main attack against Hungary thru the passes in the Carpathians.

GLASGOW—The first open declaration of British workers against the war came from the Scottish Independent Labor party in a meeting here, with speakers violently assailing the conflict.

DEAD TAX REVIVED.

Chicago, Dec. 26.—The editorial, "Dead Tax Revived," in your issue of Dec. 23 is most enlightening and serves forcibly to illustrate the prevalent die-hard attitude of New Dealers in respect of laws and regulations of lessened severity as affecting business operations.

It affords a striking example of dogged determination to adhere to an unwise theory of taxation which has proven unsatisfactory and been branded as contrary to public policy by the action early this year of congress in repealing the remnant of the undistributed earnings tax, altho it had previously been drastically reduced.

Now that such a tax can no longer be imposed upon business corporations thru reliance on explicit law, it appears that the treasury department evinces contemptuous disregard of the true purpose and intent of congress in enacting the repealer, and is disposed stubbornly to attempt an evasion of its effect, and by means of the device of an arbitrary interpretation and application of an existing section of the revenue act is imposing a tax at even higher rates on three-tenths of total earnings.

As a test of New Deal cohsistency compare such attitude with the strictures uttered by the President some time since relative to the formation of personal holding corporations by individuals with alleged intent to partially evade taxation at an increased rate on their incomes.

THE DELIGHTS OF TRAVEL.

Berwyn, Ill., Dec. 29.—By some strange coincidence both the railroads and the Rapid Transit company have promised to serve public health, convenience, and necessity. Let's compare service.

Bossy, the lowly bovine supplying us with our eighth inch steaks, rates a special de luxe car. Special keepers take pains to see that she, fresh from green fields, is fed and feeling comfortable in her clean and airy car. The train rushes to the city so that Bossy, complacent thing she is, won't complain about the vicissitudes of travel.

John Q. Public on the Douglas Park "L" rates a super de luxe wooden crate of prewar vintage. If he's terribly lucky he can hang on to a strap to support his weary frame after a hard day's work. If John wants to read he first makes sure he has enough room to wiggle out the newspaper from his pocket. Then he has to make sure his tired eyes can stand the strain of flickering yellow lights yards away. John knows better than to be in a hurry—after all, it's wrong to hurry the aged, especially if it's an elevated train.

Moral to all Johnny Q's riding the Douglas Park "L": Be a cow and enjoy your travel.

SPEECH.

Merrill, Wis., Dec. 27.—Your pointed American editorials stand out like the Lindbergh beacon.

I believe the following would be a short but pointed speech for any Republican presidential candidate to make next summer.

Fellow American citizens: Think hard before you place your cross on the ballot next Nov. 5, for that cross will mark the difference between a Republican President, with peace and prosperity—or King Roosevelt with war, devastation, and lifetime dictatorship!

CHOICE OF WORDS.

LEXICON.

ULSTER.

Chicago, Dec. 28.—May I, on behalf of the Ulster Irish Liberty Legion, be permitted to protest against the use of the term "Ulster government" in TRIBUNE news dispatches? Neither the "puppet parliament," nor the government set up in Belfast by Lloyd George, has any claim, legal or moral, to represent or govern Ulster. The territory of Northern Ireland, created by the British government and maintained by British bayonets and British subsidies, embraces but six of Ulster's nine counties. Manifestly the term "Ulster" is a misnomer when applied to that territory.

The historic province of Ulster, which for upward of four centuries after the Norman conquest successfully repelled the invader, at seven general elections prior to its dismemberment by Lloyd George declared its desire for Irish freedom. At present five of Ulster's nine counties have substantial majorities favoring Irish unity and Irish independence, two others are almost equally divided on the question, while but two counties, including the city of Belfast—a majority of whose citizens are of British ancestry—lean to the British connection.

Those prisoners who attempted to wreck their jail on Christmas eve all are Belfast men, some of whom have been in prison upward of a year. No charges have been brought against them nor have any of them been placed on trial. Denied the right to communicate with friends or legal adviser, their outbreak was and is the only method by which they could call attention of the world to their plight.

BERNARD MACGILLIAN,
President, Ulster Irish Liberty Legion.

ORDERED TO MOVE.

Chicago, Dec. 27.—Is there to be no protest from any of us unfortunate families who will have to move from the Addams, Lathrop, and Trumbull Park housing projects by May or June? Most of us who have had the good fortune to get better jobs or increases in salary will have to move and go into debt, besides, to buy gas stoves, refrigerators, and heaters. And how many landlords are going to be willing to take us, with our families of three or more children, just because the CHA has decided to reduce rents $5 and lower a tenant's rental quota from six to five times his income?

Are we expected to go back to what were called the slums when we moved into the projects, or have the slums been torn down? Perhaps we are expected to move into the old places which will be vacated by the people who are going to live in the pleasant homes we now cherish as our own. How would the executives of the CHA like to make such a change? If the projects are making so much money why not put aside the excess earnings and in a few years build additional projects?

AN UNFORTUNATE FAMILY.

FOR TRAFFIC SAFETY.

Chicago, Dec. 28.—I have come to the conclusion that every applicant for a driver's license should be given a physical examination and a mental test. The speed of all but emergency vehicles should be controled by the use of a governor, sealed by the city. And last, but not least, the structural design of the car should be changed to put the motor in the rear, thereby removing from the driver the false sense of security afforded by having the motor in the front. A driver will think twice before he is reckless when he is sitting up in front of the car. Street cars and buses are run that way, and much safer, too.

2 INQUIRIES OPEN TO FIX BLAME IN I. C. TRAIN WRECK

The Illinois and the Interstate Commerce commissions opened independent inquiries yesterday into the New Year's dawn wreck of two Chicago-bound flyers of the Illinois Central railroad at Arcola, 156 miles south of Chicago in Douglas county. Thomas E. Tallmadge, Chicago architect, was killed and 54 other passengers injured when the Panama Limited plowed into the rear of the Louisiane as the latter train was leaving Arcola after an unscheduled stop.

J. L. Downs, Illinois Central superintendent at Champaign, said the Louisiane's flagman, Archie S. White, of 6459 Dante avenue, Chicago, did not set out warning signals promptly enough and far enough behind the Louisiane. Statements also were made that the safety control system of the Panama Limited, which warns the engineer whenever the train is within half a mile of another on the same track, was not working at the time of the crash.

A verdict of accidental death from a skull fracture was returned yesterday by an Arcola coroner's jury inquiring into Tallmadge's death. The jury made no attempt to fix the cause of the tragedy.

STRIKING SHIP CLERKS VOTE TO RETURN TO JOBS

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 2 (AP)—Striking C. I. O. ship clerks today voted to accept a proposal to end the 54 day waterfront tie-up here.

They decided to return to work under terms of the 1939 agreement with waterfront employers, pending completion of a new contract, and consented to drop for the present the preferential hiring and worker registration demands.

The striking clerks, about 650 in number, walked out last Nov. 10 when negotiations for a new contract collapsed. Picket lines immediately were set up thru which other maritime union workers refused to pass, resulting in almost a complete tie-up of the waterfront. Because of the picket lines, several thousand longshoremen and other waterfront workers were made idle.

6 BILLION SPENT IN AMERICA FOR TRAVEL AND PLAY

Tourist Business Boomed by Greater Leisure.

BY FREDERIC BABCOCK.

Even tho the European war and the months of anxiety that preceded it resulted in a heavy decrease in trans-Atlantic travel last year, America's total outlay for travel and recreation ran to nearly 6 billion dollars.

This estimate was made in a year-end survey issued yesterday by Ralph T. Reed, executive vice president of the American Express company.

"Trouble in Europe is not as disturbing a factor as one might think," Mr. Reed said, "because 91 per cent of the amount Americans spend for touring and recreation is spent in the United States. And in the new year Canada, Mexico, and South and Central America will account for a large part of the remaining 9 per cent."

Passports Show Decrease.

Trans-Atlantic business last year dropped nearly 50 per cent below that of two years ago. Records show only about 90,000 passports issued in 1939, compared with 168,000 in 1937.

Despite this loss, said Mr. Reed, the 1939 expenditure was more than $5,686,000,000. This year, he predicted, the figure will be even higher.

"Our national income is $2,000,000,000 above that of a year ago," he said. "This is reflected in increased dividends, higher wages, and increased farm prices.

"Greater leisure, shorter working hours, the five day week, more vacations with pay, and greater security for wage earners all provide the urge to travel.

Cost of Travel Declines.

"Transportation is being greatly improved, made more comfortable, and, by price reductions, brought within the reach of many more persons. Among the improvements are streamlined, economical, day coach trains, faster and better motor buses, increased speed and safety in the air, and a large gain in the number of resorts, parks, and recreation areas near the centers of population."

Mr. Reed added that it is Mr. and Mrs. Average American—and their children—who provide the volume that makes these new developments possible.

"More than $20,000,000 was spent on travel advertising in 1939," said Mr. Reed. "As a result, never before in history have so many Americans become so travel minded."

WAKE OF A WISH

A great Matson ship arrows through a placid sea; at the masthead, friendly red stripes and a blue field of stars. On sunny decks, happy people gossip of flowered islands, somewhere out there . . . a long-wished-for destination.

No time when happy horizons were at such a premium. No time more fitting than now, therefore, to follow that long-laid plan to visit Hawaii.

No place, at any time, even with the whole world to choose from, could offer you an experience so joyful as Hawaii, where the flame trees camp on the hillsides and a tropic moon sentries the night over Waikiki. Where even the practical things, such as sensible, moderate costs, add to the pleasure of living.

Where to go this season? For so many significant reasons, the perfect answer is Hawaii.

NEWS and REVIEWS

Romains Continues His Saga; Prize Novel Has War Theme; Taylor Caldwell Does Sequel

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

There is a warlike aura about three important books published this week. One is concerned wholly and solely with the most epic of the battles of the first war; another is the record of the life of an English soldier, and the third, altho a family chronicle, concerns those who have their very roots in war—that enormous munitions dynasty about which every one read with such interest in the author's previous "Dynasty of Death."

Eighth in Epic Saga

"Verdun," by Jules Romains. [Knopf, $2.50.] Published yesterday. January choice of the Book of the Month club.

As the seventh volume of Jules Romains' epic saga, "The Men of Good Will," closed in "Death of a World," France was entering the world war. "Verdun," the eighth volume of the colossal work, opens with this sentence: "Never before in the world's history had so many men at one and the same time said good-by to their homes and family preparatory to cutting one another's throats. Never before had such crowds of soldiers marched to war so firmly convinced that the 'cause' for which they were to fight was personal to each one of them." From that paragraph for 500 tense pages Jules Romains tells the story of the war—of any war—thru the detailed record of Verdun.

As if he were a Gulliver looking at Verdun, Jules Romains sees his material as an entity with the separate parts meshed, but themselves whole. The men at the front, the high command, the munitions makers, the wives and women at home, the political intriguers, the salons at which gossip often becomes creative, Polish prisoners, even the Germans across no man's land, and the kaiser-emperor himself are here. Well known historical names are almost as common as the names of the fictional characters whom we have already come to know in the previous volumes of the series.

"Verdun" is history, factually foundationed, fictionally embroidered. No class or kind of person is unaffected by Verdun. M. Romains ironically points out that "the sensible thing would have been for both sides to give up the place simultaneously and withdraw; by a tacit agreement to leave the cursed spot as neutral ground. The instrumentalists in this symphony of death would have welcomed such a decision, but the conductors had grown to regard the place as a symbol of prestige."

So the bitter siege goes on, little men die, some smaller men become great, and our old friend Wazemmes goes to glory with the Marseillaise on his lips.

In a few paragraphs, which are completely unforgettable, M. Romains tells "why Verdun still stands." To quote them in their entirety is impossible in limited space; to paraphrase them, unfair. They are not summed up in this sentence: "If all this is to be taken away, life has no longer any point." But those words express part of their moving interpretation.

"Verdun" is one of those books which are self-evidently great.

Life in British Army

"No Arms, No Armour," by Robert Henriques. [Farrar & Rinehart, $2.50.] Published today. Winner of the second All-Nations prize novel contest. January choice of the Literary guild.

When the second All-Nations prize novel contest was announced Europe was not at war, and 10 foreign countries, together with the Literary guild and Farrar & Rinehart, American publishing firm, planned to collaborate on an international prize of approximately $15,000. The winning book was to be published simultaneously in all countries and each country's prize novel in its native language. But things are different now. Italy withdrew from the contest; there is no Poland in which to publish any book, and the Czecho-Slovakian contender for the grand prize will be published in translation in America, but not in its native tongue or land. The American prize winner, "Sam," by John Selby, an excellent study of a small town business man, has already been published to the delight of its readers.

The judges—Frank Swinnerton, English critic and novelist; Gaston Rageot, president of the Societe des Gens de Lettres of France, and John Beecroft of the Literary guild—say that the second contest brought forth unusually fine material, but their choice of "No Arms, No Armour" was not difficult.

It is a typically British book, not only in that it describes minutely the life of a British officer in the regular army, in training, in field work, in foreign service, and in his fatigues, but in that the author's "approach" is typically British.

It has a solidity, an almost heavy quality about it, and yet it is in no wise a dull book. It is told with the typical British restraint, and yet it chronicles much excitement. The record of Tubby's trek thru the desert would have burned up many another pen, and in the hands of some writers the life of the army camp in the African desert would have taken on luridity.

Young Tubby has lived thru childhood and adolescence when the book begins with his life in the army. Thrown from his horse in a race, he lies for five months mending. "Doubts broke in and self-satisfaction began to crumble, and there followed soon an understanding of man's duality or multiplicity of the warring selves that share his soul between them," says the author, "but it was not until after the death of Sammy that he had begun to apply this knowledge to himself; and it was only quite recently that he had become aware of the two persons who battled within him for supremacy."

Tubby, clean living, clean thinking, develops in these pages into a man. Two of his fellow soldiers, an idealist, Sammy, and a realist, "Daddy," help to make him one, in their lives and in their deaths.

The author of "No Arms, No Armour" is himself a soldier who had much the same life that Tubby had, including an epic trip to the Dinder river on the Abyssinian frontier, and a smashup on a polo pony. He is again a soldier—a staff officer in the regular army "for the duration."

More 'Dynasty of Death"

"The Eagles Gather," by Taylor Caldwell. [Scribners, $2.50.] Published yesterday.

The author of "Dynasty of Death," that very popular tale of the vast business and family warfare in the Barbour-Bouchard clan of munitions manufacturers, here brings the fantastic family chronicle almost to date with the grandsons of the original pirates making war upon their kin as they gather in orders for guns, airplanes, and prepare to feed the world the daily bread of war.

Caught in the machinations of the vast, almost medievally feudal family life is little Celeste, who has been untouched by the family greed and whose sweet and simple heart revolts at the idea of profits from human misery, instinctively, and even before she has ever heard Peter's arraignment of them. She is a pawn not only of fate, but of her ruthless elder brother Christopher.

This long vividly detailed book is a reiterated record of hatred, malice, deceit, self-seeking, nurtured on the immense profits of munitions manufacturing. Its implication is that those who profit by the hatreds of war are themselves the victims of hatred.

The Bouchard clan is a fantastic group, with vast two hundred room castles in which they live unhappily, whole townships of gardens rivaling Versailles in which they take no more personal delight than visitors do to a public park, family dinners of gargantuan proportions which are attended only as duties, and children attaining their majority hating their parents, their relatives, and the world about them, and finally marrying for dynastic power.

Among them all there are Celeste and Peter, who find love in spite of the atmosphere of malice about them. Celeste is an innocent. Peter knows what war is, will always remember it, because Bouchard gas, made by his own family, has eaten away one lung, but has fed, in his heart, a love of his fellow men.

"The Eagles Gather" is a sequel to "Dynasty of Death" but it is a story complete in itself.

Authors and Their Work

H. G. Wells is one of hundreds in England who are writing letters to the press demanding a statement be made now in answer to the question, "After the war, what?" He believes the peace aims should be brought out into the open during the early months of this conflict. His own statement in "The Fate of Man" [Alliance, $2.50], is being widely studied and discussed as a possible alternative to the catastrophe of another punitive peace.

Kathrene Pinkerton, who wrote "Wilderness Wife" [Carrick & Evans, $2.75], describing her life in the Canadian woods, took a six years' exploring trip along the complicated waterways of the coasts of British Columbia and Alaska on a 52 foot cruiser. With her were her husband and small daughter. This adventure will be related in a new book, "Three's a Crew," to be published by Carrick & Evans in February.

Irving Stone, author of "Sailor on Horseback" and "Lust for Life," is at work on a biography of the late Clarence Darrow. Mr. Stone is anxious to see letters, documents, anecdotes, and other material pertaining to the famous criminal lawyer and requests that such items be sent to him at Encino, Cal. He will handle them carefully and return them quickly to the sender.

From Helsingfors, Finland, Martha Gellhorn, author of "The Trouble I've Seen," has just written her publishers, Duell, Sloan & Pearce, by air mail: "The trip over was a real honey. You never saw anything like it. Fifteen days, of which six were spent in an agony of boredom waiting to hit a mine. Twenty-four ships sank in that week all around us like flies. It was the payoff. I was worn out before starting!"

Margaret Barrington, whose first novel, "Turn Ever Northward," [Knopf, $2.50], has just been published, is in private life the wife of Liam O'Flaherty, author of "The Informer."

Authors of Current Books

22 Books Top 100,000 Sales Mark in Year

America is apparently growing more and more book conscious, that is, if the sale of books is any criterion. In 1938 there were 14 titles which sold more than 100,000 copies. Last year there were 22 titles which sold more than 100,000 copies. Two of them sold more than 300,000 copies and five more than 200,000.

The year's best seller was "The Grapes of Wrath," by John Steinbeck, published in April. It has sold more than 300,000 copies. And oddly enough a book published in October of 1938 also sold more than 300,000 copies in 1939, "All This, and Heaven Too," by Rachel Field. The motion picture edition of Margaret Mitchell's "Gone with the Wind" has already sold more than 250,000 copies. The total sales of "Gone with the Wind" to date in America alone are 2,153,000.

Pearl Buck's "The Patriot," published in March, has sold 236,700 copies; "Days of Our Years," by Pierre Van Paassen [January], has sold 233,000 copies; "The Nazarene," by Sholem Asch [October], 218,456 copies, and "Moment in Peking," by Lin Yutang [November], 217,925 copies. These four were Book of the Month club selections.

"Wind, Sand, and Stars," by Antoine de St. Exupery [June], had a sale of 190,000 copies. "A Treasury of American Prints," edited by Thomas Craven [September], sold 170,000 copies, of which 165,000 made up a Book of the Month club dividend. Angela Thirkell's "The Brandons" [June] sold 170,000 copies. "The Sword in the Stone," by T. H. White [January], had a sales record of 142,340, and "You and Heredity," by Amram Scheinfeld [September], and "Tree of Liberty," by Elizabeth Page [February], each sold 140,000 copies. Christopher La Farge's "Each to the Other" [April] had a sale of 126,000.

Selling more than 100,000 copies, but just how many I was unable to find out, were: "Christ in Concrete," by Pietro di Donato [August]; "Christmas Holiday," by W. Somerset Maugham [October]; "Not Peace but a Sword," by Vincent Sheean [July]; "A Peculiar Treasure," by Edna Ferber [February]; "Captain Horatio Hornblower," by C. S. Forester [April], and "Escape," by Ethel Vance [October]. All of these were either Book of the Month club or Literary Guild choices.

Two books not sent out by any of the book clubs attained sales exceeding 100,000 copies. They were the new edition of "The Wizard of Oz," by Frank Baum, and "Tellers of Tales," an anthology by W. Somerset Maugham [June].

Word and Picture Depict Wild Life in Four New Books

"Eyes in the Night," by Tappan Gregory. [Crowell, $3.50.]

"Hawks in the Hand," by Frank and John Craighead. [Houghton Mifflin, $3.50.]

"Traveling with the Birds," by Rudyerd Boulton. [Donohue, $1.]

"Homes and Habits of Wild Animals," by Karl Patterson Schmidt. [Donohue, $1.]

"Eyes of the Night" is the story of a Chicago lawyer who found his photographic hobby so fascinating that he has become the leading authority on the subject of night portraiture of animals. Tappan Gregory loves those animals, whether they be field mice or mountain lions, and the pictures that illustrate his gently written book explain why. Photographers will find enough technical material to satisfy them; lay readers won't find too much. This is a grand new experience.

Falconry has always carried with it the strange glamor that colors man's relations with tamed beasts and birds. Now two young men, Frank and John Craighead, join the band of moderns who are reviving the ancient sport. Their story of training hawks and kindred birds to hunt is the unassuming story of youth. Their photographs and the story they tell about the taking of them is an adventure in itself.

Both "Traveling with the Birds" and "Homes and Habits of Wild Animals" are illustrated with excellent color plates by Walter Alois Weber, a product of the Art Institute of Chicago and of the University of Chicago. Especially good are his bird paintings for the book by Rudyerd Boulton, assistant curator of birds at Field museum. Boulton's prose, as is Schmidt's, is in the clear, straightforward vein that children understand and adults appreciate. Both men tell the story of wild life with an abundance of facts and anecdotes. Schmidt is assistant curator of reptiles at Field museum.

Witty Nathan Writes A to Z of the Theater

"Encyclopedia of the Theater," by George Jean Nathan. [Knopf, $3.] Published yesterday.

"The Man Who Came to Dinner," by George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart. [Random, $2.]

"Skylark," by Samson Raphaelson. [Random, $2.]

"Key Largo," by Maxwell Anderson. [Dodd Mead, $2.50.]

"The Time of Your Life," by William Saroyan. [Harcourt Brace, $2.50.]

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

Current required reading in the drama includes a brilliant series of notes by George Jean Nathan and the texts of four successful plays.

Nathan's book is witty and civilized and evinces on every page his profound love of the theater. He delights in long paragraphs, compounded of verbal fireworks which take a toll of at least one smug notion per sentence.

Nearly every phase of the modern theater comes in for its whacking in alphabetical order. To indicate the scope of the book, here are some of the classifications: Autograph Mania, Beauty and the Critical Beast, Erin Go Blah, Nazi Greasepaint, and Yen for Thespis.

The letter X is a poser in any encyclopedia. But the ingenious Nathan wasn't daunted. X, says he, is the unknown quantity, so what better to discuss under that heading than sex appeal? And that's what he did—with special attention to Ann Sheridan.

Scathing as he is in respect to the American stage, Nathan leaps to its defense when it is attacked by British dramatic critics. He turns their own words back on them and finds our theater immeasurably superior.

"The Man Who Came to Dinner," the newest Kaufman-Hart opus, is now on display in Chicago. It should be seen, and it certainly should be read. Around the ample figure of Alexander Woolcott [who is not loath to create a hero legend about himself], the authors have strung a devastating collection of wise cracks. Sheridan Whiteside is this worthy's name in the play, and from his wheelchair entrance until the final curtain he discourses, plans, and parries with never a letdown.

"Skylark" was performed here last season with Gertrude Lawrence in the leading rôle. The play reads well. The dialog is not as rapid fire as that in "The Man Who Came to Dinner," for "Skylark" is a more subdued comedy of manners. It relates the troubles of a too successful advertising man, his wife, and the other man, who would have her forsake a security he regards false.

"Key Largo" is another of Maxwell Anderson's poetic dramas and is now being performed in New York. It is the story of a man who deserted from the loyalist force in the Spanish civil war, came to a Florida key, and there accepted the tragic challenge he had spurned before. Anderson's blank verse is sweeping and impressive. It should be read aloud.

In the past a criticism of William Saroyan might be that he was just rewriting his successful short story, "The Daring Young Man on the Flying Trapeze," in everything else he produced. This is not true of his new play, "The Time of Your Life." The scene is a San Francisco bar where all manner of men—and a few women—pass in review. There is really no action, just a parade of creatures. The play is something new in the American theater; it is arresting and important.

Tells Experiences

Rene Belbenoit, who writes of his experiences in a French penal colony in "Hell on Trial," reviewed below.

"Hell on Trial," by Rene Belbenoit. [Dutton, $3.] Published today.

To those who have known its tortures, the French penal colony in Guiana—which includes the notorious Devil's Island—is known as hell. Hence the title of "Hell on Trial," Rene Belbenoit's sequel to his best seller, "Dry Guillotine."

Here is the story of his trial when he returned to the colony, after a year's parole, only to have the vengeful penal administration sentence him to three more years at hard labor. Those last years form the framework on which Belbenoit hangs episodes, character studies, and biographies of less fortunate convicts. In reality this is a horror tale; unbelievable inhumanity and almost unbelievable accounts of known innocent men who are still in the penal colony and undoubtedly will die there. But even more, it is an indictment of France and the French legal and penal systems.

There are, to be sure, thousands of convicts who should be punished by society for breaking French laws. Belbenoit does not defend these, nor does he excuse his own conviction. It is with the inhuman punishment that he takes issue, piling fact upon fact. Once started, "Hell on Trial" will not be put aside until the final page.

Liberty's Birth Is Subjected to Brilliant Study

"The Wellsprings of Liberty," by Edouard Herriot. [Funk & Wagnalls, $2.50.]

BY MARCIA WINN.

Edouard Herriot, distinguished author as well as president of the French chamber of deputies, enhances his reputation in this brilliant, provocative analysis of the birth of liberty 150 years ago this year.

In this vigorous book Herriot admits that crimes were committed in the French revolution, but he cites the good emanating from that evil. He devotes a final appalled chapter to the threats menacing liberty and the democracies today.

The revolution, by applying "those principles which are so strangely ignored in Germany and Italy today," ended slavery and religious and racial prejudice in France, he writes. Moreover, he says, it had a dynamism of liberty which spread over the world. "Is it exhausted today?" he asks.

It gave birth, he points out, to a magnificent outburst of science, a true Renaissance of all types of intellectual activity. Never since, he says, has France produced an equally copious flowering of minds.

The present and the future trouble Herriot. He can justify the growth of National Socialism, for "the efforts toward liberty had not been prepared by toilsome thought," and Germany reverted to the principle of force on which she had been nurtured for centuries. Thus, he understands the Nazi spirit, but what, he writes, of Italy, built upon the Roman law, humanism, liberty, and culture?

To him, Fascism and Naziism are the "two conjoined enemies of the spirit of liberty," a reversion to the law of the jungle. They force the world into two roads, their way and the way of liberty. "Which of these two doctrines will triumph?" he demands. "Free men of the world, it is for you to answer."

Herriot's "The Wellsprings of Liberty" is fervent and thoughtful. Even in translation it is packed with the neat phrases and the crystal logic of the Frenchman and the statesman.

Danger on the Border

By FREDERICK R. BECHDOLT

[Copyright: 1939: By Frederick R. Bechdolt]

INSTALMENT XLV.

FREMONITION OF EVIL.

Anna had taken a chance and luck was with her.

But when she drove over the lonely stretch of road between the last houses of San Ilario and the long, flat-roofed adobe building where visitors came by night and no one every, showed his face in the daytime, she saw that luck had taken a turn, as it so often does.

There were three closed cars before the building. One of them she recognized as Kent's sedan. She saw the official insignia on the doors of the other two and she slammed on the brakes. She made a quick U-turn and drove away.

Every one for himself and the devil take the hindmost. She was on her own. And she had with her that senseless little form lying in the back of the sedan between the seats.

There was only one road out. It was the one which led into the east, to Nogales. And the town lay between. She followed very much the same route which Pat had traveled the night before, clinging to Leonard's arm. But she did not make the last turn which they had made, to the Casa Verdi. She passed the green house, a square away.

Now the road lay clear before her. She shoved down the accelerator.

"A woman took her away," Leonard repeated dully. "You say, they don't know where?"

Papago draped his lank frame upon the rear seat, the lids were drooping over his eyes, his long, weather-stained face was like a mask of weary indifference. More than one man had been deceived by that look of listlessness. He murmured,

"The woman came. They say she was a nurse, but they don't know her name. They didn't see her when she went away with Pat."

It was as if a cold hand were clutching Leonard's heart, slowing up his pulses. He knew, before the words were uttered, that the tidings were to be calamitous. And yet there was nothing in them, when he heard them, to justify his fear.

The sun was shining bright and hard. The world had an honest look this morning: there were no mysteries, every little object stood out clearly. The ordinary, every-day world: rows of white houses, and below them, the dingy buildings along the main street. Up there on the hillside, above the town, the gaunt headframe, the blacksmith shop, the neat quarters of the engineers, the change room. The skip shot into sight above the shaft collar and mounted the narrow tracks along the headframe.

Down on the flat to the southward, tall cottonwoods made a large patch of vivid green, and between the rows of trees the flat-roofed adobes of San Ilario looked like little blocks with which children amuse themselves. Two cars were speeding along the edge of the village; a pair of tan-colored bugs crawling among the children's blocks.

It was not a landscape to suggest hidden deeds or intrigue. And, if the girl whom he loved was in charge of a nurse, he should be thankful. If the nurse had removed her from the hospital, it could have only one meaning: there was no serious injury.

"Somehow," Papago murmured, "it don't look good to me."

The offices of the general manager of the Golconda Mining company were on the hillside a hundred feet away, a long, green, wooden building with a latticed porch in front. A man came out of the room where the auditing department kept the accounts and listed the monthly pay roll, a little man with blue eyes and a slight blond mustache that was not much larger than a bushy eyebrow. He came across the porch and stood in the entrance, his eyes rested on Papago's cut down car and its three passengers. He remained there for a moment, then he went back into the office and vanished in a telephone booth.

The little paymaster got his number. He was saying.

"Kent there? I want to speak with him." The voice of the Mexican stenographer mingled with the persistent humming on the wire.

"Mr. Kent was called out. No, I do not know where he is. No, he did not say when he is returning. Yes, I will tell him."

The paymaster hung up the receiver and went out into the long room where the typewriters and adding machines were making a noise like small arm fire. He stood there looking about him for a few moments, then he went to a desk phone on the company's local line.

"Give me the superintendent's office," he told the operator.

"Maybe the nurse took her to the hotel." Leonard was still frowning, it seemed as if he could not shake off that premonition of evil. "That's what she'd do, of course."

Papago said, "And yo' cain't affo'd to stick around here, yo' know. Fact is, yo' are plumb liable to run into trouble if yo' don't clear out of Golconda."

Papago turned his car into the main street.

"The chances is," he was saying, "that we'll find her in the hotel. A man gets into the habit of looking for trouble when the breaks are going agin him like they have with yo'."

The little car was making a good deal of noise. Some of those who were abroad on the sun-smitten sidewalks looked around when they heard the rattling of the canteen and the oil can on the floorboards. Two young fellows in wide-rimmed hats and overalls and high-heeled boots glanced at the passengers, and when they saw Leonard, one of them, whose receding chin gave suggestion of a rabbit, nudged his companion violently with his elbow. Then, without exchanging a word, they bolted into Kent's front office a few doors distant.

The Mexican stenographer was speaking into the phone: "No, Mr. Kent did not say when he is returning. Yes, I will tell him." She turned to the visitors: "You wish Mr. Kent? He is not in."

The man with the rabbit chin seized the telephone on her desk and called up the Golconda Mining company. He asked for the paymaster, but there was some delay for at that moment his party was talking to the superintendent on another wire.

. . . . . .

In San Ilario the cars that had looked from afar like tan-colored bugs—two dust smeared official cars bearing green and red insignia—had passed down the main street. Now they were parked by The Doctor's house on the village outskirts. Kent's dark sedan stood nearby.

Louis Mestres was sitting in the room of The Doctor's house where the gamblers had stood, some hours before, while he and Plutarcho watched them with weapons in their hands. But it was a different Louis Mestres from the gay bird of the night: the blue suit was lacking now, so were the pink shirt and the tan shoes with mother of pearl buttons.

It was a somewhat conservative Louis Mestres, who had but little in common with the ragged, dirty peon in front of the store at Copper City. He was wearing a two-piece suit of olive green and a khaki-colored shirt, his gray felt hat gave a suggestion of one of those offices wherein such hats are always to be seen on the heads of lean, sunburned men,—offices with rouges' gallery pictures on reward circulars adorning the walls. It was one of those hats, which, in the border country, are usually accompanied by a metal badge beneath the wearer's coat.

He was sitting on the edge of the canvas-covered table about which the poker players had been clustered, before Plutarcho smashed the front door last evening. He was conversing with an official of the Mexican constabulary whose suit of olive drab had a more military cut than his own.

In the next room others were talking. Their voices carried thru the partition. Questions that were as abrupt as the reports of rifles. Answers.

"It is—" Louis Mestres was talking in border Spanish—"lucky for us: Kent comes to this house just at the proper time. It is so much better that we have him to handle. Now, if he was arrested across the line by the sheriff—." He opened his hands, palms upward, and shrugged his shoulders.

Mrs. Josephine Ely Will Wed Uri B. Grannis

BY JUDITH CASS.

"MRS. JOHN HENRY HAMLINE of Lake Forest announces the engagement of her daughter, Mrs. Josephine Hamline Ely, to Uri Balcom Grannis, also of Lake Forest," reads the formal announcement that is being made this morning.

The announcement is one of the most interesting of the winter. Mrs. Ely and Mr. Grannis are both enormously popular and it is certain that every one who learns of their plans will say "How nice!" Second marriages always seem to elicit more interest than first ones, especially when the bride and bridegroom are a mature widow and widower with adult children.

Mrs. Ely, one of the youngest grandmothers in social circles, has three children: Jay Morse Ely, Mrs. Fred W. Fairman [Josephine Ely], and subdeb Adrienne, who is a student at Dobbs Ferry. Mr. and Mrs. Ely have a little daughter and so have the Fairmans. Both young couples live in Lake Forest.

Mr. Grannis has three sons, Dustin, Uri Jr., and William. Uri Grannis Jr.'s engagement to Miss Marjory Banks of New York City and Suffern, N. Y., was announced last Thursday. Mrs. Ely and Mr. Grannis plan to be married this week.

Prenuptial Parties for Miss Harmon.

A number of parties have been planned for a bride-to-be of Saturday, Miss Welthyan Harmon. Mrs. Paul G. Ware is giving a dinner tonight for Miss Harmon and her fiancé, John Crosby Brydon Jr. Dana Stone, who will be best man, is entertaining at cocktails tomorrow, preceding a dinner Mr. and Mrs. Albert Snite will give in Highland Park. Mrs. Snite is to be a bridesmaid.

The junior G. Malcolm McConnells will give a dinner at home in Evanston on Friday, following the wedding rehearsal. Mr. McConnell will be an usher. The wedding will take place at 4:30 o'clock in St. James' church. There will not be a reception. However, the families and wedding attendants will return to the apartment of the bride's parents, the Hubert Harmons, to drink a toast to Mr. Brydon and his bride.

The senior Mrs. Brydon is coming from Pittsburgh for the wedding. Mrs. Frederick Frazier is coming from New York. Mr. Brydon and his bride will live in Booneville, Ind.

Celeste Holm Will Be Bride in East.

Because the show, "The Time of Your Life," is having such a successful run in New York, one of its stars, Miss Celeste Holm, has had to give up plans to be married in Chicago. Instead her parents, the Theodore Holms, are leaving for New York today to attend the marriage on Sunday of pretty Miss Holm and Francis Emerson Harding Davies.

The ceremony is to take place in Woodstock, N. Y., at the Church of Christ on the Mount. Archbishop William K. Francis will read the service at 4 o'clock, and a reception will follow in his home. Only the Holms and the bride's grandparents, the Edmund Gale Jewetts of New York, will attend the wedding. Miss Jane Amar of Nyack, N. Y., is to be the only attendant. She and the bride will wear two gowns that were in Mrs. Holm's trousseau and which have been preserved because of the beautiful lace on them. It came from the lace collection of the actress, Clara Morris. The gowns are of a style that has returned to favor this winter.

Miss Holm attended the University School for Girls and then transferred to the Francis Parker school to study dramatics. She has been on the stage since graduation. Mr. Davies is a son of Arnold Thomas Davies of Dadmans, Lynsted, Kent, England. He was educated at Christ college, Oxford, taking his degrees in civil law.

Andrew of Evanston, formerly of Des Moines, Ia., are the infant's paternal grandparents.

Settlement Party Will Aid Baby Gail

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Adam Lapinski and her son, Gail, are regular visitors to the Northwestern University settlement, which will benefit from a theater party the men's board of the settlement is giving next Tuesday night. The men have taken over the Grand Opera house where "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" will open on Monday night. Baby Gail is one of the handsomest children cared for in the Infant Welfare clinic at the settlement. Tickets for the benefit may be obtained in room 1691, Board of Trade building, telephone Wabash 9556.

The Stage

Lillian Hellman's "The Children's Hour," an important drama whose professional showing was forbidden here by the city four years ago, will be given amateur performances by the Actors Company of Chicago on the evenings of Jan. 12, 13, 14, 19, 20 and 21. The little theater, seating 150, is on the fourth floor at 218 South Wabash avenue.

'ThreeCornered Hat' Special Joy of Ballet Stay

BY CECIL SMITH.

With the exception of "Ghost Town," last night's bill by the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo in the Auditorium theater departed wholly from the repertory already established in this engagement. Three favorite masterpieces were performed for the only time this season—"Carnival," "The Three Cornered Hat," and "The Afternoon of a Faun."

The return of "The Three Cornered Hat" constituted a special joy. Here, without doubt, is one of the supreme masterpieces of all modern ballet literature. For all the excellent talent that has gone into the decorative aspects of more recent productions, the Picasso sets, with their pale desert colors and simple suggestions of line drawing, and the Picasso costumes, glorious in fantastic detail yet wonderfully adapted to movement, remain at the top of the list. Likewise, the score by Manuel de Falla, at once primal and subtle in its native Spanish rhythms.

Leonide Massine's choreography for "The Three Cornered Hat" combines elegance with drollery, and by comparison makes his excellent new "Spanish Caprice" seem like a superficial rehash of the same thematic material. Mr. Massine's own dancing in the Miller's dance was utterly superb, with vital movement clear out to the tips of his fingers. The rest of the performance, unhappily, did not approximate his own standard, and suggested that a lot of exacting rehearsal will be needed to make both individual performances and ensemble as brilliant as they used to be.

The captivating "Carnival" found Roland Guerard in fine whimsical humor as Harlequin.

WEDDING

Mrs. Louis Rosenbluth of 1380 Hyde Park boulevard announces the marriage of her daughter, Jean Carolyn, to Stanley David Levy, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. David R. Levy, on Dec. 23 at the Shoreland hotel. The bride is a graduate of the University of Chicago. Mr. Levy attended the same university.

Ballet Troupe Brings Crush at Arts Club Tea

BY INDIA MOFFETT.

The largest crowd that has assembled at the Arts club since the new home of the club was opened about three years ago was there yesterday to meet the members of the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo.

There were two new shows on view, too, but it was the dancers who attracted attention; the pictures and sculpture will be there longer. Three hundred were at the party and it seemed as if every one of them was trying to have tea in the room where Leonide Massine and his wife and the other especial guests were enjoying tea or coffee or mulled wine.

"Do try some of this hot wine," suggested lovely Mme. Massine to her slight, youthful looking husband. "No, I'd rather have tea. I'm tired," he said. Which made us wonder again, as we do at every party of the sort, how much the persons for whom such affairs are given enjoy themselves.

There never is any question as to whether the hundreds of other guests have a good time, for they always do. But dancers, tired from rehearsing and posing for pictures earlier in the day, anticipating, most of them, a strenuous evening upon the stage of the Auditorium, must have been wearied by the enormous crowds milling around them.

They enjoy the interest, no doubt, of those who want to see and to meet them, but they must wish that there could be footlights, or ropes, or something to separate them from "their public." Not that any one of them hinted at such a thing yesterday for they all were gracious and most appreciative of the hospitality that was being extended to them.

It was a very gay party with a dozen of Chicago's most attractive young women assisting Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed and Miss Alice Roullier in introducing people to the dancers, and seeing that every one had a good time. The tea table was charming and unusual with a centerpiece of fruit and several stalks of rhubarb surmounted by crisp, young leaves. Mrs. Ernest A. Hamill II. decorated the table.

One of the youngest male dancers was 19 year old Howard Spurling, the only Chicagoan dancing with the troupe. Vincenzo Celli is the only other Chicagoan with the ballet and he is a maestro. Both of the Chicagoans joined the company in New York last September.

Every one wanted to see Danilova and Markova, two of the most popular ballerinas. Youskevitch and Freddie Franklin came in for a large share of attention, also. The youngest dancer in the troupe, 15 year old Virginia Wilcox, was there looking very cunning with a kerchief tied peasant fashion over her dark hair.

Some of the many who enjoyed the party were Mrs. Charles H. Swift, Mrs. Potter Palmer and Miss Pauline Palmer, Mrs. William B. Hale and Miss Mary Hale, Mrs. Gustavus F. Swift and the Misses Marie and Jane Swift, Mrs. Edward B. Smith, Mrs. Waldo Logan, Miss Sarah Hinde, Mrs. John R. Winterbotham, Mrs. John C. Murphy, Mrs. Charles S. Davis, Miss Narcissa Swift, Mrs. John P. Welling, Mrs. Robert Pirie, Mrs. Howard W. Fenton, Mrs. Edward A. Leight and Miss Clara Lake.

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

Behind the Scenes.

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 2.—Something to file away in memory: 92,000 people at the Rose bowl game singing "Auld Lang Syne." . . . West coast football gets more sentiment into football than any other area of the country.

Marriage item: Binnie Barnes, excellent British comedienne, will wed Mike Frankovich, football broadcaster, on the 26th of this month.

You'd imagine offhand that glamorous Marlene Dietrich would have spent New Year's drinking champagne in a gilded night club. . . . Miss Dietrich, however, spent it in bed, suffering from an attack of the flu.

A crowd of us, at the Ralph Blum house party, called her up to wish the season's greetings. . . . Bob Taylor, Barbara Stanwyck, Joan Blondell, Dick Powell, Joe Pasternak, Mary Livingstone, Binnie Barnes, and Jack Benny all delivered their telephonic greetings.

Dick Powell, just signed by Universal as a result of his terrific grosses on a personal appearance tour of New York, Chicago, and Buffalo, intends to make these vaudeville tours an annual feature. . . . "This town had me down," confesses Dick. "I was about ready to throw in the sponge. Then I went into vaudeville and the fans were so darned nice that they gave me new mental perspective. I've never felt better, mentally, than I do right now, and from now on, believe me, I'm going to get away from Hollywood regularly and meet the other half of the country."

I've tried to tell that to other movie performers. Perhaps Powell's flat statement will convince them of the value of traveling around the country and meeting John Public face to face, because John is a pretty nice sort of guy.

Inside item: Don't be too surprised if Floyd Odlum arrives in Hollywood to take over the active management of RKO within a few months.

Chatting with O. B. Keeler, in the Rose bowl press box, about Atlanta's Robert Tyre Jones, who has startled the world of sport by falling so far away from form that he is now taking lessons at the game which he once ruled.

If Babe Ruth took lessons in hitting, if Spencer Tracy took lessons in acting, if Tilden took lessons in tennis, or if Earl Sande suddenly enrolled in a riding academy to learn how to ride a horse, the shock would be no more intense than Bobby Jones taking lessons at golf.

I asked Keeler, who was Jones' Boswell during Bobby's championship reign, what had happened to the great star's play. . . . "The movies did it," he said. . . . I thought he meant that Bobby had been overwhelmed by double features. . . . "Remember when he came out to Hollywood to make those golf shorts," asked O. B. "Well, he started studying every action he made on the screen, and it ruined his swing. He became too analytical. He started to apply reason to things he did from instinct and his game went to pieces."

The movies have been blamed for pretty nearly everything: Now look what they did to Bobby . . . and only shorts, at that.

As 1940 arrived in Hollywood, I sat next to Mrs. Basil Rathbone at a dinner party and was interested in hearing her high praise of three movie actresses who are not generally advertised for their charity. . . . The Rathbone party was rained out, and as a result, 900 guests had to be seated indoors at the last minute. . . .

[Acme Photo.]

Rain spoils Mrs. Rathbone's annual party for charity.

Two hundred people crashed the gate and usurped tables that had been reserved and paid for. . . . When Bette Davis arrived, her table had been grabbed by gate-crashers in dinner jackets and gowns . . . so Bette went down to the bar and had her dinner served there.

"The next day, I received the loveliest letter from her," said Mrs. Rathbone. . . . "Instead of complaining, she was full of sympathy for our misfortune. I knew that she was a fine actress; I never had the opportunity of knowing before that she was such a splendid girl."

Joan Crawford, says Mrs. Rathbone, is one of the most liberal persons in the colony for any charitable project. . . . "She called me up first and asked if I could send her 50 tickets, at $10 apiece. Three days later she called back and said that she could dispose of 25 more. Joan turned in $750 to the fund.

"Another girl who is simply grand is Janet Gaynor. After taking a table, she sent me $100 the next day because she felt that the rain had caused us to lose a lot of money." . . . Rosalind Russell is still another. Bet your bottom dollar on 'Ros'. She's as fine as they come."

If it had not been for Bette Davis, Joan Crawford, Janet Gaynor and Rosalind Russell, I'm afraid that Mrs. Rathbone's opinion of Hollywood charity would not be too high, at this instant. . . . She says that she never will give another party, that this last one cured her.

I can understand that reaction, because she worked and slaved to make a success of it for charity, and it was a trifle cruel to hear the acid remarks of those who seemed to enjoy her discomfiture when it rained, wrecking weeks of solid work, extraordinary enthusiasm and unusual administrative ability.

The Housewife

Do you have a semi-invalid in your family, some one who spends a lot of time in bed, or some one who likes to read in bed? That person would like one of the good looking and very comfortable back rests that come in a moirelike fabric. Colors are pink, blue, turquoise, or yellow. The rest consists of a frame like the top part of a deck chair, with the fabric stretched over it. It is light weight, not a bit clumsy, and is so much more comfortable than piling up pillows for a back support.

Exhibit Traces Ozenfant's Turn to Modernism

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The Arts club is starting the new year with two exhibitions. In the large gallery and the adjoining two small rooms are paintings by Amedee Ozenfant, one of the important names in modern art; in the last gallery are pieces of sculpture by artists of distinction—Matisse, Degas, and Gauguin, among others.

The Ozenfant pictures are fascinating. The artist's climb or descent [this will depend upon your point of view] from the fresh and picturesque landscapes of 1906, which run true to type in the best French tradition, to the mechanized horror of "Life" [1931-1938], and the oddity in paint-sculpture which he relished during the 1930 decade, is extremely interesting.

Between the years 1906 and 1938 lie a multitude of changes. These years, particularly from 1920, are the transition years from the academic to the modernist school of art. You will find abstractions in the exhibit and several delightful plays upon the themes of pipe and wine. The painter favors champagne, for its bubbles, and a thin, white clay pipe which lends itself engagingly to various designs. His pictures in raised paint are more or less a novelty in Chicago. The "Pipe, Rose and White" is by far the most delicate and sensitive of the paint-sculptures.

The thick paint, a modeling in paint, is carried to its limit in "The Sleepers" and "The Lovers." It persists in several other canvases and reaches a grotesque finale in "Lake Side." This group of pictures is dated 1930 and 1931. The single later glimpse of Ozenfant's progress is vouchsafed in the huge mural, "Life," which is a nightmare of robots, the epitome of a mechanized civilization in which humanity has lost all human qualities.

The "Sculpture by Painters" is a much less depressing affair. Kathe Kollwitz shows two superb pieces, "Self Portrait" and "Mother and Child." The Degas group is interesting and diversified; the Matisse "Seated Woman" is ugly [running true to form] and the Modigliani "Head of a Woman," tall and thin. The "Mother and Child" by Renoir is delightful, and the portraits in bronze by Daumier are as telling and clever as his lithographs—high praise.

Soft Woolens Stay Home or Travel South

BY RHEA SEEGER.

All kinds of enterprising stay-at-homes get into stunning new tweed suits to make up for the necessity of staying with snow and ice and winter weather while the less sturdy souls pack and go south. And the pastel woolens presented for southbound luggage make quite a dash under contrasting colored fur coats or winter cloth coat trimmed with fur or, for the third alternate top, that of swanky windproof tweed or fleecy wool swagger topcoat.

Precisely cut and meticulously tailored wool twosomes now on display are made of the loveliest of soft woolens, not a scratchy texture in the lot. Delectable pastel colors, without being too much within t e confectionery lineup, come in monotones in huge, effective plaids or checks. Powdery pink and blue crossed with a pale yellow or mint green, raspberry, misty mauve, and jade green, a good mix-up of beige tints, together with the always good diagonal and chevron effects.

Pockets are banded with bias cut strips of the same material. Tailored details are as impeccably trim and sharp as those on masculine jackets and all streamlines are something to rave about. Most of the skirts have a flare achieved with four slightly circular cut gores. Others have flatly pressed action pleats where they'll do the most good. Some of the skirts have pigskin belts that slide thru self material slots, to accentuate the normal waistline while a portion of the skirt extends just above the belt line.

Beige and dark brown, green and lighter green, and a few blue mixtures are featured in the diagonals and chevron effects while the plaids and checks come in pastels and the prim beige and grays. Monotone flannels in grand shades of gray, yellow, interesting and flattering shades of green, beige, aquamarine blue as well as clear bonbon shades (with pink as a leader) assure a wide color range from which to select the right midwinter color relief for the dark outer coat and costume accessories. These collections are complete now, but they are destined for a speedy rush of shoppers.

Keep Child Out of Class Until Strong Again

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

There was a barbarous time in the annals of medicine when a patient with fever cried with parched lips for water and was denied it! Happily those days are no more.

Then, for a long time, "starve a fever" was the unbroken rule. A temperature and liquid diet went hand in hand.

All this is a preface to some suggestions I'd like to make in regard to the children's colds. To begin with, I'd like to quote a doctor with children of his own who was attending a little girl who was coming down with a heavy cold:

"And don't let her go back to school too soon," he said to her mother. "I usually like them to stay in bed one day after their temperature has been normal for 24 hours. Then one day, dressed, around the house. And then a day in and out of the house before they go back to school.

"I have no patience with this giving of prizes to the class with the best attendance. It makes many children go back to school before they should. If I had to choose, I'd rather see them give a prize for the class with the poorest attendance."

When your children have had colds or grippe don't make them get up or go back to school too soon. The one big thing that gives nature her chance to fight germs is rest. Children need a chance to "come back" after a cold. They need extra rest and extra nourishment.

And remember, if your child is of school age, that being up and around at home is a different thing from being back at school. Besides the actual getting there, there is the mental effort of lessons [and this uses up much more actual energy than most people realize], there is the going up and down stairs, and the chance of draughts and uneven temperature.

Northwestern Gifts 9 Million in Year; Set Two Records

Gifts of $9,203,104, the largest amount ever received in a single year, were made to Northwestern university during 1939. More than 8,100 persons, the largest number in the university's history, contributed. Of these 8,033 alumni, representing 17 per cent of all living alumni, were donors.

The largest gift was $6,735,000 from the Walter P. Murphy foundation for establishment of a technological institute which will train 800 students in engineering. They will spend alternate periods in the classroom and in industry. The estate of Clara A. Abbott, widow of Dr. Wallace Abbott, founder of the Abbott laboratories, provided $1,500,000 for research in medical, chemical, and surgical science.

A total of $700,000 was raised by popular subscription to honor Dr. Walter Dill Scott on his retirement as president. This money is being used to erect and endow Scott hall as a student center and community auditorium. Alumni contributions of $153,625 were largely to this fund.

Cuff Notes.

(The ones that weren't there.)

Who was it told me on New Year's day that he was writing a book? Was it Charles Butterworth? What was that story that was funny and printable? Paul Draper said his own favorite tap dancing number was . . . well, what was it? A Cuban one, I think. . . . It was Henry Monroe who commented that there is a John Body in the telephone directory, and could his middle name be Brown? . . . That was a Siamese prince friends brought to the Monroes' New Year's day party—a Siamese prince who had a Russian mother and who is in this country studying police administration at Lansing, Mich. Sounds as if I might be wrong again. Anyway, he felt at home in the lovely Monroe apartment, filled with oriental treasures. . . . Another pleasant memory, Peggy Harvey's pretty face above the pale pink frill and pale pink fresh rose that topped the black velvet gown in which she received guests at their Tom and Jerry party. . . . Was Robert Benchley there or wasn't he?

• • •

Benchley arrived in town New Year's eve on his way east (or was it west?) and friends tore up his tickets, so he stayed over. A scout reports the conversation between Benchley and a young woman sitting between him and Ernest Byfield. Orchestra men had whistled a phrase. "Am I whistling?" the young woman asked. "When I hear whistling I never know whether it's me doing it." And Benchley told her, "Next time eat something when you hear whistling and you can tell whether it's you or not."

• • •

Benchley told of a friend who had attended Gone with the Wind with her husband (seeing time three hours and forty-five minutes).

"It's the longest time my husband has been on the wagon in eight years," she said afterward.

Willie and Eugene Howard of George White's Scandals are thinking of heading a movement for taking Equity action against those singing messenger boys. If they had musical accompaniment maybe we could get Mr. Petrillo into the gag. . . . Worst joke of the New Year, what one hat sitting on a closet shelf said to another: "You wait here; I'm going on a head." . . . Most ridiculous New Year's resolution, the one Miss Helen Kolb overheard in the adjacent booth at the beauty salon: "I've made a resolution to cut my husband's and my son's hair myself this year. That way I'll have money enough for two permanents during the year."

• • •

A man in evening clothes, high hat in his hand, walked across the stage in the middle of the Bacchanale at the Russian ballet New Year's eve. It being the Dali number, he didn't look too unexpected. However, he was a mistake. Turned out it was the Jugo-Slavian consul who had gone back stage to see Mia Slavenska and got lost. Good thing it wasn't during Lac de Cygnes on the same bill, tho.

Face Still Is the Fortune of Any Woman

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"No woman can afford to be casual about her face. Trite as the expression may be, 'her face still is her fortune!'"

That's the word of the lovely star, Johanna Roos, who played the part of Mary Todd, Lincoln's wife, in "Abe Lincoln in Illinois."

Miss Roos speaks in stage terms when she asks what kind of performance you're turning in with your face! But isn't that what nonprofessionals try to do, or should be trying to do—turning in a good facial act? We think so! Some women, indeed, are stars of first caliber in this connection. Even with what might be termed facial liabilities. They work their "lines," emphasizing here, playing them down there, giving a lilt to mouth corners and so on. Indeed, it is a good idea to think of one's face in terms of the performance it is turning in for the enjoyment of its public. Every face has its public.

A good performance starts with a well cleaned face and makeup applied to enhance the best in every feature.

Be Cautious About Telling You're in Love

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"Dear Miss Blake: I'm tired of a girl with whom I've been going, and don't know how to break away from her without hurting her feelings. When we first started going together I thought I loved her and told her so. Now I realize that I don't. She loves me, and I don't want to cause her undue suffering by being too cruel to her. J. S."

We're glad you're giving serious thought to such a problem, for we fear too few men, when they tire of women, are as thoughtful. They just break away from women with no explanation. Often, as the result, women either become cynical in their attitude toward love, or they become disappointed old maids.

No one can help it if feelings change toward another person, so handle the situation as a gentleman should. Tell the girl how much you admire and respect her. Tell her, too, that altho you are fond of her you do not love her. Ask her if she would like to continue being good friends, for you'd like to have her for one. If she takes your confession too hard, you can continue to see her for a while, and then break away from her gradually. By advising you thus we are, of course, taking for granted that the girl will not want to give you up until she sees that her love is hopeless. It may be that your girl's pride will be so hurt that she will not want to see you again. If so, you can do nothing more about the situation, but you will at least have the satisfaction of knowing you have conducted yourself as a gentleman.

The next time, tho, that you think you're in love, don't be so hasty about admitting it. Wait a while, before you confess, to make sure your heart beats are not betraying you.

Piano Playing of Rubinstein Has Everything

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Critics love to leave a wildly applauding hallful of people, return to their typewriters, and coldly list a number of defects which the wild applauders had not noticed. They love, too, to print a few helpful suggestions for the artist.

This particular critic is stumped this morning after Artur Rubinstein's Orchestra hall recital of last evening. He cannot find anything wrong with the performance and cannot for the life of him be the least bit helpful to Mr. Rubinstein. For this was dazzling piano playing, probably the most exciting that the present day world offers.

In the music of Bach, Beethoven, Chopin, and the moderns Mr. Rubinstein proved again that he has everything. Here was a technique that laughs at difficulties bent to the service of a flaming musical imagination.

A few highlights of the evening:

The steely vigor of the "Petrouchka" opening and the incredible rhythmic zoom which the dance developed. The almost orchestral sonority and tonal variety of the same piece.

The majesty of the chordal theme in the Chopin C-sharp minor scherzo, and the silvery smoothness of the descending runs that break it. The humor and the cleanness of the Shostakovich polka. The grandeur of the pianist's delivery of the Bach prelude.

The wonderful ring in his recurring announcements of the theme of the last movement of the Beethoven "Farewell" sonata. The eloquence of the same work's opening measures.

The glorious way in which the theme of the Chopin F-sharp nocturne seemed to flower of itself at its final statement. The tonal loveliness of the entire piece—a loveliness which could not have been the result of mere calculation but came as a result of the pianist's complete absorption in the music at the actual moment of performance.

Mr. Rubinstein's recital was the fourth in the Musical Arts series of the Adult Education council.

Ask Return of Cards in Charity Fund Campaign

The Community fund is $95,000 short of its goal of $3,611,000. Pledge cards from persons who contributed $116,000 in the last campaign are still outstanding. These figures were revealed yesterday by George A. Ranney, president of the fund; A. H. Mellinger, general chairman, and Mark A. Brown chairman of the industrial division. Brown urged action from pledge card holders for a speedy completion of the campaign.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

One of the minor tragedies for the women who step out a good bit during the social season is the appearance [always sudden and always badly timed] of a blemish on face, back, or arms. It almost always happens that when you want to look your best you pop out with a maddening little pimple. And, sadly enough, it invariably seems to happen to the youngsters on the fateful occasions when they wear their first evening dress. We've always wondered whether sheer excitement might not have something to do with it.

A "spot-stick" is the solution. Personally, we feel no woman should be without one. This is a heavy cream in stick form. It conceals the blemish perfectly. All you do is apply the stick cream directly on the mole or pimple; it is not rubbed, but the edges are lightly patted to fade the cream into the skin. Then the whole area is literally dried with powder. It works wonderfully; many's the time in a picture taking session that it has been put to good use in our establishment! The little red spot that was such an eyesore is perfectly camouflaged in just a moment.

The cream stick is in three shades—good skin tone shades—light, medium, and dark. The cream in this stick is a famous one, developed by a young woman who herself had an ugly birthmark. For those with large, heavy blemishes the cream rather than the stick form is more practical—but for the troublesome occasional mole or pimple the little stick is invaluable.

It's in an attractive, convenient little chromium and white swivel container that looks like a lipstick and fits just as handily into purse or evening bag.

Fried salt pork with cream gravy and baked potatoes is an old-fashioned country dinner, but it's such an appetizing one that city folks wonder why they've forgotten it for so long.

Fry the sliced salt pork until golden brown while the potatoes are baking and use pork drippings to make the gravy. You'll probably want 2 cups of gravy for a family of four. Cream gravy on baked potatoes is so good that half a cup per person is not too much to allow.

To make it, blend 4 tablespoons of the pork fat left in the pan with 4 tablespoons flour, and stir for a minute in the skillet. Then add gradually 2 cups of milk, stirring constantly so that the gravy will be smooth as it thickens. Cook gravy for 8 or 10 minutes, and add a sprinkling of pepper. It probably will not be necessary to add salt.

Fresh, canned, or frozen spinach may be used to make the vegetable accompaniment listed in the menu for tomorrow night's dinner. Fresh spinach can't be excelled for texture and flavor, but requires a great deal of washing and looking over, so if the time is limited, one of the prepared vegetables is a better choice.

SPINACH WITH BROWNED CRUMBS, LEMON AND BUTTER

Melt 4 tablespoons butter in a saucepan and add ½ cup fine, dry bread crumbs. Let them brown until golden, add 1 can spinach, 1 package cooked, frozen spinach, or 1 pound fresh spinach, cooked. Stir into crumbs and let the spinach become thoroly hot. Add 2 tablespoons lemon juice, salt and pepper to season.

In cooking frozen spinach, follow directions on the package. Fresh spinach may be cooked in the water which clings to the leaves, or may be steamed successfully. But it shouldn't be overcooked.

APRICOT SNOWDRIFT SALAD.

For each salad arrange three halves of canned apricot on chicory. Fill with cream cheese which has been beaten until fluffy with a little of the apricot juice. Top with French dressing.

Cranberry Pie
[9 inch]

Pastry for lower crust and lattice strips
4 cups [1 pound] cranberries
2 tablespoons ater
1¾-2 cups sugar
3 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon melted butter

Chop cranberries and add other ingredients. Fill pastry shell, cover with lattice strips, and bake at 450 degrees for 10 minutes, then at 375 degrees for 25 minutes longer.

Knitted Sweater

BY JEAN MACDONALD.

Preparations will be starting immediately for the collection of a travel wardrobe for the warm and sunny climates. Lightweight sweaters are included with suits or separate skirts. A delicate peach blossom crêpe knitted with a rather novel treatment should prove more than popular with every feminine traveler. The waistband is in a horizontal manner as a deviation from the usual ribbing. The neck is high and the sleeves are short. The opening in back is fastened with a narrow crocheted band which forms a flat bow.

For instructions in knitting the sweater with the horizontal waistband, No. X-396, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 8th avenue, New York City.

Useful Two-Piece Costume

WOMAN'S AND MISS' TWO PIECE.

This pattern may make a two piece dress or suit, or it may fashion two versatile wardrobe items never intended for wear with each other! In other words, you may have an ensemble or a blouse and skirt to take their useful places in your collection, to rescue last year's orphaned skirts and blouses. Silks, woolen, combinations of both, and washable silks and cottons are the fabrics to consider at this time of year, the latter particularly if there is a southern trip in the offing.

Need a new hat? Pattern No. 2567, available for 10 cents extra, makes a pretty, knotted turban.

Style No. 3101 is designed for sizes 12, 14, and 16, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 2 yards of 39 inch material for skirt; 1⅛ yards of 39 inch for long sleeved blouse; ¼ yard of contrasting for collar.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

No player can gauge his own defensive ability until he comes up against an expert declarer. In the average catch-as-catch-can games defensive errors, or even slight "slips," rarely come to light because the declarer just as rarely capitalizes them. Take today's hand, for example. The vulnerable slam was defeated, hence East-West probably will never know that their defense was bad and that it should have resulted in a fulfilled contract.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	2 diam.	2 spades	3 diam.
4 no trump	Pass	5 spades	Pass
6 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

The moment South received a free raise from his partner he determined to reach a slam, and I can't say that I blame him. Actually, North's raise, made directly over an intervening bid, was far from good, based as it was on virtually nothing but five trumps. A delayed raise would have been much better tactics.

West opened the diamond king and continued with the queen, East highlowing. Declarer ruffed and, apparently deciding that his fate hung squarely on the division of the heart suit, drew trumps and led three rounds of hearts, hoping that his fourth heart would "stand up" and permit him to discard a club from dummy. This fortunate break not materializing, declarer had to surrender and solace himself by bawling out his partner for his "rotten" raise.

As a matter of fact, the contract was ice cold after the first two leads. All declarer had to do was ruff the second diamond, cash the ace-king of spades, dropping East's queen, enter dummy with a heart, ruff dummy's last diamond, cash the club ace, then lead his last trump to dummy's jack. Now dummy still would have two trumps, two hearts, and the club ten. East would be out of the running. Declarer would have the A-Q-6 of hearts and the J-5 of clubs. West's holding would be the J-10-8 of hearts and the K-Q of clubs. Dummy would play a trump, South would discard a club, and West would let go the club queen. But now the lead of the last trump [South discarding the club jack] would ruin West. If he let go a heart all of declarer's hearts would be good; to discard the club king would establish dummy's club ten.

Thus, it will be seen, declarer passed up a glorious opportunity to fulfill his slam contract. But, by the same token, it was only thru the continuation of diamonds at the second trick that this opportunity was afforded. The defenders should have realized that, on the bidding, it was a hundred to one against declarer's having another diamond. To lead a second round and permit him to ruff would, in a case of this type, be playing directly into his hands. Usually it is not bad bridge to force the declarer to ruff, but in a hand such as this, in which dummy has a profusion of trumps, it is unwise to let the declarer make his own trumps separately, and then convert dummy into the master trump hand. If East had overtaken the diamond king and shifted to a club [the proper line of defense], or if West, after holding the diamond king, had shifted to a heart or a club, declarer never would have had a chance to use his own trumps on dummy's diamonds and thereby turn the play into a squeeze on West.

DYKSTRA DEFENDS WESTERN CONFERENCE FOOTBALL

U. OF WISCONSIN PRESIDENT TELLS BADGERS' STAND

Replies to Maroon Spokesman.

[This is the first of a series of interviews with presidents of middle western universities on intercollegiate football.]

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Madison, Wis., Jan. 2.—"If the disadvantages of intercollegiate football ever outnumber the advantages of the competition, I am certain the University of Wisconsin would drop the sport without hesitation."

With this sentence Clarence A. Dykstra, president of the university, this afternoon unhesitatingly challenged the assumption of a spokesman for the trustees of the University of Chicago that other universities "cannot abandon their present practices [recruiting and subsidizing], honest or not, to maintain strong, winning football teams" because the universities "have huge debts for stadiums, gymnasiums, or nonsport buildings, for retirement of which they depend on their football income."

Faculty Men Determine Policy.

Last month the trustees of the University of Chicago voted to discontinue intercollegiate football. Chicago's future athletic relationship with the Western conference will be discussed at the next meeting of the faculty committee.

The athletic policies of the Western conference are determined by the faculty committee, composed of one representative from each of the ten university faculties. They act with the advice of the directors of athletics. They are appointed for indeterminate terms by their respective presidents and are responsible to them. In final analysis, of course, the regents or trustees of each university determine all policies.

In our conversation it is quite likely that President Dykstra would not have given particular thought to financial benefits of intercollegiate football. Certainly he had no idea that the University of Wisconsin could not drop football because its income was needed until we proposed the question.

Fieldhouse Only Debt.

The only indebtedness is on the university fieldhouse, for Camp Randall stadium has been built by sections and paid for as each was completed. Basketball is operated without loss and intercollegiate boxing shows a profit. Other intercollegiate competition programs are paid for from these profits. The athletic department is charged a rental of $25,000 annually for the fieldhouse, which incidentally, serves the student body far more than the varsity athletes competing in track and in basketball.

"If intercollegiate football were dropped," President Dykstra replied to our hypothetical question, "this $25,000 rental charge merely would be incorporated in the university budget. Furthermore, as far as I can see, the entire staff of coaches and instructors would be retained. Coaching is not the only duty these men have. Harry Stuhldreher would continue to head the department and the staff would continue to direct the physical education and intramural program.

Speaks for Badgers.

"There may be some universities which can rightly be called football institutions, but under the system of faculty control in the Western conference I am certain that Wisconsin is not playing crooked and do not believe we need to."

President Dykstra's denial that Wisconsin did not observe the conference regulations, or evaded them, was in direct comment on the quoted charge of the unidentified spokesman for the University of Chicago, who said, "You can't play Big Ten football without being crooked, as far as the league's rules are concerned, and they [the trustees] did not want the University of Chicago to be crooked."

It might be well to insert here the general propositions under which the Western conference conducts intercollegiate athletics. In the first place, control and responsibility rest with the universities and athletes are admitted on the same basis as any other student. They observe and maintain the same scholastic standards.

For Regular Scholarships.

Charges of recruiting generally rest on alleged violations of agreements concerning aid for athletes. President Dykstra emphatically is in accord with control of aid that permits award of scholarships only thru the regular agency supervised by the university for granting aid to all students. Other regulations are:

No aid shall be awarded to an athlete from college funds except thru the regular college channels.

No athlete shall receive aid other than payment for legitimate employment from athletic funds, directly or indirectly.

No athlete shall be deprived of

New York Rangers, 6; Boston, 4.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 2 (AP).—The high flying New York Rangers came from behind twice while extending their string of unbeaten games to 15 with a 6 to 4 triumph over the Boston Bruins tonight before a near capacity crowd of 15,502 in the Boston Garden.

The victory enabled the Rangers to move into a three cornered tie with the Bruins and Toronto Maple Leafs for first place in the National Hockey league.

Trail by 3 to 1 Score.

The Rangers outskated the Stanley cup champions from start to finish despite the fact they did not gain the lead until after more than a half hour of play. Penalties and defensive mistakes forced the Bruins to surrender 3 to 1 and 3 to 2 leads.

Halfway thru the second period Rookie Kilby MacDonald provided a pair of rapid fire goals that put the Rangers into a 4 to 3 lead, and offset the Boston counters registered by Red Hamill, Bill Hollett, and Milt Schmidt. When the Bruins overpressed soon after, Phil Watson trapped them and fed the puck to Ott Heller for the fifth Ranger tally.

Both Score in Third Period.

Both sides scored in the final period, Bryan Hextall for the Rangers and Dit Clapper for the Bruins. The Bruins spent the last eight minutes in a frantic but futile assault on Davey Kerr's cage.

Neal Colville put the Rangers into a 1 to 1 tie in the first period, and during the opening minute of the second, with Hollett in the penalty box, Dutch Hiller converted Lynn Patrick's assist into a 2 to 2 deadlock that Schmidt ended within four minutes. Lineups:

Rule Blocks U. S. C. Game for Charity

New Orleans, La., Jan. 2 (AP).—Possibility of a bowl game to eclipse all bowl games—Texas Aggies vs. Southern California—faded today but dreamers kept up their speculative talk.

Out of the Aggies' triumph over Tulane in the Sugar bowl and Southern California's rout of Tennessee in the Rose bowl, arose talk of the charity game.

Officially, Texas A. & M. authorities believed only such a thing as a presidential command could bring the teams together in the suggested game with receipts to go to a Finnish war relief fund.

Aggies Anxious to Play.

Unofficially, Aggie coaches and players chorused their feelings with: "We love to play football."

Athletic Director Willis O. Hunter of Southern California said Pacific coast conference rules prohibit division of gate receipts with a third party, explaining:

"Worthy as the Finnish relief cause might be, it would be necessary to obtain conference approval before we could act on such a proposal." He added any formal proposal would be considered.

Approach Herbert Hoover.

It became known today that former President Herbert Hoover, directing a Finnish relief drive, had been approached on the matter of matching the Rose and Sugar bowl winners, and had expressed an opinion that it would be interesting but felt it would be difficult, if not impossible, to arrange such a postseason game.

Football gossipers, still praising the power Texas A. & M. displayed yesterday in beating a Tulane club that had played perhaps the toughest schedule of any of the nation's unbeaten teams, could speculate on what might have happened if the Aggies and Southern California were matched on the same field.

Opinion was strong that the Aggies' margin over Tulane was considerably wider than indicated by the lone point that brought a 14 to 13 victory.

Kimbrough Impressive.

Big John Kimbrough, full back, gained better than 180 yards himself in a pile driving demonstration that flattened Tulane's renowned defense.

Southern California humbled Tennessee, 14 to 0, smashing the Vols' 15 game record of an uncrossed goal line.

Meanwhile, it might be appropriate to break the incredible news the Aggies left behind them when they headed back for the Texas plains—they'll be even greater next season!

Eight of the regulars will be back in harness, including Kimbrough, Marshall Foch Bobnett, Derace Moser and the fine blocking back, Jim Thomason.

Three outstanding men will be missing—Walemon Price, Joe Boyd, and Herb Smith. Their absence will be felt, but capable replacements are available and the greatest freshman team in A. & M. history is sending up a flock of exceptional players.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 2 [Special].—Wisconsin's basketball team wound up a disappointing preconference schedule by losing to Stanford, 39 to 26, in the fieldhouse tonight.

Led by Don Williams at forward and Ken Davidson at guard—Stanford rolled away to an early lead while the Badgers fumbled, shot wildly, and in general showed the effects of the holiday vacation.

Wisconsin went 13½ minutes before Gene Englund broke the field goal famine with a short shot. The Badgers made only two out of 43 attempts from the field during the first Three Are Ejected.

Meanwhile, Stanford rolled into a 27 to 8 lead at the end of the first period with Williams, Davidson and Bill Cowden leading the attack. Bob Schwartz led a Wisconsin rally in the second half, when he accounted for 10 points, but it fell far short of pushing the winners.

What the game lacked in finesse it more than made up in roughness. Three players, Gene Englund and Walt Anderson of the Badgers and Cowden of Stanford, were ejected because of too many personal fouls.

Tonight's loss was the fourth straight for Wisconsin After defeating Carleton and Marquette here, the Badgers lost to Notre Dame, Marquette, and Nebraska before tonight's setback. Lineups:

PURDUE NEXT AT N. U.

Boasting a record of five consecutive victories, Northwestern's basketball team will open the Big Ten season against Purdue in Patten gymnasium Saturday night.

In defeating Carleton, Washington State, Pittsburgh, Princeton, and Notre Dame, the Wildcats compiled their best preconference record of recent years. They scored 199 points, an average of 39 4-5 per game, while holding opponents to 139 points, an average of 27 4-5 per game.

The Wildcats owe much of their success to Dick Klein, 6 foot 3 inch sophomore center, who leads the team in scoring with 60 points. He hit his scoring peak against Notre Dame last Saturday when he made 21 points on seven field goals and seven free throws. He scored 17 points against Washington State, 8 against Carleton and 7 each against Pittsburgh and Princeton.

Wildcat Lineup Set.

Northwestern comes up to its opening conference game with its starting lineup definitely set. In addition to Klein, the other starters are Les Harman and Don Kruger, forwards, and Capt. Ad Vance and Bob Sheppard, guards. All except Klein and Kruger are letter men.

Purdue will present one of its typically strong quintets with veterans predominating in key positions. In seven games, the Boilermakers won five and lost two, dropping close decisions to Southern California and De Paul.

Two Pairs of Silver Skates, Please

Brother and Sister Bid for Silver Skates

Pete and Shirley Klaris of the Catholic Youth Organization might be related to Hans Brinker of the famous Silver Skates story. They can't trace their Dutch family tree back far enough to prove it, but they skate like this story book character.

In the modern version of the Silver Skates race, Shirley and Pete are confident they will be successful on the Garfield park lagoon on Jan. 13 and 14 when THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE sponsors its 1940 renewal of the ice tournament. Pete will try for the men's senior skates, Shirley will compete for the girls' intermediate award.

Bid for Title Last Winter.

There are few skaters so determined to win as these two south side youngsters. And there are few with so many friends who would like to see them succeed in their Silver Skates efforts. Pete reached the semifinals last season before he was eliminated, while Shirley's chances ended when she fell in the final event.

This sister and brother combination is in rare form this season. In the opening events the last week-end, each scored victories. Shirley scored in the Illinois Derby in Waveland park Sunday when she won the girls' intermediate 440 yard dash, defeating the highly regarded Loraine [Bunny] Lawler. She repeated in the city championships on New Year's day in Humboldt park by winning the 440 with the fast time of 48.4 seconds. Pete won the men's Class B mile on Sunday and was a close second on the Jan. 1 program.

Pete Eyes the Movies.

As a lark, Pete and Shirley like to put on their Dutch costumes and ancient Holland skates and scoot around in typical Hans Brinker fashion. They have given their act at many ice carnivals around Chicago.

Pete works in the Illinois Continental bank, models clothes in his spare time and wants to be a movie actor. He's a handsome chap with curly blond hair and is 24 years old. Shirley, 16, is a junior student at Fenger high. She is interested in civic problems and as secretary of Fenger's 400 members of the Junior Citizens club and treasurer of the Alfa Tri-Hi-Y sorority, is a busy young lady when she isn't practicing ice skating.

Resolutions.

Last year I made some resolutions,
Resolved quite firmly that I'd follow up
In spite of any mental revolutions
And any slip betwixt the lip and cup.
O, I was noble and quite sacrificing,
I gave my temperament a chance to rest,
And each day new resolves I was devising—
O, what an angel child I was! My chest
Would be inflated with this idealistic
And tremendous battle of behaving right,
But now and then for reasons realistic
The resolutions would take sudden flight.

Today I sat down with paper and a pen
And wrote out a brand new list of DON'TS again.

A MR. GHNOULY GETS 'TITLE' BOUT WITH ARMSTRONG

They Meet Tomorrow Night in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 2 [Special].—Henry Armstrong, welterweight champion, arrived in St. Louis today for a 15 round bout against Joe Ghnouly, veteran St. Louis boxer, in the Auditorium tomorrow. The meeting is being advertised as a title match by Matchmaker Jack Callahan despite the fact that every one, with the possible exception of Ghnouly, believes Armstrong will win.

Moreover, Ghnouly is not considered a title contender by the National Boxing association, of which Missouri is a member. The 29 year old fighter is not listed in the N. B. A. ratings.

Ghnouly's record backs up the N. B. A.'s refusal to give Joe any sort of ranking. In a 12 year campaign, Ghnouly has engaged in 92 fights. He scored 64 decisions and lost 21, three by knockouts. He also fought six draws, and had one no-decision encounter.

He Loses Frequently.

Paul Junior, Lewiston, Me., lightweight, stopped Ghnouly in the eighth round March 28, 1938; Battling Shaw, New Orleans junior welterweight, stopped him on July 12, 1932, and he was stopped by Paul Stedman, St. Louis featherweight, in 1930.

In addition to the defeat by Junior, Ghnouly lost a 10 round decision to Mike Kaplan in New Britain, Conn., last year. He also lost two of four bouts in 1938, the first to Johnny Morro and the second to Lou Lombardi.

Fans are protesting that Henry is making a joke of his welterweight championship by "risking" it against nondescript opponents.

They contend there are several strong challengers in Armstrong's class, including Holman Williams of Chicago, Charley Burley of Pittsburgh, Milt Aron, also of Chicago; Al Davis of New York, Davey Day, another Chicago product, and Sammy Angott of Louisville, Ky. All these boxers, with the possible exception of Davis, are ready to meet Armstrong at a moment's notice, but he refuses to have anything to do with them.

He Can Fight Day Again.

Sam Pian and Art Winch, managers of Day, have offered Eddie Mead, Armstrong's manager, large purses to match the champion against Day in Chicago. Jack Begun, manager of Aron, has made similar offers in behalf of his fighter.

Armstrong has fought in Chicago only once, against Everett Rightmire in International Amphitheater, Feb. 25, 1938. Before the bout Rightmire collapsed in the dressing room and was all but carried into the ring. Rightmire claimed he was ill.

In the event the Missouri commission sanctions the Armstrong-Ghnouly encounter as a championship match, it will be Henry's 14th title defense since he dethroned Barney Ross as welterweight king in Madison Square Garden bowl on May 31, 1938. His victims were Day, Ceferino Garcia, Al Manfredo [twice], Alberto [Baby] Arizmendi, Bobby Pacho [twice], Lew Feldman, Jimmy Garrison [twice], Cowboy Howard Scott, Ritchie Fontaine, and Ernie Roderick.

N. B. A. SAYS "NO."

Joe Triner, chairman of the Illinois Athletic commission and vice president of the National Boxing association, last night said the N. B. A. would not recognize the Henry Armstrong-Joe Ghnouly bout in St. Louis tomorrow as a welterweight championship match. The association gives title status to matches only when the champion fights the one of the first three boxers listed in the current N. B. A. ratings, Triner said. In the last ratings, released Dec. 23, the association named Fritzie Zivic, Charley Burley, and Pedro Montanez as the leading challengers in that order. Since then Milt Aron dethroned Zivic as No. 1 contender by knocking out the Pittsburgh boxer in the eighth round in the Coliseum last Wednesday.

KERN MUM ON WEST VIRGINIA COACHING POST

Salt Lake City, Utah, Jan. 2 (AP).—"I don't know anything about it, I've been on the west coast," Carnegie Tech's coach, Bill Kern, said tonight when asked if he was negotiating for the coaching job at West Virginia university.

"I'm too hoarse to talk about such things," he added—without a smile.

Yale's Hockey Team Beats Michigan, 5 to 2

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 2 [Special].—Yale university's hockey team tonight defeated Michigan, 5 to 2. The Eli squad, twice defeated by Minnesota, jumped into a 3 to 1 lead in the opening period. Roger Hazen, wing, sparked the winners with two goals and an assist. Charlie Ross and Burt Stodden scored for Michigan.

NEW YORK RACE TRACKS REBEL AT PROPOSED LAW

Call Enabling Act Unfair; to Legislature Today.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 2 [Special].—The enabling act, New York's first million dollar baby of 1940 and the machinery of its first season of parimutuel race track betting, was greeted with a storm of protest by the heads of the state's five major tracks today on the eve of its coming out party in the state legislature. The representatives of Belmont Park, Aqueduct, Jamaica, Empire City, and Saratoga blasted five major points of Sen. John J. Dunnigan's proposed bill as unfair and impractical and hinted that if passed in its present form, the bill probably would force three tracks out of business.

Sen. Dunnigan said last week he would strongly urge the enactment of every provision in the bill which he will present to the legislature tomorrow, so a merry controversy over its many disputed points is anticipated.

Predicts 10 Million Revenue.

Predicting a $10,000,000 revenue return if his bill is passed "structurally unimpaired," Sen. Dunnigan recommended the following important provisions:

1. The creation of two racing zones, one in the metropolitan area and the other upstate, with permission for the construction of two new tracks in each—if necessary.

2. Require each track in zone 1 to have accommodations for at least 50,000 fans, seating capacity for at least 25,000, and parking facilities for 15,000 cars.

3. Tracks in zone 2 must accommodate at least 15,000 with seats for at least 7,500 and parking space for 10,000 cars.

4. The installation of the mutuel machines at all tracks and the outlawing of bookmakers and all other methods of making bets.

5. Provide for a 10 per cent "take" [or division] on all wagers, half of which would go to the state and half to the racing association.

Would Abolish Free List.

6. Repeal the tax on all admissions, eliminate all free passes and establish a $1.50 general admission price for all tracks. Reserved seat prices would be set by the individual associations.

7. Set the breakage at 10 cents, half the total breakage to be paid to the state. [Breakage occurs when a pay-off figure involves pennies. For example, on a ticket totaling $4.65, the better would receive $4.60, while the state and racing association would divide the odd pennies.]

Alfred G. Vanderbilt, John Cowden, Edward Kilroe, James Butler, and George H. Bull, respective heads of the state's major tracks, issued a joint statement today striking at the proposed seating and parking requirements, and complaining at the division of the 10 per cent take and breakage suggestions.

Charges Discrimination.

The statement regarded the parking specifications as a "very objectionable feature of the bill," and pointed out that the Yankee stadium, Polo grounds, Madison Square Garden, and other arenas were not bound under similar regulations.

In a stand against a 10 per cent take it was pointed out that the tracks have the entire expense of operating the pari-mutuels, requiring the services of from four to five hundred men and the high cost of installation. In addition the tracks must supply the money for purses and stakes out of their percentage of the take. Legislatures of other states allow the tracks to keep at least 6 per cent.

TONY ZALE BEGINS DRILL FOR BOUT WITH AL HOSTAK

Rand Seeks Opponent for Bob Sikes.

Tony Zale, Gary middleweight, started training in Trafton's gymnasium yesterday for a 10 round nontitle bout with Champion Al Hostak in Chicago Stadium Jan. 19, while Promoter Bill Rand denied reports the match would not be held on the scheduled date. At the same time Rand started working on his supporting program.

He is seeking an opponent for Bob Sikes, southern heavyweight champion. Sikes will arrive from his home in Little Rock, Ark., Saturday to start workouts. Tony Cianciola, Milwaukee 152 pound boxer, is being sought to oppose Joe Sutka of Wyandotte, Mich., in an additional event. Ernie Fliegal, manager of Cianciola, who gave Leonard Bennett a lesson in Milwaukee Monday afternoon, was in town yesterday ready to sign.

Plans to use Georgie Pace on the card were spoiled by the bantamweight champion's unimpressive victory over Johnny Gaudes in the Milwaukee show.

Johnny Barbara, South Bend boxer, yesterday sparred three rounds with Hymie Pabbs, Zibby Goldberg's west side lightweight, for a 10 round headliner against Joe Sutka in Marigold Gardens Monday The encounter will be Barbara's first as a middleweight. . . . Milt Aron, foremost welterweight contender, and his wife will leave Friday for a 10 day vacation in Miami, Fla. . . . Eddie Lander, Chicago junior lightweight, also is getting ready to leave for a month's rest in California. Lander will depart Sunday, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Sarah Landerman, and his brother, Al. . . . Izzy Kline, Pete Lello's manager, left last night for New York, where he will confer with Matchmaker Johnny Attell about having his No. 3 lightweight challenger meet Lew Jenkins of Sweetwater, Tex., in Madison Square Garden Feb. 2. Except for opening of an old cut under his left eye, received in his winning effort against Eddie Lander in the Coliseum last Wednesday, Lello came out of his recent draw decision with Quentin Breeze unmarked.

C. Y. O. TO HOLD ROLLER SKATING PARTY TONIGHT

The Catholic Youth Organization will hold a roller skating party at the New Riverview roller rink, 2500 West Belmont avenue, tonight.

The event is open to the public. There will be a number of speed events and several leading figure skating numbers on the program.

Announce Judges for International Kennel Club Show

BY BOB BECKER.

Altho Chicagoland dog owners now are in the midst of the annual midwinter lull in dog activities, many already are looking ahead to the time when some of their pure breds will again step into a show ring to compete for ribbons and honors.

The first outstanding show that will engage the attention of fanciers is the Westminster Kennel club event in New York City Feb. 12, 13, and 14. But the big spring show for the majority of Chicagoland dog fanciers will be the International Kennel club event, which again is to be held in the International amphitheater March 30 and 31. Officers of the club have been working for weeks and judges have been chosen.

The judges of all principal breeds will be as follows:

R. L. Patterson, Madison, N. J., pointers, English cocker spaniels; G. V. Glebe, Bryn Athyn, Pa., all retrievers and setters, Irish water spaniels, and Irish wolfhounds; Fred Clarke, Racine, Wis., American type cocker spaniels; H. S. Dykstra Tells His Football Philosophy scholarship or student aid because of failure to compete in intercollegiate athletics.

Aid extended by the college to athletes shall be awarded on the basis of need without regard to the total amount or aid extended to all students.

An athlete shall be required in employment to give full and honest return for pay received.

No "Pie" Jobs.

In passing comment on these regulations, President Dykstra said that Wisconsin, like all other conference institutions, reports all money paid to athletes from athletic funds and he added, "There are no 'pie' jobs." He paid tribute also to the caliber of the men who have charge of Wisconsin's athletics and volunteered that in his two years' experience he had not observed nor had called to his attention any instance where coaches had made a demand or request to professors for leniency toward athletes.

"Athletic competition is traditionally natural," the president continued. "Since earliest recorded history we find competition in games between individuals. Professional athletics is a modern development and amateur athletics in the modern era was extended to international competition in the Olympic games. The difference between the amateur and professional idea leads to temptations such as competition to get performers, commercial temptation because of locality, or undue influence by alumni.

Calls Discussions Too General.

"Critics frequently confine their discussions to a blanket, general charge of overemphasis. Without considering the fact that at Wisconsin our athletes in general matriculate from the state or immediately adjacent territory, that our record of scholarships and aid may be seen by any one since there is nothing we wish to conceal, it seems to me that this so-called problem of emphasis resolves itself into effect on the athletes and effect on the student body.

"Can the boys playing football, or other games, do their scholastic work? Or are they so physically worn out they cannot keep pace, or means must be found to help them keep up? If one athlete in a group of 40 or 50 wins Phi Beta Kappa, highest educational prize, that ratio is comparable to the record of the student body.

"Does football detract from the studious pursuits of the rest of the student body? Except for the homecoming week-end, there is no exceptional recognition of football other than at the game itself. Students do not lose time watching daily practice and possibly half of our students do not purchase student season books.

Many Seek Athletic Careers.

"Some athletes may work in part to prepare for careers as athletic directors or coaches. To them it offers a future livelihood. Others may only participate because they like sports more than any other activity on the campus. Some may prefer the contacts offered and see in them avenues to success in later years.

"Intercollegiate football has a tremendously unifying influence. The state of Wisconsin is intensely interested. There is a real, general support in the state, in the city [Madison], and a loyalty is developed among our graduates. If the friends and alumni of the university can go thru our football season, which had disastrous results, with good spirit, without being emotionally, educationally, or academically upset, it would appear that there is no overemphasis.

"If intercollegiate sport can be conducted in harmony with our own agreements, without attempt to evade or subvert the rules, as it is at Wisconsin, the real problem is to consider whether intercollegiate football is demoralizing to the institution. If it is, then, of course, deëmphasize it or abolish it.

"I prefer the pageantry of a Saturday afternoon and this direction of student interest to marching and parades."

Fundamental reason for the decision of the University of Chicago to abolish football while the University of Wisconsin finds it satisfactory possibly may be traced to differences in conduct of the institutions, as well as disagreement in beliefs of the respective heads of the two universities concerning purpose and methods of education. As President Dykstra pointed out succinctly, "Even when I attended the University of Chicago, postgraduate study and research were emphasized. Intercollegiate athletics is a manifestation of undergraduate activity."

In inequality of numbers in the undergraduate body, in tuition charges, and in comparison of a state university with its position in the plan of education for that state to a private endowed institution, one may find several reasons for the University of Chicago's indifferent football record which do not bear out the assertion that purity in conduct is the sole cause for athletic debacle.

Restriction of matriculation to a small percentage of secondary school graduates, reversion to classical educational ideas are in opposition to the theory of state established universities, which include a general college for nonhigh school graduates at the University of Minnesota and grant degrees at many universities for four years' study of physical education.

Favors Student Athletics.

Educational theories for the University of Chicago have been widely publicized, if not completely accepted, and so to those in accord it may be something of a surprise to learn that President Dykstra believes "every student should play a game or have a hobby." Perhaps his broad definition that "life is education and education is life" may sound platitudinous, but his earnestness cannot be discounted when he says that "education may become so selective that the group loses contact with the people and no longer can produce the nation's leaders."

President Dykstra's thoughts on education were more completely expressed in the lecture "Democracy and Education" that he delivered in Constitution hall, Washington, D. C., two years ago and which has been printed as senate document No. 161, third session of the 75th congress. Then he said:

"Universal education, if a free instrument, must eventually bring about the democracy as a way of life. Education in its inclusive sense promotes human values, the dignity and excellence of the individual, and universal understandings. It makes for social awareness and the development of mutual aid. It promotes the idea of justice and the general good. It develops individual and social responsibilities."

It is the firm belief of Wisconsin's president that intercollegiate football has a proper place in undergraduate activity, that it contributes to the purposes of education, and that, in the Western conference, it is properly controled.

Bruins Seek to Get Even with Akron Tonight

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The Chicago Bruins, having learned that the ways of the world are quite different abroad than in their own back yard, tonight return to their home floor in the 132d armory, Madison and Rockwell streets, to meet the Akron Goodyears in their eighth National Basketball league game.

The Bruins, in three games on the armory floor, deported themselves with such aptness that they soon revived local interest in professional basketball and went out on their first road trip with the proud record of being the only undefeated team in the league. That was as of their departure for said tour of the gymnasia of their league rivals.

Those Three Games on Tour.

The standings now reveal that the Bruins have won four games while losing three, this net being the result of three defeats in the four game out-of-town excursion. However, it must be pointed out that the Chicago lads were forced to play these four contests in five nights, three of them on consecutive evenings.

In spite of this unhappy record on the road, the Bruins, by dint of their handsome home start, still are leading the western division of the league. The Goodyears were undisputed leaders in the eastern section until last night, when the Detroit Eagles defeated the Indianapolis Kautskys to go into a first place tie with tonight's armory visitors.

In the four game session abroad, the Bruins lost to Detroit, 37 to 31, on Dec. 26; defeated Indianapolis, 41 to 33, on Dec. 27; lost to the Akron Firestones, 48 to 38, on Dec. 28, and then succumbed, 32 to 23, to the Goodyears.

Meet Conquerors Tonight.

Thus tonight's battle affords the Chicagoans a chance to gain revenge for their last defeat. It also gives them a chance to thwart a couple of young Goodyears named Ray Morstadt and Jimmy Montgomery. While the Bruins were concentrating their defensive efforts on Ben Stephens, former University of Iowa star who is leading all league scorers, Morstadt, late of Marquette university, and Montgomery, who shone for Villanova last season, were collaborating on the collection of 20 points. Eddie Oram, Bruin guard, restrained Stephens to two field goals and one free throw.

Stephens is continuing in the form which made him one of the sharpshooters of the Big Ten for three years. In nine games Benjamin has scored 109 points on 27 baskets and 55 free throws, having almost no competition in the latter department. Second league scorer is Nat Frankel of Detroit, who has made 32 field goals and 31 penalty tosses for 95 points.

Novak, Kautz Lead Scoring.

Third in the individual tabulation and bright light of the Bruins' tour is Mike Novak, 6 foot 9 inch star of last year's Loyola university team. Mike has counted 80 points on 30 baskets and 20 free throws. During the four games away the ex-Rambler made 20 field goals, five in each contest. Wibs Kautz, Novak's old Loyola associate, has made 61 points off of 21 baskets and 19 free throws.

The Bruins, whose game with the Goodyears will begin at approximately 9 o'clock tonight, will play Sheboygan at the armory Sunday afternoon and will meet Indianapolis here next Wednesday night.

Tonight's starting lineups:

GEHRIG GOES TO BAT ON NEW JOB; WEIGHT NORMAL

Remains at 206 Pounds Despite Illness.

New York, Jan. 2 [Special].—Lou Gehrig, former iron man first baseman of the New York Yankees, today embarked on his new $6,000 a year position as one of New York City's three parole commissioners with serious determination to do a good job. Forced to quit baseball and his $35,000 salary last June by discovery he is suffering from amyotrophic lateral sclerosis [a spinal ailment of the paralysis family], he turned down more lucrative offers because he is particularly interested in parole work.

Lou Gehrig.

Gehrig's first interest, after telling his hopes as a commissioner, was in debunking stories that his illness had caused him to waste away to 140 pounds. Appearing in good health, he said he still weighs his usual 206 or 207 pounds. He is not accepting any bids for speeches or other outside activities, however, on advise of physicians.

"I can't encourage the kids to smoke," was his rejoinder when photographers protested at his hurriedly shoving his pipe into a pocket before posing at his desk. He has ideas about what a parole commission should do, having studied penology thoroly and done extensive reading in psychiatry since his appointment Oct. 11 by Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia. Gehrig will not talk about them, however, until he has had at least a year's experience.

"We're interested in helping society in rehabilitation of those youngsters who have done wrong," he did comment. "I'm immensely interested, and I hope I can contribute something."

LUTHERAN A. A. SEASON.

The Augustana Lutheran Athletic association of the Southern Chicago district will start its 1940 basketball season in the Calumet High school gym, 8100 South May street, tonight.

New Year—New Leaf— Why Not New Car?

THE slate's clean, the past is past, you're making a new beginning on a new year you hope will be happier and finer and richer — how about doing the job up right?

You spot the fun possibilities in this brilliant and buoyant Buick just by watching it flash by, but have you been in to try it?

Do you know what it's like — first hand, we mean — to have a hundred-plus Dynaflash horsepower waiting your treadle-foot's nudge? Have you sampled the thrill in such an engine micro-poise-balanced to smoothness a wrist watch can't hope to equal?

Today's winter-roughened roads give you swell chance to try out BuiCoil Springing's gentle ride — raw weather emphasizes the stout snugness of Unisteel Bodies by Fisher and the convenience of the Flash-Way Direction Signal.

Now's when you most need firm new rubber — sure, soft, tiptoe brakes — Buick's automatic choke — stout, taut frames and rugged bodies, and why wait for spring to buy beauty that gives your spirits a lift?

Then too, driving speeds are naturally lower now and driving distances shorter, making this the best time of all to get a car properly started in life.

So figure it out! It's a new year. You've turned a new leaf. Ask your Buick dealer what a new Buick will cost you now — and let every month of 1940 contribute to a happy new year!

Not a six but an EIGHT for $895 and up delivered at Flint, Mich. *Transportation based on rail rates, state and local taxes (if any), optional equipment and accessories — extra. Prices subject to change without notice.

PUT CONSUMERS POWER BONDS ON MARKET TODAY

Much Debated Refunding Issue Is Offered.

New York, Jan. 2 (AP).—A new security flotation of the Consumers Power company, Michigan subsidiary of the Commonwealth & Southern corporation, finally reached the public offering stage today after a rough passage thru preliminary registration.

An underwriting syndicate headed by Morgan Stanley & Co., and Bonbright & Co., will put on the market tomorrow $18,594,000 of 3¼ per cent first mortgage bonds, due 1969. The offering price is 105½ to yield the buyer about 2.97 per cent. The proceeds are to be used for repayment of a like amount of 3¾ per cent bonds.

Debate Competitive Bidding.

As it started thru the underwriting mills several weeks ago, the issue became snarled in the financial world's debate on competitive bidding for new security issues.

The original plans called for the sale of $10,000,000 additional bonds above the refunding portion to raise funds for plant expansion and improvements.

The Securities and Exchange commission, in passing on the plans, upset the management's program by holding the new capital expenditures should be financed by sale of additional common stock rather than bonds.

SEC May Consider Appeal.

However, the SEC left the way open for an appeal, and officials of the parent company have been studying the possibility of reopening the issue.

Also raised was the question of whether the underwriting contract resulted from "arm's length bargaining" between the issuer and the heads of the offering syndicate. The underwriters agreed to leave their fee in escrow pending final determination by the SEC of the bargaining question.

Chicago District Customs Collections Cut by War

Customs collections in the Chicago district have been curtailed by a reduction in imports as a result of the European war, Joseph A. Ziemba, collector of customs, said yesterday. December collections declined to $1,143,894 from $1,316,819 in the 1938 month, he said. Last year's collections totaled $11,122,888, compared with $11,470,177 in 1938.

FLAT.

I notice that some bonds are sold "flat." What does that mean?—K. F.

Answer: Bonds upon which interest is being paid regularly are quoted at a certain price "and accrued interest." This means that an amount representing accrued interest from the last coupon paying date to the date of purchase is added to the purchase price. The seller of the bond receives the interest which has accumulated since the last interest payment.

Bonds on which interest is in default and income and adjustment bonds [on which interest is not paid regularly on fixed dates] are quoted "flat." When a bond is sold flat, the purchase price includes the accrued interest, which belongs to the buyer and not the seller. The price paid represents not only the principal value of the bond but also the speculative prospect that the interest arrearage will be paid in full or in part.

Bonds which are sold flat are traded like stocks. The transaction is similar to that involving perferred stocks with dividend arrears. When such stock is sold, the buyer does not pay an extra sum for the accumulated unpaid dividends, but acquires the right to receive them if paid. The seller relinquishes all title to the dividend arrears.

DIVIDEND.

Can you tell me how much in dividends was paid last year on the capital stock of North American Aviation, Inc.? What does the "1.40" mean after the company's name in the stock quotations?—K. B.

Answer: Dividends on the capital stock of North American Aviation, Inc., totaled $1.40 a share in 1939. The figure "1.40" in parentheses after the name of the stock indicates the current annual dividend on the stock. No further dividend has been declared by the company's directors.

MONROE CHEMICAL.

Is Monroe Chemical still listed on the Chicago Stock exchange? What were its recent earnings?—T. W.

Answer: The Monroe Chemical company manufactures packaged dyes, cleaning fluids, and other chemical products. Both classes of capital stock are listed on the Chicago Stock exchange. There are outstanding 19,175 shares of $3.50 cumulative preference stock and 126,000 shares of no par common stock. Regular dividends are being paid on the preference stock, but no dividend has been paid on the common since 1937.

Net income in 1938 declined to $81,128, equal to 11 cents a common share, from $93,749 or 19 cents a share in 1937. The 1939 report has not been issued yet.

COURT UPHOLDS POWER OF SEC TO REVEAL DATA

But Warns Against Indiscriminate Use.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 2.—The United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia today upheld the right of the Securities and Exchange commission to determine whether information supplied by registrants should or should not be made public. However, the court warned against indiscriminate use of the power.

It affirmed a lower court decision upholding the SEC's rejection of a request from American Sumatra Tobacco corporation for confidential treatment of a part of its profit and loss statement filed with the commission.

"Congress unquestionably intended that the commission should bring to bear upon the decision of this and like questions . . . the knowledge and experience of experts," said the decision. "This does not by any means set up an inquisition destructive of the rights of the individual.

Warns Against Arbitrary Power.

"The delegated power is not to be exercised arbitrarily or to be considered an unfettered discretion over the property of the citizen. Its exercise is subject to review.

"But so long as the commission's decision rests on substantial evidence and on inferences which are not arbitrary and capricious, it should be sustained. In the discharge by congress of a dominant trust for the benefit of the public, the possibility of incidental loss to the individual is sometimes unavoidable.

"The act requires the issuer of securities—the registrant—to make disclosures in order to forestall unfair practices in the sale of securities and for the protection of investors. The 'public interest' in this respect is just as definite as the 'public interest' in transportation facilities. Powers of the interstate commerce commission to make decisions, confined only by the latter standard, have been continually upheld."

Rules for Security Dealers.

The SEC today adopted rules governing stabilization of security prices and disclosures of such transactions. One rule, effective Jan. 15, permits the inclusion of disclosures on stabilization in certain types of short form notices on security offerings. This does not, however, substitute for the regular full prospectus.

The commission also adopted a regulation, effective Feb. 5, governing transactions to stabilize prices of securities in certain limited types of situations. The new regulation applies to initial offerings at the market of additional amounts of issues already dealt in on an exchange and also the secondary distribution at the market of securities outstanding and dealt in on an exchange. It provides for notice of stabilization to the commission and exchanges, and puts restrictions on such activities.

The regulation was adopted, said the commission, in consideration of suggestions from the exchanges and the National Association of Security Dealers.

A. & P. IS DENIED REVIEW OF TRADE BUREAU ORDER

Washington, D. C., Jan. 2 [Special].—The United States Supreme court today denied to the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea company a review of a Federal Trade commission order directing the company to abandon practices which were allegedly in violation of the Robinson-Patman act.

The trade commission and the third federal circuit court found that the company had received allowances or discounts, in lieu of brokerage, from sellers of goods upon which no services were rendered. The A. & P. contended that persons selling goods directly to its regional warehouses are saved brokerage and marketing expenses, and were also able to make savings thru quantity sales. These savings, the company argued, justified the allowances it received from the sellers.

The company contended that the order, in effect, required it to make all of its purchases thru brokers, or to pay sellers a price for commodities "which includes brokerage not earned by any broker and not demanded by any seller."

Chicago Draws 14,000 to First '40 Convention

Fourteen thousand shoe men arrived in Chicago yesterday for the opening sessions of the National Shoe fair, first major business convention of the year. Officials predicted attendance would break all previous records. The meeting, the fifth consecutive one held in the city, is sponsored by the National Shoe Retailers and the National Boot and Shoe Manufacturers associations.

William J Hennessy reports increase in Chicago conventions.

More than 1,000 exhibitors displayed about 200,000 new spring and summer shoe styles at the Stevens hotel. A business meeting, luncheon and style show comprised the opening day's schedule. The convention will extend thru Friday.

Banner Year Predicted.

Harry G. Johansen, convention chairman, predicted a banner year for the shoe industry. "This will be due largely to greater efforts toward making consumers more shoe conscious by putting more emphasis on styling," he said. "Moreover, indications point to consumer purchasing power for 1940 substanially above the 1939 level."

Johansen said 50,000,000 more pairs of shoes were purchased last year than in 1929. Because of lower prices, however, consumers paid $300,000,000 less for their footwear, he added.

As the shoe fair got under way the convention bureau jointly sponsored by the Chicago Association of Commerce and the Greater Chicago Hotel association announced 543 meetings had been booked for 1940. This was 100 more than the number booked at the corresponding time a year ago, the statement said.

Expect 520,000 Visitors.

William J. Hennessy, director of the bureau, declared the meetings already scheduled for Chicago will have a probable total attendance of 520,000 out of town delegates. The potential total for the year when other meetings are booked will probably top a million visitors, he added.

Chicago was host during 1939 to 721 conventions attended by 1,202,000 persons, the bureau reported. This compared with 801 meetings and 902,000 delegates during 1938. The excess in attendance last year was attributed to the American Legion convention, those of the American Society for Metals, and other groups.

Trade shows now booked for 1940 include: National Canners association, Jan. 21 to 26, with 25,000 expected; American Furniture Mart show, Jan. 8 to 20, attendance of 18,000; American Road Builders' association, Jan. 29 to Feb. 2, with 35,000 expected; National Restaurant association, Oct. 7 to 11, attendance of 12,000, and the National Safety council, Oct. 7 to 11, with 8,000.

SUPREME COURT DENIES PETITION OF 'PLENOCRATS'

The Universal Service association, Chicago, yesterday was denied a United States Supreme court review of a lower order permanently enjoining the group from selling securities in violation of the federal securities law. The association had appealed from a decision of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals affirming the order of Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward entered in April, 1938.

The association and its affiliate, the Universal Order of Plenocrats, sold membership certificates on which subscribers were promised a 30 per cent return, according to the complaint made by the Securities and Exchange commission.

C. Franklin Davis, secretary and treasurer of the association, was sentenced last June to six months in jail and the association was fined $1,000 by Judge Woodward. Both were charged with contempt of the court injunction.

AskSouthmoor Hotel Be Sold for Back Taxes

A foreclosure suit asking that the ten story Southmoor hotel at 67th street and Stony Island avenue be sold to satisfy $311,711 in taxes delinquent since 1928 is on file in the Superior court, it was learned yesterday.

The suit was filed on behalf of the county by Assistant State's Attorneys Marshall Kearney and John Fitzgerald. Kearney said the suit is the largest yet filed in the drive to collect delinquent taxes.

"The $311,711 does not include penalties, interest, and other charges against the property," Kearney said. "The Southmoor Hotel company has guaranteed a minimum bid of $265,000 for the property when it goes to a sale.

Higher Bid Termed Possible.

"Any one who wants to can outbid that price. Before we file such a large suit we must be sure of a bid that will give the county a substantial return on the principal of the taxes and that there is no other way in which to collect as substantial a sum."

Robert Cushman, attorney representing trustees appointed by the federal court to oversee operations of the hotel, said that the hotel is borrowing the maximum amount it can raise and putting all of its available cash into the promised $265,000 bid.

Cushman, who is known as an expert on tax law, said he believed Kearney and Fitzgerald were taking the only possible step to get a reasonable amount for the county.

Prior Promise Necessary.

"They must have a substantial bid promise before they can file a foreclosure suit," Cushman said. "Otherwise the building might go for next to nothing.

"The hotel was in receivership in the Circuit court from 1927 until 1934, when the company went into federal court in an effort to reorganize under 77-B proceedings. While there may have been some payments to attorneys and receivers in the early years of the litigation, I'm sure no one has received any fees from the building for some time."

1,200 MEN HASTEN WORK ON LARGE APARTMENT JOB

Twelve hundred men are working on the $3,443,000 Chatham Park apartment project at Cottage Grove avenue and 83d street, said to be the largest privately owned housing development ever undertaken in Chicago. It was financed with an insurance company mortgage for $2,460,000, underwritten by Dovenmuehle, Inc. The Robert G. Regan company is the general contractor. C. Wallace Johnson, Inc., is rental manager.

The project comprises 72 separate buildings containing 554 apartments and duplex houses. Ground was broken last August. Completion of 330 units is scheduled for April 1.

The buildings were designed by the architectural firm of Shaw, Naess & Murphy.

6,000 FEDERAL AGENTS BEGIN TAKING CENSUS OF NATION'S BUSINESS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 2 (AP).—Six thousand men and women began flocking today at the doors of 3,200,000 business and industrial establishments in the United States, seeking information for the 1940 census of business, manufacturing, mining, and quarrying.

By May 1, census bureau officials hope to have the answer to 149 sets of questions as grist for the first general inventory of all American business and industry since 1935, with particular emphasis on trade volumes, employment and pay rolls. Each business will answer only one set of questions.

The census will cover about 400 types of manufacturing, 93 retail trades, several wholesale, mining and quarrying classifications, plus amusements, hotels and tourist camps, construction and sales-financing firms.

START IN CHICAGO AREA.

Field workers yesterday began the task of compiling the 1940 federal business census in the Chicago area. A staff of 140 enumerators, who had undergone an intensive training period thruout last week, started visiting each business and manufacturing establishment in Lake and Cook counties in Illinois and Lake county, Ind.

BUS, CAR AND 'L' LINES REPORT ON YEAR'S TRAFFIC

The Chicago Motor Coach company carried 5,060,850 passengers during December, or 1.94 per cent more than in the corresponding month of 1938, company officials announced yesterday on the basis of preliminary estimates. For the full year the number of passengers carried amounted to 57,892,884. This was an increase of 1.22 per cent over the 57,194,214 passengers reported for the preceding year.

December traffic of the Chicago Surface Lines decreased 1.348 per cent from the volume for the similar month of 1938. The number of passengers carried totaled 58,851,905, against 59,656,216. Street car traffic for the full year decreased 0.346 per cent, with the number of passengers carried declining to 676,327,531 from the 678,677,016 during 1938.

The Chicago Rapid Transit company [elevated] reported preliminary figures on December traffic showed a decrease of 0.33 per cent from traffic in December, 1938. The company previously reported traffic for the full 1939 year, on the basis of preliminary data, increased 0.58 per cent over that of 1938.

UPPER AVENUE BANK EARNINGS LARGER IN 1939

The Upper Avenue National bank yesterday reported 1939 net earnings of $111,300, equal to $37.10 a share, compared with $65,227, or $21.74 a share, in 1938.

Directors of the Drexel State bank of Chicago and the Cicero State bank were reelected at annual meetings of stockholders.

War Controls Clog Britain's Trade System

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 2.—The new year finds British business economy clogged up and depressed by the state control system and the prospect of having to pay for the costliest war in history.

Since September Britain's war expenditures have gone up by leaps and bounds and the development of bureaucratic control over private industry and merchant business has kept pace. Directly or indirectly the government now is the chief buyer, seller, employer, and investor in the whole nation.

Harnessed to War Machine.

Within four months virtually every section of Britain's financial and industrial mechanism has been harnessed to the war machine on which the government is spending approximately $28,000,000 a day. Commodities and services essential to warfare are rationed, the government has the power to control labor and supplies, and the stock and capital markets have been organized to give priority to state needs.

The war has made drastic changes in the industrial situation. Heavy industries and the basic trades of the north, such as iron, steel, engineering, shipbuilding, and textiles, are doing well, tho profits have not yet climbed to the levels of the last war. On the other hand, the diversified industries and luxury trades of the south, representing hundreds of millions of dollars of invested capital, are confronted with a serious slump, if not ruin.

Export Drop Causes Worry.

Another aspect of the wartime economy causing alarm in business circles here is the 40 per cent shrinkage in Britain's vital export trade of the first couple of months of the war and the progressive deterioration of the country's income from overseas investments on which it relied to offset the adverse trend in commerce.

The blackout cloaking certain important statistics, such as operations of the exchange equalization fund in

COURT ORDERS ATLAS PLAN TO REVAMP UTILITY

Appeal Promised by Junior Interests.

Federal Judge William H. Holly yesterday signed the final order approving the Atlas plan for reorganization of the Utilities Power and Light corporation, a vast enterprise which once had assets listed at $400,000,000. At the same time, Attorney Willard King, representing the junior security holders in the old company, who get nothing under the reorganization plan, announced an appeal will be taken from the court's finding.

The plan was conceived by the Atlas corporation, chief creditor of the old U. P. & L. It has been approved overwhelmingly by the debenture and preferred stock holders, the only ones who were allowed to vote on it.

The plan previously was approved by the Securities and Exchange commission and by Harry N. Gottlieb, special federal master in chancery.

Junior Interests Oppose Plan.

Owners of three classes of junior interests, class A, class B, and common stock—representing an original investment of many millions of dollars, have objected before the SEC and at hearings before Judge Holly. Their only recourse now is to seek to have the higher courts throw out the plan and order further negotiations toward a new agreement.

These interests suggested to the court that a business boom in this country resulting from the European war might increase the gross earnings of the old company enough to provide an equity for them. Judge Holly refused to consider this point. He warned of the dangers of depression following temporary good times such as might be caused by the war.

New Company to Be Formed.

The Atlas plan calls for the transfer of the present $44,000,000 assets of the old company to a new enterprise. Principal and interest on claims prior in rank to debentures and preferred stock will be paid in cash.

Holders of the $54,527,867 in debentures and shares of preferred stock in the old company or claims equal in rank will receive debentures and stock in the new company.

The old Utilities Power and Light company formerly was headed by Harley L. Clarke of Chicago.

Wheat Rises; Fear Cold May Damage Crop

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

Closing prices on the May delivery of principal grains on the Chicago Board of Trade:

	Yesterday.	Saturday.	Year ago.
Wheat	$1.07	$1.04¼	$ .70⅛
Corn	.59⅛	.58¾	.53⅜
Oats	.40	.39¾	.30⅜
Rye	.76⅛	.75⅝	.49⅛
Soy beans	1.21	1.21	.82½

Wheat prices were on the upgrade yesterday with the close at the top. Net gains on the Chicago Board of Trade were 2⅞ to 3⅛ cents. Persistent buying of futures in small lots by commission houses disclosed a lack of pressure and at no time did the market show a disposition to react.

Apprehension regarding the outcome of the new winter wheat crop in the southwest as the result of below zero temperatures and lack of additional moisture over the weekend had some effect on sentiment. Buying by mills and cash interests was also a factor.

Other Grains Also Advance.

Corn and other grains followed the action of wheat. Corn closed ¾ cent higher. Oats gained ¼ to ½ cent with the May delivery equaling the high price of the season and the September contract reaching a new high since trading in that delivery was inaugurated.

Realization that government loans, plus the outright holdings by various federal agencies, had absorbed over two-thirds of the surplus wheat of the country, or about 200,000,000 bushels, is responsible for the lack of pressure on the market, brokers said.

Consider Import Quotas.

Announcement was made that the federal tariff commission will begin hearings at Washington this week to determine whether import quotas shall be imposed on wheat. This was construed as indicating that the department of agriculture continued to regard the domestic supply and demand situation with apprehension despite the heavy snowfall recently in the west and southwest.

SECURITIES ACT CHANGES URGED TO CREATE JOBS

Manufacturers Hit 'Repressive' Rules.

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 2.—Moderation of the "stringent and repressive provisions" of the securities acts would result in a flow of new investment capital into private enterprise and create employment, the industrial financing committee of the National Association of Manufacturers said today in its annual report.

Certain provisions of the securities act of 1933 and the securities exchange act of 1934 can be modified, the committee asserted, without affecting the "essential objectives of these acts, which are accepted by all as desirable."

The committee urged that the two acts be consolidated into a single statute, and made nine recommendations for changes. A revised statute should simplify and clarify some provisions and eliminate others, it said.

SEC Considers Amendments.

It has been learned authoritatively that the SEC is now working on amendments to its regulations, rules and forms in order to avoid duplication of reports required under the various acts which it administers, but it is considered doubtful that the commission would favor any important modifications. At least, it has no thought of asking congress at this session to change them, except for increased regulation over investing companies and investment trusts.

There has been constant pressure for shortening of the 20 day waiting

New York Stocks.

New York, Jan. 2 (AP).—The stock market today stepped into 1940 and posted gains of fractions to more than a point for leaders.

Lack of volume, however, was an outstanding flaw in the advance. Transfers for the five hours totaled 579,010 shares, against 724,070 last Tuesday. It was the smallest turnover for a full session since Dec. 11.

Brokers attributed the buying timidity mainly to the fact that many traders wished to keep commitments small pending the convening of congress tomorrow.

Strength of commodities provided one of the principal props for the share list. Foreign securities markets were a bit uneven.

Among stocks finishing on the upside—some were under the day's best—were United States Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, Chrysler, General Motors, Western Union, Goodyear, Douglas Aircraft, Santa Fe, Anaconda, American Smelting, International Nickel, Johns-Manville, Sears-Roebuck, Woolworth, Texas Corporation, International Mercantile Marine, Electric Boat, and United Aircraft.

International Mercantile Marine stock was given a runup following word the maritime commission had granted permission to the United States Lines, controled by I. M. M., to sell eight ships to a Norwegian company for runs between New York and London and Liverpool. This, it was believed, would ease the company's difficulties incident to the neutrality law which prohibits sailings of American vessels to belligerent territory.

New York Bonds.

New York, Jan. 2 (AP).—Corporate bond prices moved brisky upward today under the impetus of a moderate buying movement. Trading volume, however, was the smallest since last Aug. 31. It totaled $4,917,500, face value, compared with $9,683,250 last Friday, the last full trading day.

Gains of a point or more were registered for Commonwealth Edison convertible 3½s, International Telephone 5s, Central Railroad of New Jersey 5s, Southern Pacific 4½s of '68, Walworth 4s, and Michigan Central 3½s.

United States governments, quiet thruout, closed 8-32 point higher to 4-32 lower. Foreign government dollar loans showed more declines than auvances, with Danish and Norwegian issues slipping from major fractions to slightly more than a point.

Chicago Stocks.

Two issues traded on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday exceeded the highest price levels of 1939 as they started the new year. They were Commonwealth Edison, up ¾ point to 32½, and Hall Printing, ¾ point higher at 19¼. Most other stocks also advanced. Transactions totaled 22,000 shares.

Bank Stocks.

Northern Trust shares were bid three points higher yesterday in bank stock trading, closing at 568. Chicago Title and Trust closed up one at 121 and City National advanced a point to 115. Other issues were steady.

RAIL TERMINAL CHARGES AIRED IN COURT TODAY

Union Pacific Is Accused Under Elkins Act.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 2 [Special]. A hearing will be held in the United States District court here tomorrow on charges against the Union Pacific railroad, the city of Kansas City, Kas., and other defendants accused of violating the Elkins act. The act prohibits a railroad from granting rebates and concessions to shippers and prohibits shippers from accepting or soliciting them.

Rail leaders declare the action is being watched by the entire railroad industry.

"We are watching to see whether the lid is off as regards the Elkins act," one rail official said. "We want to know whether railroads can now go out and buy business. In that case the road with the most money can buy the most traffic."

The court will consider a petition by the attorney general of the United States, acting on behalf of the Interstate Commerce commission, for a temporary restraining order against the alleged violation. A request for a permanent injunction is contemplated later.

Traces History of Case.

The petition says that in January, 1937, the Union Pacific, desiring to remove the produce terminal in Kansas City, Mo., to a point away from the lines of other roads serving the area, devised a plan for transferring the terminal across the Missouri river to Kansas City, Kas.

Under the plan the Union Pacific and Kansas City, Kas., were to promote, finance and construct the new property. The first funds were provided by a $1,700,000 PWA grant. Later the Union Pacific bought a $3,000,000 bond issue of Kansas City, Kas., to complete the project.

The government charges that to bring tenants to the new terminal, tenants were offered $111,850 cash and $30,700 in free rentals.

In the meantime Kansas City, Mo., has been building a new produce terminal of its own and the Burlington, Rock Island, Santa Fe, and Missouri Pacific railroads announced they would construct jointly a $1,000,000 team track terminal across from the Kansas City, Mo., terminal.

U. P. May Get Half of Trade.

The government charges that if the alleged Elkins act violations are allowed to continue the Union Pacific will get half the available produce trade of the area. It further charges that a large part of the $10,000,000 valuation of the Kansas City, Mo., produce area will be destroyed with "great and irreparable injury" to dealers and property owners.

Railroad officials declare that if the Union Pacific's plan is allowed to proceed, the way will be open for railroads generally to make raids on each other's business. They say that as an example it would be possible for one road to offer a shoe factory located on a rival road in another city free rent if it would move to a city on its line.

The granting of free rent would constitute a rebate which would give the shoe company receiving it a decided advantage over competitors.

The Elkins act provides heavy fines for corporations and fines and imprisonment of not to exceed two years for individuals. The current action is a civil suit.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

The first market session of 1940 at the Chicago stock yards yesterday was featured by a sharp upswing in hog receipts. The run at 38,000, including Monday holiday arrivals and 7,500 direct to packers, was the largest since December, 1936.

Prices dipped at the start of trading, but the market rallied later and some kinds recovered all of the earlier losses. The day's average price of hogs was forced down only 5 cents to $5.40 by the big run, the late rally offsetting the early slump.

Cattle buyers were on the market for quality yesterday and paid strong to slightly higher prices for the kinds that suited them. Other steers and yearlings ruled weak to 25 cents lower.

Slaughter lambs met good demand at strong to 15 cents higher prices. The $9.60 top was highest since Nov. 8.

[All prices are in dollars per 100 pounds.]

BUSINESS GAIN BOOSTS CLOSED BANK PAYMENTS

54 State Institutions Return $3,433,025.

BY HAROLD SMITH.

General business improvement in 1939 was reflected in the repayments made to depositors last year by the closed state banks in Cook county that are still in receivership. This is shown in a report made yesterday by State Auditor Edward J. Barrett.

During the year just closed 54 of the banks returned a total of $3,433,025 to their general unsecured creditors, the report shows. This compares with a total of $2,755,750 repaid by 53 banks in 1938.

Far Below 1937 Total.

It is much below the total of $4,239,692 disbursed by 63 of the banks in 1937. Barrett said that the assets remaining have shrunk since the 1937 figure was compiled.

Fifteen of the 54 banks in the 1939 list made their final returns to depositors during the year, and the receiverships have been or are in the process of being liquidated, the state auditor indicated. With a continuation of improved business conditions, the liquidation of a large proportion of the 135 remaining banks should be completed this year, he said.

Figures for Year.

Here is the new list, giving the bank, the proportion of the total debt to depositors paid last year, the approximate total of repayments, and the total percentage paid up to Jan. 1, 1940:

BRITAIN'S TRADE SYSTEM CLOGGED BY WAR CONTROL

Economic Weaknesses Worry Leaders.

which all of Britain's gold reserves now are concentrated, makes it difficult to estimate how the national economy is withstanding the impact of the war.

But many economists here are disquieted by the current trends. Wartime business experiences so far, they say, confirm that all is not well with the economic front and that the British government has not yet got business and industry working at top gear. Altho more than a million men have been called to the colors, there still are more than 1,250,000 registered as unemployed in this country.

Output Down 10 Per Cent.

On the basis of available figures it is estimated the national output of goods and services has dropped 10 per cent in the last four months.

At the same time there has been a sharp increase in prices and a tendency toward undercover inflation. Since the war broke out living costs have jumped 12 per cent, wholesale prices are up 25 per cent, and more than 4,000,000 workers have received pay increases costing industry about $140,000,000 annually.

The upward curve of costs and wages bears grim resemblance to the processes that were at work during the world war, observers say. Symptomatic of the inflationary phase of war finance is heavy government short term borrowing from the banking system by means of treasury bills and creation of nearly $400,000,000 worth of new bank deposits recently.

Speculators Disappointed.

Government control is throttling business of the foreign exchanges and stock markets in London. So far this has been a disappointing war for speculative investors. A stock index published by Investors Chronicle discloses a steep fall in prices between July and the end of November.

With expenditures approaching $12,000,000,000 annually and the national debt topping $34,000,000,000, speculation already is going on about how Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, aims to pay for the war and at the same time maintain the country's economic stability.

FIRST FEDERAL SAVINGS & LOAN ADDS RESOURCES

A gain of more than $1,000,000 in resources for the fourth consecutive year was reported yesterday by the First Federal Savings and Loan association, 130 South La Salle street. The association's financial statement as of Dec. 31 showed total resources of $7,520,904, representing a gain of 25 per cent for the year. Reserves increased $75,116 and volume of savings and investment shares accounts advanced $1,951,216.

The Harvey Federal Savings and Loan association announced that shareholders received semi-annual dividends amounting to $24,816. This increased the 1939 distribution of earnings to $55,763.

Federal Home Loan Bank of Chicago Votes Dividend

The Federal Home Loan Bank of Chicago announced yesterday that it will pay on Jan. 10 a semiannual dividend totaling $94,728 and equivalent to ½ of 1 per cent on stock held by member home lending institutions and the federal treasury.
